YANKS BREAK OUT OF DEATH TRAP

India Steps Up Peace Efforts; Ceasefire Resolution Planned

Red China Evasive Regarding Appeal

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 10 (AP) — India's Sir Benegal N. Rau today played the leading role in a series of high level conferences aimed at finding a peaceful solution to the Korean war.

The principle one was with representatives of 13 Asian countries who have signed an appeal to the Chinese Communists to halt the Red troops at the 38th Parallel.

Rau told a news conference afterwards the Reds have given no assurances whatsoever they will do this. Nevertheless, he added, he is going ahead with the drafting of a resolution calling for a ceasefire in Korea to be presented to the United Nations.

Wu Is Evasive

Rau said that when he asked Chinese Communist Delegate Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan at a meeting Saturday whether the Communists would stop at the 38th Parallel, the Peiping representative said: "The United Nations will be able to judge for itself whether we will respond."

Rau said he took this as meaning that Peiping might not formally answer the plea, but would let the world know by its military actions in Korea.

The resolution, Rau said, will be submitted for approval to a full gathering of the 13 countries at 11:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow and will probably be introduced in the U. N. Political Committee Tuesday morning.

The State Department said in Washington today that it would not oppose a resolution calling for a ceasefire unless it contained many "objectionable qualifications." It did not define what it meant by the phrase.

Conferences Held

A spokesman for the U. S. mission to the United Nations emphasized, however, that this country is not engaged in the preliminary maneuvers over such a resolution.

Earlier today Rau gave Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb a complete briefing on his talk with Wu and discussed the wording of his resolution with him.

Jebb, with Minister of State Kenneth Younger, then called on U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross.

An American spokesman said the meeting was arranged to keep this government informed of the progress of the Indian negotiation attempts. The meeting lasted only 15 minutes, he said, and the U. S. has the impression not much has been accomplished thus far.

Korea Red Chief Calls For Battle Of Annihilation

Communist Victory Predicted By Kim

TOKYO, Dec. 10 (AP)—North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung today predicted a Communist victory in Korea with the aid of the Soviet Union, and called for a battle of annihilation against U. N. forces in which "not a single enemy can escape."

He announced, in ringing terms, the "liberation" of Pyongyang, ancient North Korean city, parts of South Korea and "all the areas north of the 38th parallel around Pyongyang."

Kim's statement to Korean Communists was broadcast in Chinese by the Peiping Red radio and heard by the Associated Press in Tokyo. He said federated units of the People's Army, guerrillas and Chinese troops were "behind the enemy's rear south of the 38th" and are continuing their "great battle of annihilation in pursuit of the enemy fleeing southward."

"The United States tried through its so-called 'quick victory and quick decision' to unite the whole of Korea," said Kim. "But its ambitions have been smashed.

"In the last two months the children of our motherland — the People's Army—were pressed back by superior forces of the imperialist armies centered around the United States and were forced to withdraw. But this did not mean defeat."

He gave credit to guerrillas in villages of South Korea captured by the Red forces, to the Communist Party, the People's Army, Chinese volunteers and to Russia.

Baby Is Raped, Found In Crib

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 10 (AP) — A 21-month-old baby was found raped early today after her mother returned from a party, Acting Detective Capt. James Pike said.

The baby was taken to Atlantic City General Hospital where she was described as in fair condition.

Pike described it as the "foulest case in the annals of the Altantic City Police Department."

He said the baby was found in her blood-stained crib by her mother, Mrs. Shirley Reed, 25. Mrs. Reed, Pike said, had been out with a group of girl friends during the evening.

He said the door of the Reed fifth floor apartment had been forced. Pike said evidence showed the baby had been lifted to a nearby bed, and then returned to the crib.

The father of the child, he added, is serving in the Navy.

Pike said police had picked up Albert Bowen, 26, an amputee war veteran, for investigation. No charges had been placed against him. He said Bowen denied any connection with the crime.

Gas Poisoning Death Toll Mounts To Five

SUNBRIGHT, Tenn., Dec. 10 (AP) —The toll of a puzzling gas poisoning rose to five today with the death of two more persons.

Dead are three children—whose father is a Marine sergeant overseas — their mother, and a beauty operator.

Morgan County Sheriff H. E. Byrge said he believed a gas jet in a combination residence-beauty parlor flickered out, permitting a lethal stream of gas to pour into the building.

Profits Tax Bill Revision Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said today a House-approved excess profits tax bill is "wide open" to changes and predicted that the Senate Finance Committee will rewrite some of its provisions.

Millikin, top Republican on the committee, said he thinks the committee must decide whether it wants to change the base rates approved by the House and whether it wants to give special treatment to utilities and so-called "growth companies" before it shapes the final form of the bill.

President Truman asked Congress to provide an additional $4,000,000,000 a year from "abnormal" business profits to help meet the mounting defense budget.

The committee goes to work on the measure tomorrow. As it passed the House, it would boost revenues an estimated $3,400,000,000 in the first year. It would impose a 75 per cent tax, retroactive to last July 1, on profits that exceed 85 per cent of average earnings for the best three years from 1946 through 1949.

Some business organizations have suggested linking a smaller excess profits tax with an increase in regular rates to reach the same revenue goal.

Four Killed In Quake

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 10 (AP)—A series of earthquakes rocked Peruvian cities and Northern Chile last night, killing at least four persons and injuring 12.

Earl And Fiancee Rectify Error With Quickie Wedding

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 10 (AP) — The 66-year-old Earl of Essex and his 37-year-old fiancee left their honeymoon cottage here last night for a quickie marriage ceremony after discovering that they were not legally wed.

They had gone to the cabin for the night after having appeared before a Seattle judge. They assumed they had been married, and so told reporters. But a query to the judge disclosed that he had granted them only a waiver on the legally prescribed three-day wait which is supposed to precede all marriages.

The news flashed on the radio. British consular officers heard it. The landlady at their motor court was notified. She rushed breathless to their cabin and told them.

Near midnight the Earl and his fiancee went to the home of Justice of the Peace Delbert Bresemann.

Bresemann said the couple was "very nervous."

"I gave them a quiet office wedding — a two ring ceremony with candlelight," he said.

The Earl and his bride, the former Z. Mildred Carlson of New York, met in Melbourne, Australia.

Explosion Wrecks Cincinnati Plant

At least two persons were known dead and 15 injured when a tremendous explosion rocked the plant of the American Waterproofing Company in the western section of Cincinnati. This general view shows the virtual complete destruction of the plant.

Four Senators Urge Mandatory Pay-Price Curbs

Declare Voluntary Program Worthless

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four senators demanded today that the administration abandon as worthless any idea of trying to harness wages and prices through a voluntary program.

Rejection by General Motors and the Ford Motor Company of the government's request that they rescind their price increases on 1951 models was cited by the lawmakers as plain evidence the voluntary approach won't work.

Mandatory wage-price controls as quickly as possible offer the only way to check inflation, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), Maybank (D-SC), Ives (R-NY) and Capehart (R-Ind) declared in separate interviews.

Oppose "Jawbone" Approach

They said it probably would be a complete waste of time for Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle to go ahead with the voluntary program he told Congress he would try.

DiSalle said last week that such a program—known as "jawbone" stabilization—would be a good idea while the government is building an organization to handle mandatory curbs. That is expected to take 60 to 90 days, DiSalle estimated.

The "jawbone" approach, which was tried in the early days of World War II, is based on appeals to industry and business generally to hold down wages and prices.

"The action of Ford and General Motors ought to be proof to any doubting mind that a voluntary program simply will not work," said O'Mahoney, who heads the Senate-House Economic Committee. He added:

"There is no use temporizing in a crisis. What we need is wage-price control backed up by the force of law, and the sooner the better."

Voluntary Controls "Futile"

Maybank, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, also declared that the government's lack of success in the case of Ford and General Motors "makes it perfectly plain that so-called voluntary controls won't work."

Ives told a reporter he never has had any faith in voluntary controls.

"I think it now has been clearly demonstrated that it would be futile to try such a program, even temporarily," Ives added.

Capehart declared "we have just seen an example of the utter futility of trying to make any progress on this problem without real wage-price controls."

Blockade Of China Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Four United States senators today urged a complete blockade of Red China and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops in the present Korean crisis.

The four—Sens. Douglas (D-Ill), Alexander Smith (R-NJ), Kilgore (D-WVa), and Knowland (R-Calif) —discussed the war situation on Blair Moody's "Meet Your Congress" radio program.

They agreed in their discussion there must be no deal with nor appeasement of the Communist nations.

Defense Dept. Admits Increase In Casualties

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Defense Department said tonight that casualties have stepped up sharply in the last two weeks in Korea but many are attributable to such things as frostbite and exposure that would render a man unfit for fighting.

The department said it had no specific comment on a report by Radio News Commentator Drew Pearson that U. S. casualties in the last two weeks have totalled 25,000.

American Death Rate Takes Drop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Americans are living longer.

From tiny babies to oldsters beyond 75, the death rates in 1949 were lower than in 1940.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service observed that:

The death rate for females of all ages declined faster than that for males (13 per cent against 7 per cent for the males).

The death rate for infants under one year was down a steep 38 per cent.

For children 1-14, the rate of decline was 40 per cent.

Nobel Prizes Go To 4 Americans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 10 (AP)—Nobel prizes worth nearly $200,000 and inestimable prestige were presented today to nine men from four nations for outstanding services to mankind.

Four of those receiving the 50th anniversary awards were Americans. Others honored amid the splendor of the regal celebrations here and in Oslo, Norway, were two Britons, two Germans and a Swiss.

In the grand auditorium of the Stockholm Concert Hall, Sweden's King Gustaf VI personally handed a 1949 prize of $30,007 for literature to William Faulkner, the self-effacing autor-farmer of Oxford, Miss.

Norway's King Haakon was present at a similarly grand but solemn ceremony in Oslo, where Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the only negro ever to be so honored, received the 1950 peace prize for his work as U. N. mediator during the Palestine war.

Two other Americans—Dr. Phillip S. Hench and Dr. Edward C. Kendall of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.—shared prizes for medicine in the Stockholm ceremonies.

New Zealand Force En Route To Korea

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 10 (AP) — A New Zealand expeditionary force of some 600 artillerymen sailed today for active service with United Nations forces in Korea.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland was on hand to see the unit off aboard the liner Ormonde. He said in the absence of any U. N. instructions to the contrary, New Zealand was proceeding according to the original plan to contribute to the U. N. effort, despite the deteriorating military situation in Korea.

New Zealand pledged the volunteer force soon after the Korean war broke out, and has since been assembling and training it in warfare peculiar to the Korean terrain.

Industry To Set New Expansion Record In 1951

4.8 Billions Will Be Spent In 1st Quarter

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — American business plans to invest $4,800,000,000 in new factories, machinery and other equipment during the first quarter of 1951, setting a new record for that season, government agencies reported today.

The news pointed to an overwhelming response by the business community to calls for expansion of output so that surging military requirements can be met without whacking civilian supplies to the bone.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued the report after surveying business plans for expansion next year.

Record Set In 1948

"On the basis of preliminary returns, if plans for the year as a whole are realized, 1951 capital outlays will be higher than in any previous year," two agencies said.

The present full-year record, $19,230,000,000, was established in booming 1948. In 1949, a "recession" year, expansion outlays fell to $18,100,000,000. This year, handicapped by a slow start, is expected to be about the same as last, the agencies said.

The report showed a sharp pickup in business spending for new plant and equipment since the outbreak of the Korean war June 25.

"Expenditures for the last half of 1950 are expected to amount to $10,100,000,000, 12 per cent more than the last half of 1949 and about equal to the record amount spent in the last half of 1948," it said.

30% Hike In First Quarter

The government agencies conceded that higher costs have had a part in causing the increase in expenditures. But they added that their survey also indicates "a sizable increase from 1949 in the physical amount of plant and equipment" bought.

If plans uncovered in the survey are carried out, expansion outlays in the first quarter of next year will be 30 per cent above the first quarter of 1950. All major industries will be contributing to the increase.

Airline, CIO Sign Pact

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — American Airlines and the CIO transport workers union today announced the signing of a three-year agreement providing annual wage increases, plus allowances geared to the cost of living.

Company spokesmen said the pact was the first in the airline industry with the cost-of-living escalator clause.

Senate Report To Blast Munitions Board's Failure To Stockpile Wool

By DREW PEARSON

A Senate committee will take the hide off the Munitions Board this week for failing to stockpile wool, so urgently needed for shivering troops in Korea.

In a blistering report, the Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by forthright Lyndon Johnson of Texas, will charge the Munitions Board with "shortsightedness that will cost the taxpayers a minimum of many million dollars."

Two months ago this column warned of the wool shortage and revealed Munitions Board failure to stockpile.

"While the Munitions Board was obviously doing plenty of 'wool gathering,'" says the Senate committee, "none of it was for the stockpile . . . today the United States — faced with the prospect of a long winter campaign in Korea and the maintainance of a three-million-man armed force — has no wool in stockpile, no wool in inventory and less than enough wool in prospect through domestic production . . . training men with wooden guns in 1940 and 1941 was tragic . . . but the prospect of outfitting men in clothing inadequate to protect them from the elements is a greater tragedy still.

"The Munitions Board was not created to underwrite complacency, to justify shortages or to sanction the deterioration of America's strength," the report adds angrily.

Leathernecks Full Of Fight After Escape

AP's Jack Macbeth Describes Retreat

By JACK MACBETH

WITH U. S. MARINES WITHDRAWING FROM CHANGJIN RESERVOIR, Korea, Dec. 10 (AP) — American marines walked out of 12 days of freezing hell today, full of fight after a gory nightmare of death in Korea's icy mountains.

The U. S. First Marine Division was rolling slowly into the Northeastern Korea plains of Hamhung. The men's eyes and bearded faces, their tattered parkas and the strangely careless way they carried their rifles, showed the strain.

These thousands of leathernecks did it on guts. They turned their encirclement into one of the fightingest retreats in military history. It was the longest pullback in Marine records—nearly 50 tortuous miles.

They broke out of a death trap sprung by many thousands of Red Chinese and Koreans and converted what looked like almost certain disaster into a moral triumph if not a military victory.

I watched the retreat.

The story began in the fleabitten Korean village of Yudam, on the western edge of the Changjin reservoir.

Guts Not Enough To Win

Three Red Chinese divisions and one Chinese regiment attacked two Marine regiments in a surprise offensive the night of Nov. 28.

The pressure was overwhelming. The Marines struck right back.

When orders were given to pull back, the leathernecks responded with an offensive.

For five hectic, heroic days they matched guts and wits against Chinese mass tactics. Neither was enough to win. They had to pull out.

Five days after leaving Yudam, the marines reached Hagaru, at the south end of the reservoir. There they joined another small group which was encircled by strong enemy forces.

Elements of a Third Marine Regiment were under attack at Koto, 10 road miles to the south.

At daybreak Dec. 7 the Hagaru marines jumped off southward towards Koto.

For 24 hours they fought one of the bloodiest battles of the Korean war.

Gruesome Sight

I was in Koto when they came in. It was a gruesome sight—wounded men with their blood frozen to their skins; their clothes stiff with ice; grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers; live men stumbling along, grimacing from frostbite, using their rifles as crutches.

Four thousand wounded were evacuated by air from Hagaru and Koto up to two days ago. More have been flown out since. Most of these were marines, the others were remnants of two battalions of the Army's Seventh Infantry Division, which was cut off and sliced up on the east side of the reservoir at the same time the leathernecks were catching hell on the west.

The dead count is high. Two days ago I watched nearly two hundred bodies nosed into a single grave by a bulldozer. There was no time for more elaborate arrangements.

For the record, the United States First Marine Division, one of the country's finest, has suffered heavily. The Communist enemy knows this.

The leathernecks inflicted casualties on the enemy many times those suffered. The weather also took a heavy toll of Chinese.

Third Town Menaced By Etna Lava Flow

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 10 (AP)—A sudden change in the flow of lava from Mount Etna tonight decreased the danger to Milo and Renazzo, but threatened Fornazzo, another village farther north.

The new threat stemmed from a huge stream of fiery lava that appeared on the left side of Mount Cagliato. The rate of flow was not rapid and the lava head was two miles from Fornazzo at a late hour.

Authorities reported a slowing down in the movement of the massive lava wall more than 2,000 feet wide and 46 feet deep headed for Milo and Renazzo.

Refugees Near U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—An International Refugee Organization ship bringing 1,300 refugee immigrants to the U. S. is scheduled to arrive in New York Tuesday, the IRO announced today.

Ex-French Premier Dies

PARIS, Dec. 10 (AP) — Theodore Steeg, 82, former premier of France, died today at his home here.

Chiang, Who Fled China Year Ago, Upsets Dopesters

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 10 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek flew from China's mainland to Formosa a year ago today.

Even his most optimistic supporters doubted then whether any part of Nationalist China would exist a year later. Resistance on the mainland had collapsed. Everything seemed doomed.

All logical considerations pointed toward the early Red conquest of Formosa.

Instead, on this first anniversary, Chiang's position unquestionably is stronger. Manpower available for defense of this big island is far greater than a year ago because of the nationalist abandonment of Hainan island, off China's south coast, and the Chusan archepelago, south of Shanghai.

Sen. Robertson Acts To Promote Two-Party Unity

Weekly White House Consultations Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Sen. Robertson (D-Va) proposed today that President Truman call Democrats and Republicans into weekly White House consultation for sake of unity on foreign affairs as the nation enters "the toughest pull we ever had."

Robertson told a reporter he laid this suggestion before W. Averell Harriman, chief liaison man between the White House and the State Department, and Harriman had promised to pass it along to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

The idea behind his proposal, Robertson said, is to promote two-party unity in forming and administering foreign policy—a move that Republicans have been demanding for months.

Acheson Issue Splits GOP

"With the threat of Russian aggression hanging over us and aggression already under way in Korea, we are going into the toughest pull we ever had in our lives and unless we have unity our future is dark," Robertson declared.

The Virginia Senator's proposal came at a time when Republicans appeared to be split over a move to put Senate members of their party on record as demanding the removal of Acheson.

Sen. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference, was reported urging his colleagues to avoid taking any party stand on Acheson just now. He apparently is supported in this stand by Sen. Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

May Redraft Resolution

Sen. Ives (R-NY), author of the oust-Acheson resolution, had indicated that it may be redrafted and toned down considerably at a meeting of a party policy subcommittee tomorrow.

On the other hand, so many Republicans have called individually for Acheson's removal that some of them want to make it a party policy matter. The question will be before the conference of all 43 Senate minority members Tuesday.

Acheson's prompt report to Congress yesterday on the background of President Truman's talks with British Prime Minister Attlee was generally regarded as an administration gesture to appease Republican demands for foreign affairs information.

Forced Down On Wake

TOKYO, Monday, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Tokyo-bound Pan American Airways plane loaded with military personnel had to land at Wake Island today because of an engine failure. It turned back and reached Wake successfully when one of the four engines lost its oil three hours out of Wake.

Decimated U.S. Force Rolling Into Port Area

Marines Complete Bloodiest Retreat

TOKYO, Monday, Dec. 11 (AP) — Twenty-five thousand casualty-riddled American marines and soldiers broke out of a Chinese Communist death snare in the "frozen hell" of Northeast Korea Sunday.

By Sunday night about one-third had reached the vicinity of the eastern escape port of Hungnam, a field dispatch reported.

Tenth Corps headquarters said only that forward elements were in the Hamhung area, six miles in from the sea, but would not pinpoint their location.

The whole force should reach the coast and safety sometime late today, field dispatches said. It will complete the greatest, bloodiest retreat in Marine Corps history — almost 50 tortuous miles.

Casualties were heavy for both sides. An estimated three Chinese Red divisions — 18,000 to 24,000 men — were destroyed in the battering-ram American drive to freedom from the shore of the Changjin reservoir.

Only a conservative figure of more than 4,000 wounded was available for the Americans, with deaths unreported.

Losses Exceed Tarawa's

An on-the-spot estimate was that Marine casualties exceeded those at Tarawa, the costliest single Marine action of World War II.

The outnumbered U. S. First Marine Division, a hundred British Royal Marines and elements of the U. S. Seventh Division, however, was decimated in 12-days and nights of running battle with an estimated 85,000 to 120,000 Reds.

On the relatively quiet northwest front United Nations forces moved into "defensive positions," Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed Sunday. A war summary did not pinpoint new positions.

However, headquarters said 2,000 to 3,000 Communist troops in black and gray uniforms moved east of Haeju — west coast Yellow Sea port just north of the 38th Parallel — and about 65 air miles south of Pyongyang.

American warplanes blasted hard at the column.

This was considerably south of the 70-mile-long defense line announced earlier this week by MacArthur's headquarters which curled in a U-shaped arc between Koksan and Chinnampo. It was a threat to the western, or left, flank of the Eighth Army.

ROKs, Guerrillas Clash

Headquarters also said two Republic of Korea divisions clashed with guerrillas south of Chorwon, which is 13 miles north of the 38th Parallel in Central Korea. The scene of frequent guerrilla trouble, Chorwon is 103 air miles southeast of Pyongyang.

U. S. warplanes struck hard at the Reds on both the northwest and northeast fronts and fought two air battles with Russian built MIG-15 jets.

In one 15-minute running battle, one MIG was shot down and six others scrambled to safety to their Manchurian "sanctuary" north of the Yalu River.

The fighting leathernecks and doughboys in the northeast, covered by Navy and Marine fighters and bombers, linked up with a relief column of U. S. Third Division troops at 2:40 a.m. Sunday (12:40 p.m. Saturday EST).

Oregonian Is Sold

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—The 100-year-old Portland Oregonian, known as "the great newspaper of the west," was purchased today by Publisher Samuel I. Newhouse for a sum in excess of $5,000,000, he disclosed tonight.

Automatic Pilot Developed For American Jet Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Push button flying has caught up with the jet era of aerial warfare.

A new automatic pilot, already in production, will take the "swoosh" planes smoothly through good or bad weather, guide them safely through "soup" to the runway, and may even fire their guns aimed by radar.

The Air Force Air Materiel Command said in a statement the new F-5 autopilot "is the first mechanism developed which can meet the high speed and maneuverability required to fly today's jet fighters."

The device was developed by Lear, Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich., in coordination with the AMC, which has headquarters at Wright-Patterson Airbase, Dayton, Ohio. The autopilot has won the Robert J. Collier Trophy, rated aviation's top honor, for William P. Lear, chairman and research director for the company. The award will be presented next Friday by President Truman at the White House.

Automatic pilots are customary in bombers and transport planes, but not in fighters. Problems of size and weight, combined with high sensivity of control and relatively short endurance of fighters, has delayed autopilot application to single-engine planes. The Lear device meets all of the requirements, however.

Weather Forecast

YANKS BREAK OUT OF DEATH TRAP

India Steps Up Peace Efforts; Ceasefire Resolution Planned

Red China Evasive Regarding Appeal

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 10 (AP) — India's Sir Benegal N. Rau today played the leading role in a series of high level conferences aimed at finding a peaceful solution to the Korean war.

The principle one was with representatives of 13 Asian countries who have signed an appeal to the Chinese Communists to halt the Red troops at the 38th Parallel.

Rau told a news conference afterwards the Reds have given no assurances whatsoever they will do this. Nevertheless, he added, he is going ahead with the drafting of a resolution calling for a ceasefire in Korea to be presented to the United Nations.

Wu Is Evasive

Rau said that when he asked Chinese Communist Delegate Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan at a meeting Saturday whether the Communists would stop at the 38th Parallel, the Peiping representative said: "The United Nations will be able to judge for itself whether we will respond."

Rau said he took this as meaning that Peiping might not formally answer the plea, but would let the world know by its military actions in Korea.

The resolution, Rau said, will be submitted for approval to a full gathering of the 13 countries at 11:30 a.m. (EST) tomorrow and will probably be introduced in the U. N. Political Committee Tuesday morning.

The State Department said in Washington today that it would not oppose a resolution calling for a ceasefire unless it contained many "objectionable qualifications." It did not define what it meant by the phrase.

Conferences Held

A spokesman for the U. S. mission to the United Nations emphasized, however, that this country is not engaged in the preliminary maneuvers over such a resolution.

Earlier today Rau gave Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb a complete briefing on his talk with Wu and discussed the wording of his resolution with him.

Jebb, with Minister of State Kenneth Younger, then called on U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross.

An American spokesman said the meeting was arranged to keep this government informed of the progress of the Indian negotiation attempts. The meeting lasted only 15 minutes, he said, and the U. S. has the impression not much has been accomplished thus far.

Korea Red Chief Calls For Battle Of Annihilation

Communist Victory Predicted By Kim

TOKYO, Dec. 10 (AP)—North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung today predicted a Communist victory in Korea with the aid of the Soviet Union, and called for a battle of annihilation against U. N. forces in which "not a single enemy can escape."

He announced, in ringing terms, the "liberation" of Pyongyang, ancient North Korean city, parts of South Korea and "all the areas north of the 38th parallel around Pyongyang."

Kim's statement to Korean Communists was broadcast in Chinese by the Peiping Red radio and heard by the Associated Press in Tokyo. He said federated units of the People's Army, guerrillas and Chinese troops were "behind the enemy's rear south of the 38th" and are continuing their "great battle of annihilation in pursuit of the enemy fleeing southward."

"The United States tried through its so-called 'quick victory and quick decision' to unite the whole of Korea," said Kim. "But its ambitions have been smashed.

"In the last two months the children of our motherland — the People's Army—were pressed back by superior forces of the imperialist armies centered around the United States and were forced to withdraw. But this did not mean defeat."

He gave credit to guerrillas in villages of South Korea captured by the Red forces, to the Communist Party, the People's Army, Chinese volunteers and to Russia.

Baby Is Raped, Found In Crib

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 10 (AP) — A 21-month-old baby was found raped early today after her mother returned from a party, Acting Detective Capt. James Pike said.

The baby was taken to Atlantic City General Hospital where she was described as in fair condition.

Pike described it as the "foulest case in the annals of the Altantic City Police Department."

He said the baby was found in her blood-stained crib by her mother, Mrs. Shirley Reed, 25. Mrs. Reed, Pike said, had been out with a group of girl friends during the evening.

He said the door of the Reed fifth floor apartment had been forced. Pike said evidence showed the baby had been lifted to a nearby bed, and then returned to the crib.

The father of the child, he added, is serving in the Navy.

Pike said police had picked up Albert Bowen, 26, an amputee war veteran, for investigation. No charges had been placed against him. He said Bowen denied any connection with the crime.

Gas Poisoning Death Toll Mounts To Five

SUNBRIGHT, Tenn., Dec. 10 (AP) —The toll of a puzzling gas poisoning rose to five today with the death of two more persons.

Dead are three children—whose father is a Marine sergeant overseas — their mother, and a beauty operator.

Morgan County Sheriff H. E. Byrge said he believed a gas jet in a combination residence-beauty parlor flickered out, permitting a lethal stream of gas to pour into the building.

Profits Tax Bill Revision Is Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said today a House-approved excess profits tax bill is "wide open" to changes and predicted that the Senate Finance Committee will rewrite some of its provisions.

Millikin, top Republican on the committee, said he thinks the committee must decide whether it wants to change the base rates approved by the House and whether it wants to give special treatment to utilities and so-called "growth companies" before it shapes the final form of the bill.

President Truman asked Congress to provide an additional $4,000,000,000 a year from "abnormal" business profits to help meet the mounting defense budget.

The committee goes to work on the measure tomorrow. As it passed the House, it would boost revenues an estimated $3,400,000,000 in the first year. It would impose a 75 per cent tax, retroactive to last July 1, on profits that exceed 85 per cent of average earnings for the best three years from 1946 through 1949.

Some business organizations have suggested linking a smaller excess profits tax with an increase in regular rates to reach the same revenue goal.

Four Killed In Quake

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 10 (AP)—A series of earthquakes rocked Peruvian cities and Northern Chile last night, killing at least four persons and injuring 12.

Earl And Fiancee Rectify Error With Quickie Wedding

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 10 (AP) — The 66-year-old Earl of Essex and his 37-year-old fiancee left their honeymoon cottage here last night for a quickie marriage ceremony after discovering that they were not legally wed.

They had gone to the cabin for the night after having appeared before a Seattle judge. They assumed they had been married, and so told reporters. But a query to the judge disclosed that he had granted them only a waiver on the legally prescribed three-day wait which is supposed to precede all marriages.

The news flashed on the radio. British consular officers heard it. The landlady at their motor court was notified. She rushed breathless to their cabin and told them.

Near midnight the Earl and his fiancee went to the home of Justice of the Peace Delbert Bresemann.

Bresemann said the couple was "very nervous."

"I gave them a quiet office wedding — a two ring ceremony with candlelight," he said.

The Earl and his bride, the former Z. Mildred Carlson of New York, met in Melbourne, Australia.

Explosion Wrecks Cincinnati Plant

At least two persons were known dead and 15 injured when a tremendous explosion rocked the plant of the American Waterproofing Company in the western section of Cincinnati. This general view shows the virtual complete destruction of the plant.

Four Senators Urge Mandatory Pay-Price Curbs

Declare Voluntary Program Worthless

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Four senators demanded today that the administration abandon as worthless any idea of trying to harness wages and prices through a voluntary program.

Rejection by General Motors and the Ford Motor Company of the government's request that they rescind their price increases on 1951 models was cited by the lawmakers as plain evidence the voluntary approach won't work.

Mandatory wage-price controls as quickly as possible offer the only way to check inflation, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), Maybank (D-SC), Ives (R-NY) and Capehart (R-Ind) declared in separate interviews.

Oppose "Jawbone" Approach

They said it probably would be a complete waste of time for Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle to go ahead with the voluntary program he told Congress he would try.

DiSalle said last week that such a program—known as "jawbone" stabilization—would be a good idea while the government is building an organization to handle mandatory curbs. That is expected to take 60 to 90 days, DiSalle estimated.

The "jawbone" approach, which was tried in the early days of World War II, is based on appeals to industry and business generally to hold down wages and prices.

"The action of Ford and General Motors ought to be proof to any doubting mind that a voluntary program simply will not work," said O'Mahoney, who heads the Senate-House Economic Committee. He added:

"There is no use temporizing in a crisis. What we need is wage-price control backed up by the force of law, and the sooner the better."

Voluntary Controls "Futile"

Maybank, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, also declared that the government's lack of success in the case of Ford and General Motors "makes it perfectly plain that so-called voluntary controls won't work."

Ives told a reporter he never has had any faith in voluntary controls.

"I think it now has been clearly demonstrated that it would be futile to try such a program, even temporarily," Ives added.

Capehart declared "we have just seen an example of the utter futility of trying to make any progress on this problem without real wage-price controls."

Blockade Of China Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Four United States senators today urged a complete blockade of Red China and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops in the present Korean crisis.

The four—Sens. Douglas (D-Ill), Alexander Smith (R-NJ), Kilgore (D-WVa), and Knowland (R-Calif) —discussed the war situation on Blair Moody's "Meet Your Congress" radio program.

They agreed in their discussion there must be no deal with nor appeasement of the Communist nations.

Defense Dept. Admits Increase In Casualties

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—The Defense Department said tonight that casualties have stepped up sharply in the last two weeks in Korea but many are attributable to such things as frostbite and exposure that would render a man unfit for fighting.

The department said it had no specific comment on a report by Radio News Commentator Drew Pearson that U. S. casualties in the last two weeks have totalled 25,000.

American Death Rate Takes Drop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Americans are living longer.

From tiny babies to oldsters beyond 75, the death rates in 1949 were lower than in 1940.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service observed that:

The death rate for females of all ages declined faster than that for males (13 per cent against 7 per cent for the males).

The death rate for infants under one year was down a steep 38 per cent.

For children 1-14, the rate of decline was 40 per cent.

Nobel Prizes Go To 4 Americans

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 10 (AP)—Nobel prizes worth nearly $200,000 and inestimable prestige were presented today to nine men from four nations for outstanding services to mankind.

Four of those receiving the 50th anniversary awards were Americans. Others honored amid the splendor of the regal celebrations here and in Oslo, Norway, were two Britons, two Germans and a Swiss.

In the grand auditorium of the Stockholm Concert Hall, Sweden's King Gustaf VI personally handed a 1949 prize of $30,007 for literature to William Faulkner, the self-effacing autor-farmer of Oxford, Miss.

Norway's King Haakon was present at a similarly grand but solemn ceremony in Oslo, where Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the only negro ever to be so honored, received the 1950 peace prize for his work as U. N. mediator during the Palestine war.

Two other Americans—Dr. Phillip S. Hench and Dr. Edward C. Kendall of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.—shared prizes for medicine in the Stockholm ceremonies.

New Zealand Force En Route To Korea

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Dec. 10 (AP) — A New Zealand expeditionary force of some 600 artillerymen sailed today for active service with United Nations forces in Korea.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland was on hand to see the unit off aboard the liner Ormonde. He said in the absence of any U. N. instructions to the contrary, New Zealand was proceeding according to the original plan to contribute to the U. N. effort, despite the deteriorating military situation in Korea.

New Zealand pledged the volunteer force soon after the Korean war broke out, and has since been assembling and training it in warfare peculiar to the Korean terrain.

Industry To Set New Expansion Record In 1951

4.8 Billions Will Be Spent In 1st Quarter

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — American business plans to invest $4,800,000,000 in new factories, machinery and other equipment during the first quarter of 1951, setting a new record for that season, government agencies reported today.

The news pointed to an overwhelming response by the business community to calls for expansion of output so that surging military requirements can be met without whacking civilian supplies to the bone.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued the report after surveying business plans for expansion next year.

Record Set In 1948

"On the basis of preliminary returns, if plans for the year as a whole are realized, 1951 capital outlays will be higher than in any previous year," two agencies said.

The present full-year record, $19,230,000,000, was established in booming 1948. In 1949, a "recession" year, expansion outlays fell to $18,100,000,000. This year, handicapped by a slow start, is expected to be about the same as last, the agencies said.

The report showed a sharp pickup in business spending for new plant and equipment since the outbreak of the Korean war June 25.

"Expenditures for the last half of 1950 are expected to amount to $10,100,000,000, 12 per cent more than the last half of 1949 and about equal to the record amount spent in the last half of 1948," it said.

30% Hike In First Quarter

The government agencies conceded that higher costs have had a part in causing the increase in expenditures. But they added that their survey also indicates "a sizable increase from 1949 in the physical amount of plant and equipment" bought.

If plans uncovered in the survey are carried out, expansion outlays in the first quarter of next year will be 30 per cent above the first quarter of 1950. All major industries will be contributing to the increase.

Airline, CIO Sign Pact

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — American Airlines and the CIO transport workers union today announced the signing of a three-year agreement providing annual wage increases, plus allowances geared to the cost of living.

Company spokesmen said the pact was the first in the airline industry with the cost-of-living escalator clause.

Senate Report To Blast Munitions Board's Failure To Stockpile Wool

By DREW PEARSON

A Senate committee will take the hide off the Munitions Board this week for failing to stockpile wool, so urgently needed for shivering troops in Korea.

In a blistering report, the Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by forthright Lyndon Johnson of Texas, will charge the Munitions Board with "shortsightedness that will cost the taxpayers a minimum of many million dollars."

Two months ago this column warned of the wool shortage and revealed Munitions Board failure to stockpile.

"While the Munitions Board was obviously doing plenty of 'wool gathering,'" says the Senate committee, "none of it was for the stockpile . . . today the United States — faced with the prospect of a long winter campaign in Korea and the maintainance of a three-million-man armed force — has no wool in stockpile, no wool in inventory and less than enough wool in prospect through domestic production . . . training men with wooden guns in 1940 and 1941 was tragic . . . but the prospect of outfitting men in clothing inadequate to protect them from the elements is a greater tragedy still.

"The Munitions Board was not created to underwrite complacency, to justify shortages or to sanction the deterioration of America's strength," the report adds angrily.

Leathernecks Full Of Fight After Escape

AP's Jack Macbeth Describes Retreat

By JACK MACBETH

WITH U. S. MARINES WITHDRAWING FROM CHANGJIN RESERVOIR, Korea, Dec. 10 (AP) — American marines walked out of 12 days of freezing hell today, full of fight after a gory nightmare of death in Korea's icy mountains.

The U. S. First Marine Division was rolling slowly into the Northeastern Korea plains of Hamhung. The men's eyes and bearded faces, their tattered parkas and the strangely careless way they carried their rifles, showed the strain.

These thousands of leathernecks did it on guts. They turned their encirclement into one of the fightingest retreats in military history. It was the longest pullback in Marine records—nearly 50 tortuous miles.

They broke out of a death trap sprung by many thousands of Red Chinese and Koreans and converted what looked like almost certain disaster into a moral triumph if not a military victory.

I watched the retreat.

Guts Not Enough To Win

Three Red Chinese divisions and one Chinese regiment attacked two Marine regiments in a surprise offensive the night of Nov. 28.

The pressure was overwhelming. The Marines struck right back.

When orders were given to pull back, the leathernecks responded with an offensive.

For five hectic, heroic days they matched guts and wits against Chinese mass tactics. Neither was enough to win. They had to pull out.

Five days after leaving Yudam, the marines reached Hagaru, at the south end of the reservoir. There they joined another small group which was encircled by strong enemy forces.

Elements of a Third Marine Regiment were under attack at Koto, 10 road miles to the south.

At daybreak Dec. 7 the Hagaru marines jumped off southward towards Koto.

For 24 hours they fought one of the bloodiest battles of the Korean war.

Gruesome Sight

I was in Koto when they came in. It was a gruesome sight—wounded men with their blood frozen to their skins; their clothes stiff with ice; grotesque dead men lying across trailers and stretchers; live men stumbling along, grimacing from frostbite, using their rifles as crutches.

Four thousand wounded were evacuated by air from Hagaru and Koto up to two days ago. More have been flown out since. Most of these were marines, the others were remnants of two battalions of the Army's Seventh Infantry Division, which was cut off and sliced up on the east side of the reservoir at the same time the leathernecks were catching hell on the west.

The dead count is high. Two days ago I watched nearly two hundred bodies nosed into a single grave by a bulldozer. There was no time for more elaborate arrangements.

For the record, the United States First Marine Division, one of the country's finest, has suffered heavily. The Communist enemy knows this.

The leathernecks inflicted casualties on the enemy many times those suffered. The weather also took a heavy toll of Chinese.

Third Town Menaced By Etna Lava Flow

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 10 (AP)—A sudden change in the flow of lava from Mount Etna tonight decreased the danger to Milo and Renazzo, but threatened Fornazzo, another village farther north.

The new threat stemmed from a huge stream of fiery lava that appeared on the left side of Mount Cagliato. The rate of flow was not rapid and the lava head was two miles from Fornazzo at a late hour.

Authorities reported a slowing down in the movement of the massive lava wall more than 2,000 feet wide and 46 feet deep headed for Milo and Renazzo.

Chiang, Who Fled China Year Ago, Upsets Dopesters

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 10 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek flew from China's mainland to Formosa a year ago today.

Even his most optimistic supporters doubted then whether any part of Nationalist China would exist a year later. Resistance on the mainland had collapsed. Everything seemed doomed.

All logical considerations pointed toward the early Red conquest of Formosa.

Instead, on this first anniversary, Chiang's position unquestionably is stronger. Manpower available for defense of this big island is far greater than a year ago because of the nationalist abandonment of Hainan island, off China's south coast, and the Chusan archepelago, south of Shanghai.

Sen. Robertson Acts To Promote Two-Party Unity

Weekly White House Consultations Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Sen. Robertson (D-Va) proposed today that President Truman call Democrats and Republicans into weekly White House consultation for sake of unity on foreign affairs as the nation enters "the toughest pull we ever had."

Robertson told a reporter he laid this suggestion before W. Averell Harriman, chief liaison man between the White House and the State Department, and Harriman had promised to pass it along to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

The idea behind his proposal, Robertson said, is to promote two-party unity in forming and administering foreign policy—a move that Republicans have been demanding for months.

Acheson Issue Splits GOP

"With the threat of Russian aggression hanging over us and aggression already under way in Korea, we are going into the toughest pull we ever had in our lives and unless we have unity our future is dark," Robertson declared.

The Virginia Senator's proposal came at a time when Republicans appeared to be split over a move to put Senate members of their party on record as demanding the removal of Acheson.

Sen. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference, was reported urging his colleagues to avoid taking any party stand on Acheson just now. He apparently is supported in this stand by Sen. Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

May Redraft Resolution

Sen. Ives (R-NY), author of the oust-Acheson resolution, had indicated that it may be redrafted and toned down considerably at a meeting of a party policy subcommittee tomorrow.

On the other hand, so many Republicans have called individually for Acheson's removal that some of them want to make it a party policy matter. The question will be before the conference of all 43 Senate minority members Tuesday.

Acheson's prompt report to Congress yesterday on the background of President Truman's talks with British Prime Minister Attlee was generally regarded as an administration gesture to appease Republican demands for foreign affairs information.

Forced Down On Wake

TOKYO, Monday, Dec. 11 (AP)—A Tokyo-bound Pan American Airways plane loaded with military personnel had to land at Wake Island today because of an engine failure. It turned back and reached Wake successfully when one of the four engines lost its oil three hours out of Wake.

Decimated U.S. Force Rolling Into Port Area

Marines Complete Bloodiest Retreat

TOKYO, Monday, Dec. 11 (AP) — Twenty-five thousand casualty-riddled American marines and soldiers broke out of a Chinese Communist death snare in the "frozen hell" of Northeast Korea Sunday.

By Sunday night about one-third had reached the vicinity of the eastern escape port of Hungnam, a field dispatch reported.

Tenth Corps headquarters said only that forward elements were in the Hamhung area, six miles in from the sea, but would not pinpoint their location.

The whole force should reach the coast and safety sometime late today, field dispatches said. It will complete the greatest, bloodiest retreat in Marine Corps history — almost 50 tortuous miles.

Casualties were heavy for both sides. An estimated three Chinese Red divisions — 18,000 to 24,000 men — were destroyed in the battering-ram American drive to freedom from the shore of the Changjin reservoir.

Only a conservative figure of more than 4,000 wounded was available for the Americans, with deaths unreported.

Losses Exceed Tarawa's

An on-the-spot estimate was that Marine casualties exceeded those at Tarawa, the costliest single Marine action of World War II.

The outnumbered U. S. First Marine Division, a hundred British Royal Marines and elements of the U. S. Seventh Division, however, was decimated in 12-days and nights of running battle with an estimated 85,000 to 120,000 Reds.

On the relatively quiet northwest front United Nations forces moved into "defensive positions," Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed Sunday. A war summary did not pinpoint new positions.

However, headquarters said 2,000 to 3,000 Communist troops in black and gray uniforms moved east of Haeju — west coast Yellow Sea port just north of the 38th Parallel — and about 65 air miles south of Pyongyang.

American warplanes blasted hard at the column.

This was considerably south of the 70-mile-long defense line announced earlier this week by MacArthur's headquarters which curled in a U-shaped arc between Koksan and Chinnampo. It was a threat to the western, or left, flank of the Eighth Army.

ROKs, Guerrillas Clash

Headquarters also said two Republic of Korea divisions clashed with guerrillas south of Chorwon, which is 13 miles north of the 38th Parallel in Central Korea. The scene of frequent guerrilla trouble, Chorwon is 103 air miles southeast of Pyongyang.

U. S. warplanes struck hard at the Reds on both the northwest and northeast fronts and fought two air battles with Russian built MIG-15 jets.

In one 15-minute running battle, one MIG was shot down and six others scrambled to safety to their Manchurian "sanctuary" north of the Yalu River.

The fighting leathernecks and doughboys in the northeast, covered by Navy and Marine fighters and bombers, linked up with a relief column of U. S. Third Division troops at 2:40 a.m. Sunday (12:40 p.m. Saturday EST).

Automatic Pilot Developed For American Jet Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Push button flying has caught up with the jet era of aerial warfare.

A new automatic pilot, already in production, will take the "swoosh" planes smoothly through good or bad weather, guide them safely through "soup" to the runway, and may even fire their guns aimed by radar.

The Air Force Air Materiel Command said in a statement the new F-5 autopilot "is the first mechanism developed which can meet the high speed and maneuverability required to fly today's jet fighters."

The device was developed by Lear, Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich., in coordination with the AMC, which has headquarters at Wright-Patterson Airbase, Dayton, Ohio. The autopilot has won the Robert J. Collier Trophy, rated aviation's top honor, for William P. Lear, chairman and research director for the company. The award will be presented next Friday by President Truman at the White House.

Automatic pilots are customary in bombers and transport planes, but not in fighters. Problems of size and weight, combined with high sensivity of control and relatively short endurance of fighters, has delayed autopilot application to single-engine planes. The Lear device meets all of the requirements, however.

Arthritis Is Termed Most Costly Illness

Contributions Asked To Back Program

The cost of arthritis cannot be measured alone in human pain and misery, according to Dr. Harry F. Klinefelter, Jr., a member of the Medical and Scientific Committee of the Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

He called it America's most expensive malady.

"Arthritis costs the people of our country three-quarters of a billion dollars a year, $520 million in wages, $128 million in relief allowances, and $100 million in medical treatment."

He pointed out that knowledge is the only thing that can meet the high cost of arthritis and rheumatism.

"Knowledge is the answer, knowledge by doctors, knowledge by the general public. Of course, knowledge by doctors means research and special training, and knowledge by the general public means an insight into the symptoms of these diseases and an understanding of their importance.

"The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation is spearheading a program that is opening doors to new knowledge about rheumatic diseases, and applying that knowledge."

To show the need for this knowledge and to amplify the terrific impact of arthritis and rheumatism on our people, Dr. Klinefelter explained that they are responsible for the loss of 97,200,000 workdays each year, the equivalent of 320,000 employable people being out of work at all times.

"Arthritis hits us three ways, through suffering and pain, through our pocketbooks, and through the loss of manpower."

He pointed out that nearly every case of arthritis affects not one person, but two, the actual victim of the disease, and some member of his family who has to devote long hours to his care.

Dr. Klinefelter said that the Maryland Chapter of the Foundation, under the leadership of Clarence W. Miles, its president, is developing a five-way program to help meet the situation, home nursing service, research, specialized training for doctors, public education, and the operation of clinics.

"For the first time we are asking the people of Maryland to help finance this program, "Dr. Klinefelter said. "During the first two years of the Maryland Chapter's existence, a small group of public spirited medical and business people carried the load. Now, the activity is too large for them to finance alone. We need help from the general public."

"Contributions may be sent to ARTHRITIS care of POSTMASTER."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

ARE THEY ALL STOPPED?

Soundness in bidding a No Trump game depends primarily on having probable stoppers in all four suits. It makes no particular difference whether it is your hand or your partner's which contains an adequate stopper in some particular suit. When you have great high card strength in a suit which your partner bid when opening the auction, you are entitled to count him as having the necessary high card strength elsewhere in his hand. Sometimes you can have such strength in his suit and one other that you can sensibly seek a No Trump game without any stoppers in the other two, basing your hopes on his stopping them.

When North failed to support South's spades, the latter became pretty sure his partner's high cards for opening were in hearts and clubs, considering what he held himself made it impossible for North to have anything worth while in the suits South blocked. He therefore tried No Trumps tentatively at the two range, and North went the rest of the way despite his extremely minimum hand.

It happened that South should have made the contract, but he played terribly after West led the club K. South let that go by and then won the J lead with dummy's A. He lost the diamond Q finesse, whereupon West scored the club Q and 9, then knocked out the heart A from dummy. South led to his blocking diamond A, but could not get back into the dummy. He scored the spade A and K, then had to relinquish the rest of the tricks, going down four.

That contract was really easy to make by sounder play, leading to the diamond A on the third trick, then offering the Q, in the hope that the K would have to play. It would, and after two more clubs the defense would find South ready to take the rest of the tricks to make a total of nine, with the heart A as a re-entry for the dummy's diamonds.

Tomorrow's Problem

How should South try for the funny contract of 3-No Trumps if West leads the diamond 2 instead of the spades which East had bid?

Scarf Results In Letter From Korea

A scarf knitted here at least five years ago and meant for use in World War II has finally been delivered. It came about this way.

During World War II Mrs. Viola Earnest, 507 Eastern Avenue, like hundreds of other Cumberland women, wanted to do something to help the war effort. She knitted scarfs for the Red Cross. With each one she enclosed her name and address.

Last week Mrs. Earnest received a letter from Cpl. Samuel Pagano, 19, of the Bronx, N. Y. The communication declared he had been issued a scarf knitted by Mrs. Earnest. The soldier is a medium tank driver and is with the Seventh Infantry Division in Korea. Cpl. Pagano wrote in part:

"The weather out here is frightful and the scarf is just delightful. I have much less chance of catching cold and have you to thank. I will cherish it forever and remember you always."

The letter was written November 26.

Putting over your ideas in any meeting depends as much on your platform manners as what you say!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THERE'S a lot more to speaking effectively at a business meeting, a committee conference or any gathering than just knowing what you are going to say and how you want to say it. Your platform manners determine a large measure of your success. Just as for all other occasions, there are rules and a governing code based on consideration of others.

All Eyes on You

To sway an audience and influence other people, you must first make sure your grooming is perfect. With all eyes focused on you, you can be certain the slightest flaw will not go undetected. If you yourself are aware of any flaws, your thoughts will wander to them and away from what you are saying, destroy your confidence and poise, and handicap your attempt to win others to your point of view.

To make certain the attention is on your message and not on your costume, keep your clothes ultra simple, right for the hour, and the occasion. Certainly they should be chic, but never fancy or fussy, and any hat that shades your face should be avoided as well. To make sure all your own thoughts will be concentrated on your words, if you plan to wear something new get used to it before you face your audience; make sure you feel entirely comfortable in it.

During the program, sit gracefully — don't slouch or shrink. Listen attentively to the other speakers. Walk gracefully and stand erect. Look directly at your audience, unfreeze your face and let the magnetism of your smile go to work for you before you say your first word.

Natural and Informal

Refer to your notes easily and freely, but never glue your attention to them. Remember always to talk directly to your audience. If you have any impulse to fidget with a piece of the furniture or your clothing, put your hands at your sides.

Speak to the back rows as well as those in front and you will not have to worry about whether your audience can hear you. Never end a speech, report or introduction by saying "thank you". Simply smile your most gracious smile (it says thank you most effectively) and walk directly to your seat.

Let your manner be one of naturalness and informality. Follow that rule and you'll find yourself on the road to success!

Tomorrow: Morning charm.

Arthritis Is Termed Most Costly Illness

Contributions Asked To Back Program

The cost of arthritis cannot be measured alone in human pain and misery, according to Dr. Harry F. Klinefelter, Jr., a member of the Medical and Scientific Committee of the Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

He called it America's most expensive malady.

"Arthritis costs the people of our country three-quarters of a billion dollars a year, $520 million in wages, $128 million in relief allowances, and $100 million in medical treatment."

He pointed out that knowledge is the only thing that can meet the high cost of arthritis and rheumatism.

"Knowledge is the answer, knowledge by doctors, knowledge by the general public. Of course, knowledge by doctors means research and special training, and knowledge by the general public means an insight into the symptoms of these diseases and an understanding of their importance.

"The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation is spearheading a program that is opening doors to new knowledge about rheumatic diseases, and applying that knowledge."

To show the need for this knowledge and to amplify the terrific impact of arthritis and rheumatism on our people, Dr. Klinefelter explained that they are responsible for the loss of 97,200,000 workdays each year, the equivalent of 320,000 employable people being out of work at all times.

"Arthritis hits us three ways, through suffering and pain, through our pocketbooks, and through the loss of manpower."

He pointed out that nearly every case of arthritis affects not one person, but two, the actual victim of the disease, and some member of his family who has to devote long hours to his care.

Dr. Klinefelter said that the Maryland Chapter of the Foundation, under the leadership of Clarence W. Miles, its president, is developing a five-way program to help meet the situation, home nursing service, research, specialized training for doctors, public education, and the operation of clinics.

"For the first time we are asking the people of Maryland to help finance this program, "Dr. Klinefelter said. "During the first two years of the Maryland Chapter's existence, a small group of public spirited medical and business people carried the load. Now, the activity is too large for them to finance alone. We need help from the general public."

"Contributions may be sent to ARTHRITIS care of POSTMASTER."

ARE THEY ALL STOPPED?

Soundness in bidding a No Trump game depends primarily on having probable stoppers in all four suits. It makes no particular difference whether it is your hand or your partner's which contains an adequate stopper in some particular suit. When you have great high card strength in a suit which your partner bid when opening the auction, you are entitled to count him as having the necessary high card strength elsewhere in his hand. Sometimes you can have such strength in his suit and one other that you can sensibly seek a No Trump game without any stoppers in the other two, basing your hopes on his stopping them.

When North failed to support South's spades, the latter became pretty sure his partner's high cards for opening were in hearts and clubs, considering what he held himself made it impossible for North to have anything worth while in the suits South blocked. He therefore tried No Trumps tentatively at the two range, and North went the rest of the way despite his extremely minimum hand.

It happened that South should have made the contract, but he played terribly after West led the club K. South let that go by and then won the J lead with dummy's A. He lost the diamond Q finesse, whereupon West scored the club Q and 9, then knocked out the heart A from dummy. South led to his blocking diamond A, but could not get back into the dummy. He scored the spade A and K, then had to relinquish the rest of the tricks, going down four.

That contract was really easy to make by sounder play, leading to the diamond A on the third trick, then offering the Q, in the hope that the K would have to play. It would, and after two more clubs the defense would find South ready to take the rest of the tricks to make a total of nine, with the heart A as a re-entry for the dummy's diamonds.

Scarf Results In Letter From Korea

A scarf knitted here at least five years ago and meant for use in World War II has finally been delivered. It came about this way.

During World War II Mrs. Viola Earnest, 507 Eastern Avenue, like hundreds of other Cumberland women, wanted to do something to help the war effort. She knitted scarfs for the Red Cross. With each one she enclosed her name and address.

Last week Mrs. Earnest received a letter from Cpl. Samuel Pagano, 19, of the Bronx, N. Y. The communication declared he had been issued a scarf knitted by Mrs. Earnest. The soldier is a medium tank driver and is with the Seventh Infantry Division in Korea. Cpl. Pagano wrote in part:

"The weather out here is frightful and the scarf is just delightful. I have much less chance of catching cold and have you to thank. I will cherish it forever and remember you always."

The letter was written November 26.

Pair Ordered Held For Grand Jury

Two area men waived preliminary hearings Saturday in Trial Magistrates Court and were ordered held under $500 bond each for action of the January grand jury on charges of stealing 2,000 feet of copper wire from the Hampshire Mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton.

The men, Frank D'Agostino, Keyser, W. Va., and John Sugars, McCoole, were committed to County Jail in default of bond.

Amtower To Head IOOF Lodge Here

Carl Amtower was elected noble grand of Chapel Hill Lodge No. 53, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at the annual election held in the IOOF Hall, Virginia Avenue.

The installation is scheduled in the IOOF Hall January 8.

Putting over your ideas in any meeting depends as much on your platform manners as what you say!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THERE'S a lot more to speaking effectively at a business meeting, a committee conference or any gathering than just knowing what you are going to say and how you want to say it. Your platform manners determine a large measure of your success. Just as for all other occasions, there are rules and a governing code based on consideration of others.

All Eyes on You

To sway an audience and influence other people, you must first make sure your grooming is perfect. With all eyes focused on you, you can be certain the slightest flaw will not go undetected. If you yourself are aware of any flaws, your thoughts will wander to them and away from what you are saying, destroy your confidence and poise, and handicap your attempt to win others to your point of view.

To make certain the attention is on your message and not on your costume, keep your clothes ultra simple, right for the hour, and the occasion. Certainly they should be chic, but never fancy or fussy, and any hat that shades your face should be avoided as well. To make sure all your own thoughts will be concentrated on your words, if you plan to wear something new get used to it before you face your audience; make sure you feel entirely comfortable in it.

During the program, sit gracefully — don't slouch or shrink. Listen attentively to the other speakers. Walk gracefully and stand erect. Look directly at your audience, unfreeze your face and let the magnetism of your smile go to work for you before you say your first word.

Natural and Informal

Refer to your notes easily and freely, but never glue your attention to them. Remember always to talk directly to your audience. If you have any impulse to fidget with a piece of the furniture or your clothing, put your hands at your sides.

Speak to the back rows as well as those in front and you will not have to worry about whether your audience can hear you. Never end a speech, report or introduction by saying "thank you". Simply smile your most gracious smile (it says thank you most effectively) and walk directly to your seat.

Deer Hunters Equal 1949 Season Total

Hunters in Allegany County equalled last year's deer season mark of 177 legal kills.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said 160 kills were reported at the county's three checking stations and about 20 for the week reported at Hancock as being bagged in Allegany County.

The upland game season, suspended during deer season, will resume this morning and continue in effect until December 31.

SNOW DRIFTS UP TO SEVEN FEET bury many Chicago cars and almost completely stop auto travel. The city's bitter cold, stinging winds and blinding snow was hard on owners of stalled cars. (International)

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

SIDEGLANCES . . .

Chiang Kai-Shek has informed his representatives in this country that he could open a second front against Red China, in support of battered U. S. and other U. N. forces in Korea.

He has at his command 750,000 Chinese Nationalist troops based on Formosa, in addition to what he estimates is twice that many Formosa-directed guerrillas openly or latently active on the Chinese mainland.

Of the 750,000 Formosa-based troops, 500,000 are combat troops and 250,000 are in service corps.

He also has informed his people in Washington, and presumably our accredited representatives on Formosa, that he has enough shipping to transport 350,000 of his men across the Formosan straits and successfully attack the thinly-armed China coast.

Chiang also swears that the 350,000 men could be equipped—immediately—to fight an open battle against the Chinese Reds for at least one week. After that, unless they seize enemy material, they would need, in the order named, bullets, replacement parts for guns, oil and gasoline.

In a message to Washington he said specifically that his force could handle the job alone, so far as manpower is concerned, and would want no aid from the United States in the way of officers and troops. A quick check at the Department of the Army by Chinese Nationalist officials in Washington brought the information that, as compared to the 350,000 men Chiang now offers, the total number of men under arms in friendly Western Europe is just over 200,000.

As of this writing, the offer has been rejected.

• — • — •

I have contended in the past that one of the most perfect ways to absorb and remember the highlights of history between 1932 and the beginning of 1950 is to buy "I Can Hear It Now," the two remarkable phonograph albums put out by Edward R. Murrow and Fred Friendly.

Murrow and Friendly have now come forth with a third volume, covering the period between the end of World War I and the stock market crash. It is some of the most exciting listening toward which you could cup an ear.

The new "I Can Hear It Now" presented a vast number of difficulties that did not exist in the making of the first two albums. It was tedious, but comparatively easy, for the editors to cull the voices of the momentous figures that stalked the world's stage between the first term of F.D.R. and the advent of the Korean war. There was available a treasury of recorded words from world leaders.

But many of the voices in the new album had to be ersatz, not only because their owners had little access to recordings but because of the nature of the new album. It includes, for instance, Harry Dougherty's "smoke-filled room" prophecy concerning the nomination of Warren G. Harding and Woodrow Wilson's presentation at various whistle stops throughout the country of his plea for our participation in the League of Nations.

Lawyer John Pollard Coolidge of Rutland, Vt., a first cousin of the late President, is the twangy voice of Coolidge's father in the swearing-in scene after Harding's death. More than 50 professionals and amateurs were tried, as the voice of Will Rogers, before Will Rogers, Jr., dug up six old monologues made by his father on wax. Georgie Price won the Jimmy Walker role hands down. L. H. Rosenberg, an original KDKA (Pittsburgh) announcer, was found in the advertising business and played himself.

A reputable congressman turned out to have a voice exactly like the somewhat less reputable Doheny of the Teapot Dome sequence. A buddy of Friendly's from the China-Burma-India theater, Jesse Sincere, proved to be perfect as Dougherty.

It's quite an achievement, this new album. And now that the hurdle has been surmounted nothing should stop their reaching back through the remainder of history, to make its study as arresting to the ear as to the eye.

At a recent session of the UN, the accredited photographers, who are treated very badly by UN officials, were asked to wear little red identification tags on their lapels. Shortly after putting on the tags they were approached by a member of the Communist Ukrainian delegation.

"Someday you'll be proud to wear a red badge," the guy had the audacity to predict.

One of the camera boys eyed him like a fish and replied, "You'll never live to see the day, Mac."

The fellow frowned and stomped off, and the photographers seem to be having a rougher time than before.

Deer Hunters Equal 1949 Season Total

Hunters in Allegany County equalled last year's deer season mark of 177 legal kills.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said 160 kills were reported at the county's three checking stations and about 20 for the week reported at Hancock as being bagged in Allegany County.

The upland game season, suspended during deer season, will resume this morning and continue in effect until December 31.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

SIDEGLANCES . . .

Chiang Kai-Shek has informed his representatives in this country that he could open a second front against Red China, in support of battered U. S. and other U. N. forces in Korea.

He has at his command 750,000 Chinese Nationalist troops based on Formosa, in addition to what he estimates is twice that many Formosa-directed guerrillas openly or latently active on the Chinese mainland.

Of the 750,000 Formosa-based troops, 500,000 are combat troops and 250,000 are in service corps.

He also has informed his people in Washington, and presumably our accredited representatives on Formosa, that he has enough shipping to transport 350,000 of his men across the Formosan straits and successfully attack the thinly-armed China coast.

Chiang also swears that the 350,000 men could be equipped—immediately—to fight an open battle against the Chinese Reds for at least one week. After that, unless they seize enemy material, they would need, in the order named, bullets, replacement parts for guns, oil and gasoline.

In a message to Washington he said specifically that his force could handle the job alone, so far as manpower is concerned, and would want no aid from the United States in the way of officers and troops. A quick check at the Department of the Army by Chinese Nationalist officials in Washington brought the information that, as compared to the 350,000 men Chiang now offers, the total number of men under arms in friendly Western Europe is just over 200,000.

As of this writing, the offer has been rejected.

I have contended in the past that one of the most perfect ways to absorb and remember the highlights of history between 1932 and the beginning of 1950 is to buy "I Can Hear It Now," the two remarkable phonograph albums put out by Edward R. Murrow and Fred Friendly.

Murrow and Friendly have now come forth with a third volume, covering the period between the end of World War I and the stock market crash. It is some of the most exciting listening toward which you could cup an ear.

The new "I Can Hear It Now" presented a vast number of difficulties that did not exist in the making of the first two albums. It was tedious, but comparatively easy, for the editors to cull the voices of the momentous figures that stalked the world's stage between the first term of F.D.R. and the advent of the Korean war. There was available a treasury of recorded words from world leaders.

But many of the voices in the new album had to be ersatz, not only because their owners had little access to recordings but because of the nature of the new album. It includes, for instance, Harry Dougherty's "smoke-filled room" prophecy concerning the nomination of Warren G. Harding and Woodrow Wilson's presentation at various whistle stops throughout the country of his plea for our participation in the League of Nations.

Lawyer John Pollard Coolidge of Rutland, Vt., a first cousin of the late President, is the twangy voice of Coolidge's father in the swearing-in scene after Harding's death. Civilian Defense Costly

To the billions to be spent for rearmament other billions are to be added to enable the United States to survive a possible major attack from Washington's former pal, "good old Joe." In that event the civilian population would be in the midst of a new world war. Therefore it must be ready to defend itself. And getting prepared for an atomic onslaught will cost a great deal of money.

The National Security Resources Board has just outlined a program for an effective civilian defense, with cost estimates appended, to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Its plan would require the expenditure of $3,100,000,000 over the next three years.

That is a lot of money, though the country has seen the estimates for military spending shoot up from approximately $15,000,000,000 before Korea to more than $40,000,000,000 as of today.

This $3,100,000,000 apparently would cover everything, from administration costs always a major item with the all-out spenders in control—to the construction of shelters. A sum of a little more than $1,000,000,000 a year would be spread out over the federal government, the state governments and municipal governmental units.

Whether the bill makes proper allocations of the expense between the various governments is a question for Congress to decide, with the counsel of state and local authorities.

The People To Blame

The Constitution became the fundamental law of the land when the first 10 amendments were adopted after approval by the various states. These amendments are known as the Bill of Rights, under which the American people have lived securely for 160 years.

These amendments guaranteed many rights to the people, all based upon personal, political and religious freedom. Then, to make sure nothing vital had been overlooked, it was declared that "basic rights of a democracy — all those not specifically mentioned in the Constitution—shall be retained by the people."

In recent years there have been many instances of violation of personal rights by a government turning socialist. Free enterprise has been handicapped and private lives of the people invaded by legislative enactments contrary to the guarantees of the Bill of Rights. Complaints place the blame on the government, but it belongs to the people who made that government possible.

Instead of supporting a government established to guarantee their basic rights, the people turned to Washington for imaginary security and blessings. The crop now being harvested is the fruit of the election results of the last two decades.

Previews On TV?

Charles Skouras of Hollywood is no ordinary movie-house manager. He is president of an outfit that runs 500 theaters in this country. Like many another man in the business he has been battered and bruised by television. But he doesn't talk like a fellow with the jitters. He faces right up to TV. In effect he says, "We can't buck it, so let's join it!"

First he makes the kind of frank admission that might be expected from one theater owner to another as they weep into their beer in a corner saloon. "Attendance is off 10 to 15 per cent in television areas. It's off only two to four per cent in areas without television. So we know where to place the blame."

But does he think he knows where to find the cure for TV-decimated attendance? He does. He wants to use television to publicize motion pictures. He thinks that if a preview of a big scene from a new film can be flashed across TV screens, right in amongst the fireside sitters, they might pile into the car and wind up at the box office.

Socialists In China

The American defenders of the Chiang Kai-shek regime in China are due for a shock. They have seemed to regard the Chinese civil war as a conflict between Communism on the one hand and the cause of private enterprise, as a policy of Chiang, on the other.

Actually both Chinese groups are at odds with American conservatives. Dr. F. Tsiang, head of the Chinese delegation to the United Nations and an appointee of Chiang's, says that the Nationalists, Chiang's party, are Socialists. They have taken over oil, steel, electricity and other industries. "We do not advertise this fact in this country," he says of the United States, "because we know this country doesn't like Socialism."

In Europe, too, many policies which we label Socalistic are favored by sober conservatives. They are influenced by the conditions which they find around them, conditions unlike our own and not always fully appreciated by Americans.

The Cry Of "Wolf"

It should not surprise anybody that a New York City youth with a talent for radio engineering thought it would be clever to broadcast an alarm of a forthcoming atomic attack, and to urge citizens to seek shelter. The police stepped in at this point, and got him a thirty-day sentence in the workhouse. All but seven days of the sentence was remitted by the judge.

It is to be hoped that the young man was really penitent, and that he no longer harbors the notion that he did something clever. Such stunts need to be emphatically discouraged. There is no telling what harm they might do if heeded, or what might be the consequences in disregard of warning if an atomic attack should really occur.

Traffic Pattern

Despite their frequent protestations of the superiority of their own ways, Oriental peoples are permitting American traits to make many changes in their customs, some subtle and others jolting like the change in highway traffic rules which Pakistan inaugurates January 1. Traffic henceforth will travel to the right instead of to the left as it always has.

This innovation is occasioned chiefly by the fact that American cars are designed for right-hand traffic, a point which impresses the Orient with increasing force. China made the change five years ago. The magnitude of it can be conceived by imagining a sudden shift, in America, from the right to the left side of the road.

Prospective Medical Students

MEDICAL SCHOOLS frequently are lambasted for being too "choosy" and for not admitting enough students. This criticism stems from many organizations, political and otherwise, as well as from those who aspire to be physicians but are unable to meet the requirements. Our present system is not without faults but, as in various fields of education, much of the criticism is unwarranted because it has its origin in misconceptions.

One of the most commonly held false beliefs is that only one student out of 10 applying for entrance to a medical college gains admission. This figure was derived from the fact that the 79 schools in this country had 88,363 applications but only 7,054 were admitted to the freshman class. This is approximately one in 12 but the statistican neglects to tell of the duplications. The average student applies to more than three schools at the same time; he is not taking a chance by putting all his eggs in one basket. A careful analysis of the records of each medical school reveals that the actual number of students who made the 88,363 applications was 24,434. This means that one in three and one-half (not one in 10) made the grade. We must remember also that the increased number of applicants under the GI bill of rights has taxed the capacities of medical schools. Thru the years previous to World War II never less than one out of two applicants was accepted.

Many will say that the one out of three ratio is still too low and that a greater number should be accepted. They argue that the study of medicine is for the public good and that any one who wants to should be allowed to pursue this course. This idea has prevailed in some countries in Europe and, to satisfy the public demand, every Tom, Dick, and Harry is admitted. By the end of the first year, one-half have flunked because they could not keep up with the work. This plan has all the earmarks of political trickery because it satisfies the wishes of the people but does not serve their best interests. It is a waste of man power: the young man who does not make the grade throws away a year of his life. Furthermore, it is far more disappointing to flunk than to be denied the privilege of attending in the first place.

There also is a notion that only students with an A average will be taken. It is true that grades are considered but so is the medical aptitude test which is thought by some deans to be a much better indication of the over-all potentiality of the student. Personal and emotional stability are important and some schools require a physical examination. In 54 medical schools, however, students were admitted to the freshman class whose grade point average was less than B minus. In these cases the average was not deemed as significant as the marks in science subjects. If a young man is good in his scientific courses the chances are excellent that he has a knack for science in general and would do well in medical school.

Another false impression is that only a few of the medical colleges in the United States admit women. Actually all except two admit women students and this is more than compensated for by the fact that the Woman's Medical college of Philadelphia does not take men. In the period 1946-1950, 176 students were enrolled there. A common assumption relative to women is that it is futile to train them in medicine because the majority marry and never practice. This argument will not hold water because even tho they marry 82 per cent remain in full time medical practice.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Those who saf in on the prolonged talks with Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman agreed that they set a new highwater mark for Anglo-American cooperation — something that had been needed for a long time.

The two men talked as if they were fellow members of the same cabinet—though the Prime Minister, in his friendly way, did more talking than the President. Attlee even told Truman quite frankly that both he and French Premier Pleven were worried over his growing opposition in Congress and wondered whether any military agreements, made now, would be honored in the new 82nd Congress. President Truman later expressed some concern about this, and asked his staff to see what they could recommend to get the bipartisan foreign policy back on an even keel.

However, despite the healthy Anglo-American agreements to cooperate on economic matters and move for quick rearming of Europe, the two men remained far apart on policy toward Communist China. In fact, the only thing they agreed to regarding China was to disagree.

Firm Last-Stand In Korea

A joint policy on the intermediate problem in Korea was a lot easier. And here is how the Korean discussions progressed.

Prime Minister Attlee arrived with the feeling that the United Nations would be better off if we pulled out of Korea altogether. His views were confirmed when Gen. Omar Bradley, top chief of staff, gave an unvarnished account of the terrible casualties, and expressed doubt regarding the wisdom of trying to hold a beachhead.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, incidentally, have been unanimous behind Bradley; believe it might take as many as 50,000 casualties to maintain a beachhead.

This view was seconded by the British Chief of Staff, Field Marshal Sir William Slim, who also doubted the wisdom of remaining in Korea.

No-Appeaser Acheson

However, Secretary of State Acheson took the opposite view. Though branded an appeaser by Republicans, Acheson was anything but an appeaser in the talks with Attlee.

He argued that there were two ways of getting out of Korea—one to pull out, the other to get kicked out. To run out on a small country like Korea, he argued, would brand us as dishonorable, without courage, and a nation not to be trusted as an ally in the future.

If, on the other hand, we went down fighting to the last ditch and with colors flying, Acheson argued, our position would be far better in the eyes of the world.

Therefore, the Secretary of State urged that we keep at least a beachhead in Korea, during which time we would do our best to improve our diplomatic bargaining position.

President Truman vigorously supported his Secretary of State, and Prime Minister Attlee, after listening to the arguments, changed his mind and agreed that Acheson was right.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff meanwhile estimate that with enough warships standing off shore and pounding the enemy around a beachhead, plus enough airplanes overhead, they can defend an allied toe hold in Korea indefinitely.

The Blockade Of China

Having agreed to this, the next big question was joint Anglo-American diplomatic policy toward China. This was the most difficult nut to crack of all.

In this case Acheson again proved to be anything but an appeaser. He favored a stiff straight-arm policy against the Chinese Communists, including a naval blockade and a boycott.

He proposed stationing the American and British fleets off the coast of China and preventing a single pound of merchandise or material from entering any Chinese port—until China was ready to revert to a peaceful status.

Acheson was also not averse to the idea of having Chiang Kai-Shek's air force pound Chinese cities with bombing raids, and in brief putting our own UN iron curtain around China until she got over her belligerency.

Acheson also opposed any diplomatic negotiations with the Chinese delegates at the United Nations except regarding Korea. He said the State department would flatly refuse to talk to the Chinese about either Formosa or admission to the UN or anything else until they corrected their belligerent position toward the UN in Korea.

The Secretary of State stuck to this position throughout the various Attlee conferences, despite detailed and convincing arguments put up by the Prime Minister.

Attlee Argues

The Prime Minister argued:

1. That a naval blockade of China would not work, that China, a big and generally self-sufficient country, could import needed materials from Russia, Burma, Indo-China.

2. That the United Nations would not O. K. a blockade of China.

3. That such tough tactics would alienate other Asiatic countries.

4. That such a blockade would drive China into the arms of Russia.

Attlee argued that if we continued normal relations with China, there was a chance for Titoism—a chance that China would come back to her traditional policy of friendship with England and the U.S.A. But if we kept China at arm's length, he maintained there was no chance of undercutting Moscow's influence.

Faced with this impasse, Truman and Attlee decided to postpone any joint decision on Chinese policy, but play it by ear. They will wait and see what happens and cross each bridge as they come to it.

NOTE—The British got little information from their friends, the Indians, regarding the attitude of the Chinese delegation at Lake Success. After Sir Benegal Rau, head of the Indian delegation, lunched with the Chinese Communists, he reported fully to his government in New Delhi, but said almost nothing to the British. His inference was that the British would tell all to the Americans. However, he did give enough information to indicate that the Chinese Communists had been extremely tough and almost impossible to deal with.

Sen. Wherry Stumped

For one of the few times in his life ebullient Ken Wherry, the Senate Republican leader, was stumped for an answer the other day. He was being interviewed on European defense by an earnest young German reporter, Kurt Von Gleichen of Die Neue Zeitung, largest newspaper in the U. S. zone.

"You Germans will be the main line of defense against the Communists," said Wherry enthusiastically. "You are good fighters, and you like to fight."

"But we don't want to fight," answered the young, blond reporter. "We had enough of war."

Wherry thought it over for a moment and said, "Well, what would it take to have you fight the Russians?"

"If we had two or three divisions of American troops in Germany we knew would stay and fight," Von Gleichen replied, "that would be enough of an assurance."

The Senator shook his head sadly. "But that would cost a lot of money," he said, "and we don't have that much money."

"But Senator," the young German said patiently, "how can you say that? Every place I see television antennas on the roofs."

It was then that Wherry was stumped.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

What It Will Mean To You

WASHINGTON—

TO most people, government decisions have only a rather distant and unreal meaning. Yet certain decisions made during these last terrible days, in smoky conference rooms in the White House, the Pentagon, the old State Department building and elsewhere, will most closely and intimately affect every American. For these decisions add up to national mobilization. Here is what national mobilization is likely to mean to you.

If you are a young man, and not now in service, the chances are very high that you soon will be, either through a rapidly stepped up draft or through universal military service. In the latter case you may expect to spend two years in uniform, including a year of training and another year of service with a regular unit.

If you are a worker in an industry now producing civilion goods, you may be out of a job temporarily in the near future, while industry is converted to war production. You can then expect to work at least a 48 hour week, rather than the present 40-hour week. It is quite possible that your labor will ultimately be directed by the government.

If you are a business man, your business may be ordered, if necessary, into defense work. You can expect control as soon as an adequate enforcement staff can be organized —probably in about two months. But this will be only the prelude to controls which may in the end be a good deal more rigorous than in the last war.

Lower Living Standard

Whoever, you are, you can expect that your dollar will lose value rather rapidly, even with the most rigid controls—about 10 per cent a year, according to one informed guess. At the same time, the chances are that you will soon be paying taxes higher than during the last war, in whatever income bracket you may be. In short, you can expect a considerable lowering of your standard of living.

The government decisions which justify this set of dreary predictions may be briefly listed. In the first place, the 2,800,000 manpower limit for the armed services established so recently by President Truman has been hastily discarded. No new limit has been set. This will depend on what training cadres can be salvaged from the tragic wreckage in Korea; on the rate of production of new arms and equipment; and on the manpower needs of industry. But certainly the new figure will be much higher than any yet contemplated.

Similarly, the limit of $40 billion or therabouts for military expenditures which Defense Secretary George Marshall and Deputy Secretary Robert Lovett were trying to establish before disaster struck, has also of course been abandoned. A good guess is that the annual rate will soon be pushed up to between $60 and $70 billion. At the same time, planned expenditures for strengthening our allies have been quadrupled, to between $20 and $24 billion.

This means an annual budget edging up rapidly toward a staggering $100 billion, to be imposed on an economy already bursting at the seams. Yet dollars have ceased to be the true yardstick. The only true measure of the national mobilization which is now in prospect is how quickly this country and its allies can exchange strength for weakness. If the job is to be done, and if the national economy is not to burst once and for all, something pretty close to an economic dictatorship is required.

Await Truman's Approval

Plans for scrapping the present cumbrous, incoherent and tentative mobilization machinery and creating a new organization — a sort of streamlined War Production Board, with very great authority over the whole economy — have already been drawn up within the National Security Board. These plans await only the approval of President Truman.

Powerful pressure groups and advocates of business-as-usual will no doubt try to soften the hard program outlined above. Yet as every passing day makes it more clear that simple national survival is at stake, it becomes more unlikely that they will succeed. In short, about the best we can look forward to, for the indefinite future, is a full war economy. This means a standard of living which, although still less than Sparton, will be decidedly lower than that to which Americans are accustomed.

This is the price we shall have to pay for the years of incredible self-delusion, which will certainly puzzle future historians, when the United States permitted the world balance of power to be weighted ever more heavily in favor of the Soviet empire. And no one can be sure that a greater price will not have to be paid. For no one can be sure that the men in the Kremlin have not included that now is the time to have a war, now that the United States is weak and its allies defenseless.

Initiative Termed Basis Of Health And Security

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., December 10 — Three stories from different sources and from different parts of the world suggest what happens to initiative in the "Welfare State."

Fair Deal Initiative

A friend of one of my associates was traveling in Europe recently. He found himself in a railroad station in the Russian zone of Austria with his wife critically ill. He immediately requested the station master to summon a doctor. The station master did so but in a few minutes returned to say excitedly, "The doctor says he won't come unless he's paid." The friend replied, "Of course I'll pay, but why do you ask?"

The doctor when he arrived pointed out that they had a system of socialized medicine, that he had already seen more than his quota of patients for the day, and that more calls meant no more for him in additional marks in the book. He, therefore, would make no more calls unless he was paid in advance! Here is regimentation in medicine. Even the professional man, long an example of initiative and resourcefulness, is deprived of his heritage.

Two More Examples

We don't have to go to Russia satellites or to Britain to find examples of loss of initiative. Recently, the director of personnel of one of the largest automobile manufacturing concerns visited Babson Institute. We were discussing pros and cons of labor unions. This particular individual was an enlightened person and pointed to many of the good things that the labor unions have done for both the worker and and the automobile industry. But on one point he really exploded. Said he, "I can never forgive any union for killing the initiative of the man who wants to do eight hours' work in six or to do it better than another worker."

This past summer, a neighboring school teacher had an unfortunate experience. He was mowing his lawn, and his little girl of nine was helping him rake the grass. Other children in the neighborhood came along and asked the little girl, "How much are you getting?" When she replied that she was raking the grass because she liked to help her daddy and that she wasn't getting anything but a lot of fun, her playmates chastised her with a sharp "Sucker! What a dope you are!" The sequel to the story is that the father was so perturbed about the general attitude of the parents and children in that particular neighborhood that he moved away.

Great Issue

What has happened to those home-spun qualities of character, initiative, drive, and resourcefulness that made this country so great? The childish notion that someone will take care of us without our making any effort ourselves is fantastic economics. Individual initiative is the foundation stone of security, health and prosperity. The present attitude to do and give as little as possible will ultimately bring on depression and unemployment.

The greatest issue before the American people today is to find public officers who will give us the social climate necessary for the development of individual initiative, self-reliance, self-betterment, and self-achievement. Felix Morley, recently writing in NATION'S BUSINESS stated our problem in plain words when he said; "The theory that men owe it to themselves to win their way has been forgotten. Instead of believing that all men are worthy of respect ... by virtue of their individual efforts...we tend to say that all men are worthy of support by virtue of political action."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Can We Be Trusted?

IT IS BELIEVABLE that other peoples do not understand us, as we so little understand others. Yet, even without a grasp of national characteristics, nations have managed to work together on the general assumption that there is a policy, a purpose, some basic theory of operations.

For near a century, the United States pursued a course which was definable. For the American continents, we were guided by the Monroe Doctrine; in the Far East, since Daniel Webster was secretary of state, we insisted upon the territorial and administrative integrity of such countries as China. The open door policy of John Hay was part of that concept of our role.

We insisted upon freedom of the seas, and the right of Americans to enjoy any privileges which might be granted to other nationals. We insisted upon the inviolability of the American's right to trade.

All this has gone by the board and in its place have come opportunistic transactions and special relationships with different countries. The rules applied to one may not be applied to another. For the Monroe Doctrine we substituted the good neighbor policy, which cannot be defined. For the open door policy we substituted recognition of special privileges. Our citizens are battered about until the American passport is worthless in much of the world.

All this is called realism. But along with it have come betrayals. Let us list a few:

1. Finland: This county we regarded as a special friend. We noted that Finland was the only country that paid its debts. In 1939, Russia invaded Finland and the whole American people showed deep concern. Huge funds were raised to aid Finland. Then we forgot about Finland. Russia had taken part of the country and we no longer worried.

2. Yugoslavia: Professor Mikhailovitch organized the people of Yugoslavia to resist Germany. He did a wonderful job, but he was for a democratic Yugoslavia. The United States and Great Britain supported Mikhailovitch and Yugoslavia until Soviet Russia erected Tito as their puppet. Then we threw over Mikhailovitch, took on Tito, let him shoot down Americans, imprison Mikhailovitch and eventually kill him.

3. France: In the dark days of war, General De Gaulle was a hero. He organized Frenchmen to fight on our side. But he was fighting for France. Roosevelt did not like De Gaulle. Stalin hated De Gaulle. So we threw him over.

4. Poland: World War II was fought over the invasion of Poland by Hitler and Stalin in alliance. The United States had had a policy about the sanctity of treaties. Wilson made that a cause for our joining the allies in World War I. In the early years of the war, the United States made quite a fuss over Poland, but at Teheran and later at Yalta, we agreed to Russia's superior position in that country. At Potsdam, we finished the job of giving Poland to Soviet Russia.

5. China: For a century this country and China were friends. We spent a quarter of a billion dollars on education, religion and health in China, most of it through American missionary agencies. By the Washington treaties of 1921, we guaranteed the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

There can be no doubt that the United States went to war with Japan over China. Cordell Hull's ultimatum of November 26, 1941 dealt mostly with China. Yet at Teheran and Yalta, China, like Poland, was thrown to Soviet Russia.

6. Containment policy: Turkey, Greece and Iran have been guaranteed their integrity should Russia attack them. These three countries are now frightened lest they meet the fate of Poland, China and Yugoslavia.

Unless this country means to make good all its commitments, it is not sound policy to promise more than 150,000,000 persons can undertake and support. In the United Nations, our country has agreed to provide a force capable of safeguarding the Republic of Korea, but we have not done that. It is even probable that we never could do more than we did before Soviet China officially entered that war. We should have known who was the effective enemy and what we could accomplish against him. That should not have been left to chance.

There is a lesson to learn from all that — the good, old method of having some basic policies and sticking to them is safer than trying this or that as it comes along.

Civilian Defense Costly

To the billions to be spent for rearmament other billions are to be added to enable the United States to survive a possible major attack from Washington's former pal, "good old Joe." In that event the civilian population would be in the midst of a new world war. Therefore it must be ready to defend itself. And getting prepared for an atomic onslaught will cost a great deal of money.

The National Security Resources Board has just outlined a program for an effective civilian defense, with cost estimates appended, to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Its plan would require the expenditure of $3,100,000,000 over the next three years.

That is a lot of money, though the country has seen the estimates for military spending shoot up from approximately $15,000,000,000 before Korea to more than $40,000,000,000 as of today.

This $3,100,000,000 apparently would cover everything, from administration costs always a major item with the all-out spenders in control—to the construction of shelters. A sum of a little more than $1,000,000,000 a year would be spread out over the federal government, the state governments and municipal governmental units.

Whether the bill makes proper allocations of the expense between the various governments is a question for Congress to decide, with the counsel of state and local authorities.

The People To Blame

The Constitution became the fundamental law of the land when the first 10 amendments were adopted after approval by the various states. These amendments are known as the Bill of Rights, under which the American people have lived securely for 160 years.

These amendments guaranteed many rights to the people, all based upon personal, political and religious freedom. Then, to make sure nothing vital had been overlooked, it was declared that "basic rights of a democracy — all those not specifically mentioned in the Constitution—shall be retained by the people."

In recent years there have been many instances of violation of personal rights by a government turning socialist. Free enterprise has been handicapped and private lives of the people invaded by legislative enactments contrary to the guarantees of the Bill of Rights. Complaints place the blame on the government, but it belongs to the people who made that government possible.

Instead of supporting a government established to guarantee their basic rights, the people turned to Washington for imaginary security and blessings. The crop now being harvested is the fruit of the election results of the last two decades.

Previews On TV?

Charles Skouras of Hollywood is no ordinary movie-house manager. He is president of an outfit that runs 500 theaters in this country. Like many another man in the business he has been battered and bruised by television. But he doesn't talk like a fellow with the jitters. He faces right up to TV. In effect he says, "We can't buck it, so let's join it!"

First he makes the kind of frank admission that might be expected from one theater owner to another as they weep into their beer in a corner saloon. "Attendance is off 10 to 15 per cent in television areas. It's off only two to four per cent in areas without television. So we know where to place the blame."

But does he think he knows where to find the cure for TV-decimated attendance? He does. He wants to use television to publicize motion pictures. He thinks that if a preview of a big scene from a new film can be flashed across TV screens, right in amongst the fireside sitters, they might pile into the car and wind up at the box office.

Socialists In China

The American defenders of the Chiang Kai-shek regime in China are due for a shock. They have seemed to regard the Chinese civil war as a conflict between Communism on the one hand and the cause of private enterprise, as a policy of Chiang, on the other.

Actually both Chinese groups are at odds with American conservatives. Dr. F. Tsiang, head of the Chinese delegation to the United Nations and an appointee of Chiang's, says that the Nationalists, Chiang's party, are Socialists. They have taken over oil, steel, electricity and other industries. "We do not advertise this fact in this country," he says of the United States, "because we know this country doesn't like Socialism."

In Europe, too, many policies which we label Socalistic are favored by sober conservatives. They are influenced by the conditions which they find around them, conditions unlike our own and not always fully appreciated by Americans.

The Cry Of "Wolf"

It should not surprise anybody that a New York City youth with a talent for radio engineering thought it would be clever to broadcast an alarm of a forthcoming atomic attack, and to urge citizens to seek shelter. The police stepped in at this point, and got him a thirty-day sentence in the workhouse. All but seven days of the sentence was remitted by the judge.

It is to be hoped that the young man was really penitent, and that he no longer harbors the notion that he did something clever. Such stunts need to be emphatically discouraged. There is no telling what harm they might do if heeded, or what might be the consequences in disregard of warning if an atomic attack should really occur.

Traffic Pattern

Despite their frequent protestations of the superiority of their own ways, Oriental peoples are permitting American traits to make many changes in their customs, some subtle and others jolting like the change in highway traffic rules which Pakistan inaugurates January 1. Traffic henceforth will travel to the right instead of to the left as it always has.

This innovation is occasioned chiefly by the fact that American cars are designed for right-hand traffic, a point which impresses the Orient with increasing force. China made the change five years ago. The magnitude of it can be conceived by imagining a sudden shift, in America, from the right to the left side of the road.

Prospective Medical Students

MEDICAL SCHOOLS frequently are lambasted for being too "choosy" and for not admitting enough students. This criticism stems from many organizations, political and otherwise, as well as from those who aspire to be physicians but are unable to meet the requirements. Our present system is not without faults but, as in various fields of education, much of the criticism is unwarranted because it has its origin in misconceptions.

One of the most commonly held false beliefs is that only one student out of 10 applying for entrance to a medical college gains admission. This figure was derived from the fact that the 79 schools in this country had 88,363 applications but only 7,054 were admitted to the freshman class. This is approximately one in 12 but the statistican neglects to tell of the duplications. The average student applies to more than three schools at the same time; he is not taking a chance by putting all his eggs in one basket. A careful analysis of the records of each medical school reveals that the actual number of students who made the 88,363 applications was 24,434. This means that one in three and one-half (not one in 10) made the grade. We must remember also that the increased number of applicants under the GI bill of rights has taxed the capacities of medical schools. Thru the years previous to World War II never less than one out of two applicants was accepted.

Many will say that the one out of three ratio is still too low and that a greater number should be accepted. They argue that the study of medicine is for the public good and that any one who wants to should be allowed to pursue this course. This idea has prevailed in some countries in Europe and, to satisfy the public demand, every Tom, Dick, and Harry is admitted. By the end of the first year, one-half have flunked because they could not keep up with the work. This plan has all the earmarks of political trickery because it satisfies the wishes of the people but does not serve their best interests. It is a waste of man power: the young man who does not make the grade throws away a year of his life. Furthermore, it is far more disappointing to flunk than to be denied the privilege of attending in the first place.

There also is a notion that only students with an A average will be taken. It is true that grades are considered but so is the medical aptitude test which is thought by some deans to be a much better indication of the over-all potentiality of the student. Personal and emotional stability are important and some schools require a physical examination. In 54 medical schools, however, students were admitted to the freshman class whose grade point average was less than B minus. In these cases the average was not deemed as significant as the marks in science subjects. If a young man is good in his scientific courses the chances are excellent that he has a knack for science in general and would do well in medical school.

Another false impression is that only a few of the medical colleges in the United States admit women. Actually all except two admit women students and this is more than compensated for by the fact that the Woman's Medical college of Philadelphia does not take men. In the period 1946-1950, 176 students were enrolled there. A common assumption relative to women is that it is futile to train them in medicine because the majority marry and never practice. This argument will not hold water because even tho they marry 82 per cent remain in full time medical practice.

Attlee And Truman At Loggerheads Over China; Acheson Favors Naval Blockade Of China Coast; Agree To Keep Beachhead In Korea

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Those who sat in on the prolonged talks with Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman agreed that they set a new highwater mark for Anglo-American cooperation — something that had been needed for a long time.

The two men talked as if they were fellow members of the same cabinet—though the Prime Minister, in his friendly way, did more talking than the President. Attlee even told Truman quite frankly that both he and French Premier Pleven were worried over his growing opposition in Congress and wondered whether any military agreements, made now, would be honored in the new 82nd Congress. President Truman later expressed some concern about this, and asked his staff to see what they could recommend to get the bipartisan foreign policy back on an even keel.

However, despite the healthy Anglo-American agreements to cooperate on economic matters and move for quick rearming of Europe, the two men remained far apart on policy toward Communist China. In fact, the only thing they agreed to regarding China was to disagree.

Firm Last-Stand In Korea

A joint policy on the intermediate problem in Korea was a lot easier. And here is how the Korean discussions progressed.

Prime Minister Attlee arrived with the feeling that the United Nations would be better off if we pulled out of Korea altogether. His views were confirmed when Gen. Omar Bradley, top chief of staff, gave an unvarnished account of the terrible casualties, and expressed doubt regarding the wisdom of trying to hold a beachhead.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, incidentally, have been unanimous behind Bradley; believe it might take as many as 50,000 casualties to maintain a beachhead.

This view was seconded by the British Chief of Staff, Field Marshal Sir William Slim, who also doubted the wisdom of remaining in Korea.

No-Appeaser Acheson

However, Secretary of State Acheson took the opposite view. Though branded an appeaser by Republicans, Acheson was anything but an appeaser in the talks with Attlee.

He argued that there were two ways of getting out of Korea—one to pull out, the other to get kicked out. To run out on a small country like Korea, he argued, would brand us as dishonorable, without courage, and a nation not to be trusted as an ally in the future.

If, on the other hand, we went down fighting to the last ditch and with colors flying, Acheson argued, our position would be far better in the eyes of the world.

Therefore, the Secretary of State urged that we keep at least a beachhead in Korea, during which time we would do our best to improve our diplomatic bargaining position.

President Truman vigorously supported his Secretary of State, and Prime Minister Attlee, after listening to the arguments, changed his mind and agreed that Acheson was right.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff meanwhile estimate that with enough warships standing off shore and pounding the enemy around a beachhead, plus enough airplanes overhead, they can defend an allied toe hold in Korea indefinitely.

The Blockade Of China

Having agreed to this, the next big question was joint Anglo-American diplomatic policy toward China. This was the most difficult nut to crack of all.

In this case Acheson again proved to be anything but an appeaser. He favored a stiff straight-arm policy against the Chinese Communists, including a naval blockade and a boycott.

He proposed stationing the American and British fleets off the coast of China and preventing a single pound of merchandise or material from entering any Chinese port—until China was ready to revert to a peaceful status.

Acheson was also not averse to the idea of having Chiang Kai-Shek's air force pound Chinese cities with bombing raids, and in brief putting our own UN iron curtain around China until she got over her belligerency.

Acheson also opposed any diplomatic negotiations with the Chinese delegates at the United Nations except regarding Korea. He said the State department would flatly refuse to talk to the Chinese about either Formosa or admission to the UN or anything else until they corrected their belligerent position toward the UN in Korea.

The Secretary of State stuck to this position throughout the various Attlee conferences, despite detailed and convincing arguments put up by the Prime Minister.

Attlee Argues

The Prime Minister argued:

1. That a naval blockade of China would not work, that China, a big and generally self-sufficient country, could import needed materials from Russia, Burma, Indo-China.
2. That the United Nations would not O. K. a blockade of China.
3. That such tough tactics would alienate other Asiatic countries.
4. That such a blockade would drive China into the arms of Russia.

Attlee argued that if we continued normal relations with China, there was a chance for Titoism—a chance that China would come back to her traditional policy of friendship with England and the U.S.A. But if we kept China at arm's length, he maintained there was no chance of undercutting Moscow's influence.

Faced with this impasse, Truman and Attlee decided to postpone any joint decision on Chinese policy, but play it by ear. They will wait and see what happens and cross each bridge as they come to it.

NOTE—The British got little information from their friends, the Indians, regarding the attitude of the Chinese delegation at Lake Success. After Sir Benegal Rau, head of the Indian delegation, lunched with the Chinese Communists, he reported fully to his government in New Delhi, but said almost nothing to the British. His inference was that the British would tell all to the Americans. However, he did give enough information to indicate that the Chinese Communists had been extremely tough and almost impossible to deal with.

Sen. Wherry Stumped

For one of the few times in his life ebullient Ken Wherry, the Senate Republican leader, was stumped for an answer the other day. He was being interviewed on European defense by an earnest young German reporter, Kurt Von Gleichen of Die Neue Zeitung, largest newspaper in the U. S. zone.

"You Germans will be the main line of defense against the Communists," said Wherry enthusiastically. "You are good fighters, and you like to fight."

"But we don't want to fight," answered the young, blond reporter. "We had enough of war."

Wherry thought it over for a moment and said, "Well, what would it take to have you fight the Russians?"

"If we had two or three divisions of American troops in Germany we knew would stay and fight," Von Gleichen replied, "that would be enough of an assurance."

The Senator shook his head sadly. "But that would cost a lot of money," he said, "and we don't have that much money."

"But Senator," the young German said patiently, "how can you say that? Every place I see television antennas on the roofs."

It was then that Wherry was stumped.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

What It Will Mean To You

WASHINGTON—To most people, government decisions have only a rather distant and unreal meaning. Yet certain decisions made during these last terrible days, in smoky conference rooms in the White House, the Pentagon, the old State Department building and elsewhere, will most closely and intimately affect every American. For these decisions add up to national mobilization. Here is what national mobilization is likely to mean to you.

If you are a young man, and not now in service, the chances are very high that you soon will be, either through a rapidly stepped up draft or through universal military service. In the latter case you may expect to spend two years in uniform, including a year of training and another year of service with a regular unit.

If you are a worker in an industry now producing civilion goods, you may be out of a job temporarily in the near future, while industry is converted to war production. You can then expect to work at least a 48 hour week, rather than the present 40-hour week. It is quite possible that your labor will ultimately be directed by the government.

If you are a business man, your business may be ordered, if necessary, into defense work. You can expect control as soon as an adequate enforcement staff can be organized—probably in about two months. But this will be only the prelude to controls which may in the end be a good deal more rigorous than in the last war.

Lower Living Standard

Whoever, you are, you can expect that your dollar will lose value rather rapidly, even with the most rigid controls—about 10 per cent a year, according to one informed guess. At the same time, the chances are that you will soon be paying taxes higher than during the last war, in whatever income bracket you may be. In short, you can expect a considerable lowering of your standard of living.

The government decisions which justify this set of dreary predictions may be briefly listed. In the first place, the 2,800,000 manpower limit for the armed services established so recently by President Truman has been hastily discarded. No new limit has been set. This will depend on what training cadres can be salvaged from the tragic wreckage in Korea; on the rate of production of new arms and equipment; and on the manpower needs of industry. But certainly the new figure will be much higher than any yet contemplated.

Similarly, the limit of $40 billion or therabouts for military expenditures which Defense Secretary George Marshall and Deputy Secretary Robert Lovett were trying to establish before disaster struck, has also of course been abandoned. A good guess is that the annual rate will soon be pushed up to between $60 and $70 billion. At the same time, planned expenditures for strengthening our allies have been quadrupled, to between $20 and $24 billion.

This means an annual budget edging up rapidly toward a staggering $100 billion, to be imposed on an economy already bursting at the seams. Yet dollars have ceased to be the true yardstick. The only true measure of the national mobilization which is now in prospect is how quickly this country and its allies can exchange strength for weakness. If the job is to be done, and if the national economy is not to burst once and for all, something pretty close to an economic dictatorship is required.

Await Truman's Approval

Plans for scrapping the present cumbrous, incoherent and tentative mobilization machinery and creating a new organization — a sort of streamlined War Production Board, with very great authority over the whole economy — have already been drawn up within the National Security Board. These plans await only the approval of President Truman.

Powerful pressure groups and advocates of business-as-usual will no doubt try to soften the hard program outlined above. Yet as every passing day makes it more clear that simple national survival is at stake, it becomes more unlikely that they will succeed. In short, about the best we can look forward to, for the indefinite future, is a full war economy. This means a standard of living which, although still less than Sparton, will be decidedly lower than that to which Americans are accustomed.

This is the price we shall have to pay for the years of incredible self-delusion, which will certainly puzzle future historians, when the United States permitted the world balance of power to be weighted ever more heavily in favor of the Soviet empire. And no one can be sure that a greater price will not have to be paid. For no one can be sure that the men in the Kremlin have not included that now is the time to have a war, now that the United States is weak and its allies defenseless.

Initiative Termed Basis Of Health And Security

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., December 10 — Three stories from different sources and from different parts of the world suggest what happens to initiative in the "Welfare State."

Fair Deal Initiative

A friend of one of my associates was traveling in Europe recently. He found himself in a railroad station in the Russian zone of Austria with his wife critically ill. He immediately requested the station master to summon a doctor. The station master did so but in a few minutes returned to say excitedly, "The doctor says he won't come unless he's paid." The friend replied, "Of course I'll pay, but why do you ask?"

The doctor when he arrived pointed out that they had a system of socialized medicine, that he had already seen more than his quota of patients for the day, and that more calls meant no more for him in additional marks in the book. He, therefore, would make no more calls unless he was paid in advance! Here is regimentation in medicine. Even the professional man, long an example of initiative and resourcefulness, is deprived of his heritage.

Two More Examples

We don't have to go to Russia satellites or to Britain to find examples of loss of initiative. Recently, the director of personnel of one of the largest automobile manufacturing concerns visited Babson Institute. We were discussing pros and cons of labor unions. This particular individual was an enlightened person and pointed to many of the good things that the labor unions have done for both the worker and and the automobile industry. But on one point he really exploded. Said he, "I can never forgive any union for killing the initiative of the man who wants to do eight hours' work in six or to do it better than another worker."

This past summer, a neighboring school teacher had an unfortunate experience. He was mowing his lawn, and his little girl of nine was helping him rake the grass. Other children in the neighborhood came along and asked the little girl, "How much are you getting?" When she replied that she was raking the grass because she liked to help her daddy and that she wasn't getting anything but a lot of fun, her playmates chastised her with a sharp "Sucker! What a dope you are!" The sequel to the story is that the father was so perturbed about the general attitude of the parents and children in that particular neighborhood that he moved away.

Great Issue

What has happened to those home-spun qualities of character, initiative, drive, and resourcefulness that made this country so great? The childish notion that someone will take care of us without our making any effort ourselves is fantastic economics. Individual initiative is the foundation stone of security, health and prosperity. The present attitude to do and give as little as possible will ultimately bring on depression and unemployment.

The greatest issue before the American people today is to find public officers who will give us the social climate necessary for the development of individual initiative, self-reliance, self-betterment, and self-achievement. Felix Morley, recently writing in NATION'S BUSINESS stated our problem in plain words when he said; "The theory that men owe it to themselves to win their way has been forgotten. Instead of believing that all men are worthy of respect ... by virtue of their individual efforts...we tend to say that all men are worthy of support by virtue of political action."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Can We Be Trusted?

IT IS BELIEVABLE that other peoples do not understand us, as we so little understand others. Yet, even without a grasp of national characteristics, nations have managed to work together on the general assumption that there is a policy, a purpose, some basic theory of operations.

For near a century, the United States pursued a course which was definable. For the American continents, we were guided by the Monroe Doctrine; in the Far East, since Daniel Webster was secretary of state, we insisted upon the territorial and administrative integrity of such countries as China. The open door policy of John Hay was part of that concept of our role.

We insisted upon freedom of the seas, and the right of Americans to enjoy any privileges which might be granted to other nationals. We insisted upon the inviolability of the American's right to trade.

All this has gone by the board and in its place have come opportunistic transactions and special relationships with different countries. The rules applied to one may not be applied to another. For the Monroe Doctrine we substituted the good neighbor policy, which cannot be defined. For the open door policy we substituted recognition of special privileges. Our citizens are battered about until the American passport is worthless in much of the world.

All this is called realism. But along with it have come betrayals. Let us list a few:

1. Finland: This county we regarded as a special friend. We noted that Finland was the only country that paid its debts. In 1939, Russia invaded Finland and the whole American people showed deep concern. Huge funds were raised to aid Finland. Then we forgot about Finland. Russia had taken part of the country and we no longer worried.

2. Yugoslavia: Professor Mikhailovitch organized the people of Yugoslavia to resist Germany. He did a wonderful job, but he was for a democratic Yugoslavia. The United States and Great Britain supported Mikhailovitch and Yugoslavia until Soviet Russia erected Tito as their puppet. Then we threw over Mikhailovitch, took on Tito, let him shoot down Americans, imprison Mikhailovitch and eventually kill him.

3. France: In the dark days of war, General De Gaulle was a hero. He organized Frenchmen to fight on our side. But he was fighting for France. Roosevelt did not like De Gaulle. Stalin hated De Gaulle. So we threw him over.

4. Poland: World War II was fought over the invasion of Poland by Hitler and Stalin in alliance. The United States had had a policy about the sanctity of treaties. Wilson made that a cause for our joining the allies in World War I. In the early years of the war, the United States made quite a fuss over Poland, but at Teheran and later at Yalta, we agreed to Russia's superior position in that country. At Potsdam, we finished the job of giving Poland to Soviet Russia.

5. China: For a century this country and China were friends. We spent a quarter of a billion dollars on education, religion and health in China, most of it through American missionary agencies. By the Washington treaties of 1921, we guaranteed the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

There can be no doubt that the United States went to war with Japan over China. Cordell Hull's ultimatum of November 26, 1941 dealt mostly with China. Yet at Teheran and Yalta, China, like Poland, was thrown to Soviet Russia.

6. Containment policy: Turkey, Greece and Iran have been guaranteed their integrity should Russia attack them. These three countries are now frightened lest they meet the fate of Poland, China and Yugoslavia.

Unless this country means to make good all its commitments, it is not sound policy to promise more than 150,000,000 persons can undertake and support. In the United Nations, our country has agreed to provide a force capable of safeguarding the Republic of Korea, but we have not done that. It is even probable that we never could do more than we did before Soviet China officially entered that war. We should have known who was the effective enemy and what we could accomplish against him. That should not have been left to chance.

There is a lesson to learn from all that — the good, old method of having some basic policies and sticking to them is safer than trying this or that as it comes along.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10 (INS) — Jack Benny isn't going to be out of style—no, sirre! He, too, will make a movie for Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna. Now Jack can hold up his head again at Screen Actors Guild meetings—most of whom seem to have contracts with W. and K.

Jack Benny

Benny will star for the boys in "A Story For Grown Ups," new title on one of Krasna's old stage hits, "Time For Elizabeth," which he wrote with Groucho Marx. The comedy will be made next summer when Jack takes his vacation from TV and radio.

"Jackson," as Phil Harris calls his boss on the air, plays a man who plans his life so he can retire — at 39, I presume. He wants to spend the best years of his life with his family and the laughs are fast and furious as he tries to put his plan in operation.

• — • — •

Gabriel Pascal, who has been fighting the flu ever since he arrived in Hollywood, told me before he took off for Arizona that he had word from the trustees of George Bernard Shaw's estate to go ahead with "Androcles And The Lion" and all other Shaw plays which he had discussed with G..B. S.

"Is it true," I asked Pascal, "that Shaw gave you permission in his will to film all his plays?"

"I cannot say such a thing," said the usually voluble Pascal, "because his will hasn't been made public and I don't know."

• — • — •

I was sure that Jack Warner would never plunk down $200,000 for "Where's Charlie" without being assured that he could get Ray Bolger, star of the play. I was right. Jack says that Bolger will play the role he created on Broadway in which he was such a hit.

Plans are to make this a whopper-dopper musical in technicolor. It's taken from that funny old farce, "Charley's Aunt" which starred both Syd Chaplin and Jack Benny, at different times.

Gordon McCrae, named one of the three least cooperative actors by the Hollywood Women's Press Club, turned the tables in a very neat way.

Gordon told the club members he didn't want to be, and didn't mean to be uncooperative — and couldn't he instead of being on the uncooperative list, come to their annual luncheon and play Santa Claus.

The girls accepted, so I doubt very much if Gordon will get the "raspberry" this year. That's what the most uncooperative actor and actress receive, while the good little boys and girls get golden apples.

• — • — •

Sheila Ryan won't disappear for a day now, because she has to keep busy. She starts two pictures, one to follow the other. The first is "Mask Of The Dragon," then "Fingerprints Don't Lie."

All her clothes are being designed by Diane, the girl who attracted so much attention with her knit suits and dresses, all of which are knitted by blind workers.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Is being on time a "compulsion"?

Answer: It may be, but so may many other habits which in themselves are useful and desirable. I know of few better ways of saving time and trouble than keeping appointments punctually, and psychiatrists mostly insist upon their patients' doing this or paying for the time that they waste. To keep someone waiting if you can avoid it is often a childish way of showing that you think you are more important than he is. Only when the thought of being late makes you feel panicky has punctuality become a compulsion.

Is it true that "neurotics hate their parents"?

Answer: No. There is no rule about it, but they are more likely to believe they are devoted to them—or, at least, to one of them. The cause of neurosis is conflicting feelings, so that it's the people whose feeling about one or both parents is a mixture of love and hate—with whichever is the stronger repressing the other out of consciousness but not destroying it—who are most likely to become neurotic. Analyzing a neurotic who believes he hates his parents generally leads to his discovering that he also loves them.

Are boys who do not "date" normal?

Answer: They are apt to be less "well adjusted" than the average, says Opal Powell Wolford in the Journal of Home Economics. Study of the dating habits and family backgrounds of several hundred high school students showed that at least seniors who do not date are less happy at home, have less "self-regard," and are less successful in social relations than those who do. Boys who make little or no attempt to go out with girls usually grew up with a low opinion of themselves and doubt their ability to win social acceptance.

Firm Honors Local Salesman

David J. Brandenburg, 309 Decatur street, who begins his 50th year as salesman with the Piedmont Grocery Co. on December 16, was guest of honor Saturday night at a banquet given by the company at Ali Ghan Country Club.

R. G. DuVall, manager of the company, presented a gold wrist watch to Mr. Brandenburg on behalf of the concern. F. Lee Fresh was toastmaster, and there were talks by numerous guests in reminiscent mood. William H. Kight, well known Cumberland funeral director, recalled that a generation ago he used to drive Mr. Brandenburg from Elk Garden to surrounding towns, and a picture was produced (reprint at right) showing the two of them in a buggy on the road between Elk Garden and Shaw.

On December 16, 1901, Mr. Brandenburg started work with the company as shipping clerk. After serving in that capacity for about two years, he became salesman for the Piedmont, Westernport, Luke and Bloomington territory, also at different times in the Cumberland territory.

Mr. Brandenburg was married in June, 1900, to Miss Bessie Rawlings, of Cumberland. They resided in Piedmont until 1924 when they moved to Cumberland. Mrs. Brandenburg died in September, 1944. He now resides with his daughter, Mrs. Hazel Malloy, 309 Decatur Street. Another daughter, Mrs. Irma Burnworth, died in December, 1945.

Shriver Is Named Bank Director

Henry Shriver III has been elected a director of the First National Bank to succeed the late Harry A. Pitzer who was president at the time of his death last month.

Mr. Shriver, whose father was president of the bank for many years, recently returned to Cumberland from California, and is associated with John B. Waugh in the Cumberland Home Insulation Company.

Isaac Hirsch, who has returned to his home after a brief hospitalization, has been acting president of the First National since Mr. Pitzer's death.

Study of the dating habits and family backgrounds of several hundred high school students showed that at least seniors who do not date are less happy at home, have less "self-regard," and are less successful in social relations than those who do. Boys who make little or no attempt to go out with girls usually grew up with a low opinion of themselves and doubt their ability to win social acceptance.

Missionary Speaks At Area Churches

H. E. Davis, who spent the past five years in Ethiopia as a missionary of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, spoke Saturday at the Cumberland and Frostburg churches.

Davis is back in this country on a year's furlough and is attending the Adventist seminary at Takoma Park. He will return to Ethiopia in May with his wife and daughter.

Never press a wool garment completely dry. Place it on a hanger after pressing and pat steam out with the hands. Let it finish drying on the hanger.

Check Presented

The Cumberland Lions Club has presented a check for $1,000 to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. The money was raised through the Horse Show sponsored by the club last September.

Firm Honors Local Salesman

David J. Brandenburg, 309 Decatur street, who begins his 50th year as salesman with the Piedmont Grocery Co. on December 16, was guest of honor Saturday night at a banquet given by the company at Ali Ghan Country Club.

R. G. DuVall, manager of the company, presented a gold wrist watch to Mr. Brandenburg on behalf of the concern. F. Lee Fresh was toastmaster, and there were talks by numerous guests in reminiscent mood. William H. Kight, well known Cumberland funeral director, recalled that a generation ago he used to drive Mr. Brandenburg from Elk Garden to surrounding towns, and a picture was produced (reprint at right) showing the two of them in a buggy on the road between Elk Garden and Shaw.

On December 16, 1901, Mr. Brandenburg started work with the company as shipping clerk. After serving in that capacity for about two years, he became salesman for the Piedmont, Westernport, Luke and Bloomington territory, also at different times in the Cumberland territory.

Mr. Brandenburg was married in June, 1900, to Miss Bessie Rawlings, of Cumberland. They resided in Piedmont until 1924 when they moved to Cumberland. Mrs. Brandenburg died in September, 1944. He now resides with his daughter, Mrs. Hazel Malloy, 309 Decatur Street. Another daughter, Mrs. Irma Burnworth, died in December, 1945.

Shriver Is Named Bank Director

Henry Shriver III has been elected a director of the First National Bank to succeed the late Harry A. Pitzer who was president at the time of his death last month.

Mr. Shriver, whose father was president of the bank for many years, recently returned to Cumberland from California, and is associated with John B. Waugh in the Cumberland Home Insulation Company.

Isaac Hirsch, who has returned to his home after a brief hospitalization, has been acting president of the First National since Mr. Pitzer's death.

About 1,000,000 pounds of aluminum was directed during 1949 to manufacturers of aluminum nails.

Local Men To Attend Session

Two local men, Charles Ritter and Stanley Burke, will attend the two-day meeting of the Maryland State Licensed Beverage Association in Hagerstown tomorrow and Wednesday as delegates of the Allegany County Liquor Dealers Association for membership in the state group.

WHAT DOES A FLYING SAUCER REALLY LOOK LIKE?

Flying saucers are interesting to think about and are just naturally stimulating to the curiosity, but reliable sources declare that the saucers are on our side and that the worrying should be done by someone else . . . not us.

So maybe it would be time better spent to worry about something else . . . like the June 15th income tax installment, or unpaid bills.

We can help dissolve this worry too. Sure it's easy. Here's how it is done.

Everyone has things around the house that are usable but going unused. For instance, furniture in the attic, a lawnmower, a bicycle, luggage, a boat, an outboard motor, and dozens of other items. These items can be converted into cash to pay taxes and bills. How? By placing a low cost Times-News Want Ad. Just call 4600 and an ad-taker will help you.

That two-year contract for $150,000 Lou Boudreau is supposed to have signed with the Boston Red Sox has been whacked down, dollar-wise, by Joe Cronin, the Bosox general manager, who should know. . . . All six regulars who helped Holy Cross win 26 straight basketball games last year have graduated. . . . It's quite a rebuilding job for Coach Buster Sheary. . . . Milwaukee's new municipal Arena is featuring college basketball carnivals this year. . . . The Arena has a seating capacity of 10,000. . . . Penn's basketball squad has two regulars under 5 feet 10 inches tall. . . . In this day of stringbeans? . . . Slats Gill is now in his 23rd year as cage coach at Oregon State. . . . FROM HOOSIERVILLE comes this little story.

Michigan State's offensive was clicking and the ground attack was running over Indiana.

John Davis, a Hoosier defensive back who was having a busy afternoon in the secondary, called an official aside and said:

"Look out! Here they come again!"

The official waited until after the game and called Davis aside. Said he:

"Thanks, son. You saved my life!"

GOLDEN AGE of horse racing started within the last 10 years. . . . Eight out of the first 10 all-time money-winning thoroughbreds did their racing in this span. . . . Although Citation is generally considered the "flop" of 1950, his record still is terrific. . . . In 38 starts, the Calumet Comet has won 29 races and finished second nine times. . . . Never worse than first or second! . . . Stymie, who ranks second in the all-time money list, has been the most active of all the leading 50 campaigners. . . . Stymie has started 131 times and has won 35 races.

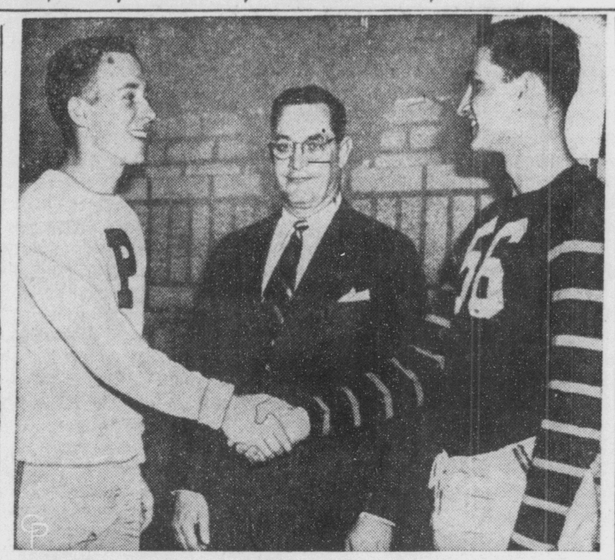
IF THERE is a playoff in both conferences in the National Football league this year, it will mark the first time in the 31-year history of the loop that such playoff has been necessary. . . . Vince Boryla of the New York Knicks won't try a free throw until he bounces the ball five times. . . . Already there are 5,032 team reservations on file for the 48th annual American Bowling Congress tourney in St. Paul next April. . . . Final date for all entries is Feb. 15. . . . Although the bowling season really has only begun, there have been 36 perfect games reported to the A. B. C. already. . . . St. John's university cagers are averaging 42 per cent in shots from the floor in games to date. . . . It will take $200,000 to transport United States track and field teams to Buenos Aires for the first Pan-American games there next February.



PRINCETON'S undefeated football team has elected its captain for 1951. He is Dave Hickok (right), being congratulated by the 1950 captain, George Chandler, as Coach Charlie Caldwell looks on at Princeton, N. J. Princeton's Tigers won all nine of their games. (International)

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their pocketbooks

There's been a lot of talk in recent weeks about "the buying power of the dollar"—past, present and future.

We can't foretell the future—but we can tell you this right now:

You'll look a long way before you'll find a car that offers as much for the money as you can get in a 1950 Buick.

Close to half a million of these cars have been built and sold this year.

Close to half a million people have checked their features and prices against the field—and decided they'd better buy Buick.

As to prices—they start down below some sixes. And whether you price the SPECIAL, the SUPER or the ROADMASTER, you'll find, on a cents-per-pound basis, that few other cars can touch them for value.

And this is for sure! When it comes to performance—ride—the way they handle and hold the road—and thrifty use of fuel and oil—Buicks have never been finer.

That's another way of saying that coil springs on all four wheels—Dynaflow*—torque-tube drive—and Buick's high-compression, high-economy Fireball power produce an out-of-this-world combination.

So if you want your dollars to do extra duty—the time to act is now.

Look at the price tags—look at the features—sample the power and thrill that you get for your money—and you'll know what we mean.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Look at the Typical Delivered Prices on 1950 Buicks

MODEL 46D Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet with de luxe trim $1986.50

MODEL 41D (illustrated) Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger 4-door Sedan with de luxe trim $2070.50

MODEL 56R Buick SUPER 6-passenger 2-door Riviera 2229.50

MODEL 72R Buick ROADMASTER 6-passenger 4-door Riviera Sedan 2859.50

Optional equipment, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

FROM HOOSIERVILLE comes this little story.

Michigan State's offensive was clicking and the ground attack was running over Indiana.

John Davis, a Hoosier defensive back who was having a busy afternoon in the secondary, called an official aside and said:

"Look out! Here they come again!"

The official waited until after the game and called Davis aside. Said he:

"Thanks, son. You saved my life!"

GOLDEN AGE of horse racing started within the last 10 years. . . . Eight out of the first 10 all-time money-winning thoroughbreds did their racing in this span. . . . Although Citation is generally considered the "flop" of 1950, his record still is terrific. . . . In 38 starts, the Calumet Comet has won 29 races and finished second nine times. . . . Never worse than first or second! . . . Stymie, who ranks second in the all-time money list, has been the most active of all the leading 50 campaigners. . . . Stymie has started 131 times and has won 35 races.

IF THERE is a playoff in both conferences in the National Football league this year, it will mark the first time in the 31-year history of the loop that such playoff has been necessary. . . . Vince Boryla of the New York Knicks won't try a free throw until he bounces the ball five times. . . . Already there are 5,032 team reservations on file for the 48th annual American Bowling Congress tourney in St. Paul next April. . . . Final date for all entries is Feb. 15. . . . Although the bowling season really has only begun, there have been 36 perfect games reported to the A. B. C. already. . . . St. John's university cagers are averaging 42 per cent in shots from the floor in games to date. . . . It will take $200,000 to transport United States track and field teams to Buenos Aires for the first Pan-American games there next February.

PRINCETON'S undefeated football team has elected its captain for 1951. He is Dave Hickok (right), being congratulated by the 1950 captain, George Chandler, as Coach Charlie Caldwell looks on at Princeton, N. J. Princeton's Tigers won all nine of their games. (International)

There's been a lot of talk in recent weeks about "the buying power of the dollar"—past, present and future.

We can't foretell the future—but we can tell you this right now:

You'll look a long way before you'll find a car that offers as much for the money as you can get in a 1950 Buick.

Close to half a million of these cars have been built and sold this year.

Close to half a million people have checked their features and prices against the field—and decided they'd better buy Buick.

As to prices—they start down below some sixes. And whether you price the SPECIAL, the SUPER or the ROADMASTER, you'll find, on a cents-per-pound basis, that few other cars can touch them for value.

And this is for sure! When it comes to performance—ride—the way they handle and hold the road—and thrifty use of fuel and oil—Buicks have never been finer.

That's another way of saying that coil springs on all four wheels—Dynaflow*—torque-tube drive—and Buick's high-compression, high-economy Fireball power produce an out-of-this-world combination.

So if you want your dollars to do extra duty—the time to act is now.

Look at the price tags—look at the features—sample the power and thrill that you get for your money—and you'll know what we mean.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Boston Trades Littlefield, Zarilla, Dobson To Chicago

Deal Is Announced After Chisox Turn Down Yankee Offer

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox bolstered their weak pitching staff today by acquiring southpaw Bill Wight and righthander Rae Scarborough from the Chicago White Sox in a major five-man deal involving some $500,000 worth of talent.

Outfielder Al (Zeke) Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield went to Chicago in the sensational swap that broke the trading jam at the war-minded winter meetings.

The big deal was announced shortly after Frank Lane, Chicago general manager, disclosed he had turned down a New York Yankee offer of three men for Scarborough.

Get Two Good Pitchers

Acquisition of Wight (10-16) and Scarborough (13-18) coming after the recent signing of Lou Boudreau, moved the Red Sox out front and center as American League favorites.

This move by Boston probably will force the Yankees, Detroit and Cleveland to strengthen themselves. What looked like a dull winter may now turn into a series of swaps.

Scarborough, 32, spent all his big league career with Washington until he was traded to Chicago last spring.

In 1948 and 1949 Scarborough whipped the Red Sox during the final week of the season in games that probably cost them the pennant. Last year he pitched 12 complete games, appeared in 35 and compiled a 4.93 earned run average.

Wight, once a Yankee farmhand, is one of the best lefthanders in the American League. He has a great motion to first base that traps off many runners. Only 28, he worked 30 games last year for a 3.58 earned run mark.

The Yanks sent Wight to Chicago in February of 1948.

Zeke Batted .325

Zarilla, a 30-year-old left handed hitting outfielder, fills a White Sox need. Zeke batted .325 in 130 games with the Red Sox last season. He hit 32 doubles, 10 triples and nine homers.

Boston gave up a regular starter in Dobson, a 34-year-old veteran who had a 15-10 record last season. A workhorse with an excellent curve ball, Dobson pitched 39 games last summer.

The only rookie in the deal is Littlefield, a 24-year-old lefthander who advanced from the Birmingham farm of the Southern Association when the Red Sox pitching staff faltered. He had a 2-2 record in 15 games at Boston.

Signs Kid Catcher

Lane, busiest man at the meetings, also signed a kid catcher for a reported $50,000 bonus, payable over a six-year span. The boy is J. W. Porter, 18, from the Oakland, Calif., Junior American Legion ranks.

It matters little that Porter would be ranked as a "bonus player" for the majors will follow the minors' lead by junking the bonus rule at their joint meeting Wednesday. Under the rule, movements of a player paid a bonus over $6,000 by a big league club were sharply restricted.

The National and American leaugues will consider the bonus rule, high school agreement and radio-television tomorrow in separate sessions. They meet again Tuesday and hold the joint meeting Wednesday when Commissioner A. B. Chandler probably will be voted a new seven-year contract at $75,000 per.

There were other trade conferences, still in the negotiating stage, but the major White Sox-Red Sox deal came as a surprise to most owners.

Hartman Is New Paw Paw Coach

Moorefield And GWU Man Succeeds Klein

PAW PAW, W. Va., Dec. 10—Robert Hartman is the new basketball coach at Paw Paw High School.

Hartman is a graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and Moorefield High School where he played football and basketball. He succeeds Fred Klein, formerly of Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Paw Paw lost its opening game to Fort Ashby on Friday night.

Members of the squad are:

Senior—John Duvall.

Roby, Largent, Rockwell and Duvall are lettermen.

The schedule:

Dec. 8—Fort Ashby, home. 12—Hedgesville, away. 15—Hancock, home. 19—LaSalle, away. 22—Berkeley Springs, away. 29—St. Joseph, Martinsburg, home.

Feb. 2—Hedgesville, home. 6—Open. 9—Wardensville, home. 13—Hancock, away. 20—Capon Bridge, home. 23—Fort Ashby, away. 27—LaSalle, home.

Some recent models of the Colt .45 use lightweight aluminum forgings for the receiver and main spring housing.

AHS-Westmont Game Changed From Friday To Saturday Night

Allegany High School will play Westmont High School of Johnstown, Pa., here Saturday night instead of Friday, Walter L. Bowers, Campers' mentor, announced last night.

The change in date was requested by Coach Carl Engh who is starting his 32nd year as coach of the Westmont team.

Allegany opens its season here tomorrow night, meeting Somerset (Pa.) High School's Golden Eagles on the Campobello floor at 8 o'clock. Dave Yule is coach of the Pennsylvania team which split even with the 1949-50 Campers.

Bill Hahn and William "Bee" Orndorff will officiate in the Somerset-AHS contest.

Forty Niners Whip Packers

Frank Albert Stars In 30-14 Conquest

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10 (AP) — Southpaw Quarterback Frank Albert led the San Francisco 49ers to a 30 to 14 victory over the Green Bay Packers here today in the final game of the season for the two National Football League rivals.

A crowd of 20,797 saw the Forty Niners close out a disappointing performance for the year, three wins in twelve contests, by turning the tables on the team that beat them in a snow at Green Bay two weeks ago.

The 49ers scored a touchdown and field goal in the first period to take the lead; pushed over two more touchdowns in the second, and tallied once in the final quarter.

Green Bay went into the lead at the start on a brilliant touchdown pass from Quarterback Tobin Rote to Halfback Billy Grimes, with the latter racing 96 yards. Score by quarters:

GREEN BAY	7	0	7	0—14
SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS	10	14	0	6—30

Green Bay scoring: Touchdowns—Grimes, Pritko. Conversions — Christman, Fritsch (placekicks).

San Francisco scoring: Touchdowns — Perry 2, Strazykalski, Gehrke. Conversions —Soltau 2 (placekicks), Nix (pass from Albert). Field goal—Soltau.

Potomac State Opposes Salem Quint Tonight

Potomac State School, defeated for the first time on Saturday night by West Virginia Tech, 82-60, will play host to Salem College in a West Virginia Conference Basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock in Keyser.

It will be the fourth game of the season for Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's aggregation which has won two and lost one.

Bruce High School will play Elk Garden High School tonight on the Westernport school court at 8 o'clock. Both schools lost their openers on Friday night, Bruce bowing to LaSalle here while Piedmont turned back the Elk Garden cagers.

Frostburg State Teachers College suffered its third straight setback of the season on Saturday afternoon, losing to Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., on the Mountain City court by the score of 91-71.

In another Saturday night contest, the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney, went down before Kendall Green School for the Deaf in Washington, D. C., 38-31.

Mathias High Wins Over Timberville

MATHIAS, W. Va., Dec. 10 — Mathias High School's basketball team opened its season Friday night with a 43 to 9 victory over Timberville High.

The losers were limited to three field goals.

Coach Wendell Mathias' quint held the lead at the close of each period—11-2, 18-7 and 32-7. DeLawder headed the scorers with 13 points to his credit. Lineups:

Harry Agganis Stars

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 10 (INS) — Harry Agganis, Boston University's All-American Marine, crackled today as the Camp Lejeune Leathernecks won the first annual Electronics Bowl football game by defeating Keesler Air Base, 32 to 7.

Agganis passed for four touchdowns and ran for another on behalf of the North Carolina team. George Allen accounted for the only score made by the home-team airmen.

CCNY Halted By Missouri Quint, 54-37

Bradley Tops DePaul, Siena Extends String

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — It took lightly-regarded Missouri to come up with the prescription for beating City College of New York's grand slam national basketball champions.

The secret is to hog-tie CCNY'S blistering fast break with a dash of that old-fashioned "possession" stuff and collar the champs' two big siege guns, Ed Roman and Ed Warner, with a collapsing defense.

Missouri coach Sparky Stalcup used this strategy at Madison Square Garden last night to wallop CCNY, 54-37, for the biggest upset of the young cage season.

It was the first setback in 13 games for Nat Holman's hotshots, who amazed the basketball world last winter by sweeping to both the National Invitation and NCAA titles.

Missouri conceded the rebounds on its own board to the enemy and dropped back to spike CCNY's fast break. The maneuver paid such handsome dividends that City's fire engine attack was slowed to a horse-and-wagon gait and its scoring stars, Warner and Roman, seldom got close enough for a sure shot at the bucket.

Bradley Scores Again

While CCNY was getting its lumps, last year's No. 2 tournament team, Bradley, continued along its all-victorious way.

The Braves from Peoria, Ill., won their fourth straight by downing De Paul, 72-63, at Chicago Stadium.

Kansas, another pre-season choice, won its third in a row, thumping St. Joseph of Philadelphia, 60-41, at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Kentucky won a 70-52 victory over Purdue.

At Buffalo, once-beaten Niagara downed Denver, 50-44, while Canisius whipped Southern Methodist, 64-55, to give the New York teams a double-barrelled intersectional triumph.

Iowa Is Defeated

In the middle west, Iowa, one of the prime favorites for the Big Ten championships, fell before sharpshooting Western Michigan, 58-49. The defending big ten champ, Ohio State, repelled Marquette, 76-55.

Well-liked Indiana swamped the taller Oregon State quintet, 72-45. Northwestern humbled Butler, 70-60. Kansas State dedicated its new field house with a 66-56 triumph over Utah State.

Brigham Young, one of the best teams to show in the east, wound up its Atlantic Coast swing by humbling Marshall, 70-57. The westerners lost to CCNY last week in the Garden by only two points.

Jack Wallace and Howard Deasey, with 47 points between them, led North Carolina to a 72-69 win over Davidson. Duke downed Virginia, 77-57, and Navy upended Franklin-Marshall, 72-54.

William and Mary won a Southern Conference game from Wake Forest, 71-49.

New York Yanks Rout Baltimore

Colts Suffer 11th Loss Of Year, 51-14

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — The New York Yanks closed out the most successful season ever for a Ted Collins-owned team today by routing the hapless Baltimore Colts, 51-14, in a National Football League game before a slim, chilled paid crowd of 5,003 at Yankee Stadium.

The win broke a four-game losing streak for the Yanks and enabled them to finish with a 7-5 record. Baltimore lost its fifth in a row and closed with a dismal 1-11 mark.

The Yanks got a two-touchdown jump in the first period, held a 21-14 lead at the half as Baltimore rallied for two second quarter touchdowns on Y. A. Tittle's passing and bucking, and then sewed up the game with another two-touchdown spurt in the third period.

The Tittle-to-Paul Salata passing combination set up the two Colt scores. Tittle then bucked three yards for the first and six inches for the other.

Five Yanks scored touchdowns with Zolly Toth and George Taliaferro getting two apiece. Art Weiner, Joe Golding and Sherman Howard tallied the others. A fourth quarter safety and Chet Adams' seven conversions accounted for the other Yanks points. Score by quarters:

Cumberland's Spas defeated the Wheeling Blues by the score of 69-58 last night in an All-American Professional Basketball League game on SS. Peter and Paul court before 422 paying patrons.

The Spas piled up a 30-point lead in the first half, leading 46-16 at intermission, and were never in danger.

Wheeling, incidentally, missed 25 consecutive shots in the second quarter and the visitors' lone field goal of the period was scored by Eddie Sterling just as the whistle concluded the half.

Ed "Whitey" Matthewson was Cumberland's top scorer with seven field goals and 16 points. Lou Bell contributed 13 points, Bob Pence, twelve, and Jimmie Clevenger 11.

Eddie Sterling with 17 points and Clyde "Hard Times" Green, a pair of former West Virginia University stars, topped the Wheeling scorers with 117 and 16 points. Green had seven field goals and Sterling five.

Lou Bell started the Spas' scoring with a field goal and the home team racked up seven points before the Blues crashed the scoring column on Green's fielder. Coach Bill Keegan's outfit outscored the visitors 10 to 3 in field goals in the opening period and held the long end of a 23-9 score as the teams moved into the second stanza.

Andy Tonkovich's aggregation gave a miserable exhibition of shooting in the second canto and dropped back 30 points at intermission, 46-16. At the close of the third quarter the West Virginians were still trailing 59-37. In the second half, however, the Spas were outscored 42 to 23 but the Blues found the first half handicap too much to overcome.

Cumberland connected for 28 fielders in 83 tries while Wheeling tossed in 20 of 87. At the free throw line, the Blues hooped 18 of 29 tosses while the winners meshed 13 of 22. Twenty-four personals were plastered on the Spas against 18 personals and two technicals against Wheeling.

The game scheduled to start at 9 o'clock, didn't get under way until 9:30. The delay was caused by the Wheeling team being unable to open the automobile trunk which contained their uniforms. The lock was finally forced open and the uniforms were distributed among the players about 9:15.

Ohio State Hunts New Grid Coach After Wes Fesler's Resignation

Pressure Too Much, Brown Is Mentioned

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—The hunt for a new Ohio State football coach to succeed Wes Fesler, who resigned suddenly last night, will begin after the Big Ten winter meetings end here today.

Dick Larkins, Ohio State athletic director, said at a news conference:

"Naturally, I can't comment on the subject of a successor to Fesler, until I return to our campus and confer with my authorities."

Wes Fesler

Larkins said there was some question when Fesler's resignation will become effective, his contract being scheduled to terminate March 15. It is believed, however, that Fesler intended to quit immediately to enter the real estate business with John Galbreath, millionaire sportsman and president of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team.

Fesler's resignation left two Big Ten football powers searching new coaches. Minnesota is shopping for a successor to Bernie Bierman, who resigned during last season.

The name of Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach and now mentor of the professional Cleveland Browns, has been popped into prominence as Fesler's successor.

Brown declined comment at Washington last night on the possibility of his returning to the job he held in the 1941-42-43 seasons. But unquestionably, Brown will have strong support in Ohio for Fesler's post.

Fesler's salary was upped to a reported $15,000 from $12,500 after he threatened to quit before Ohio State's appearance in the 1950 Rose Bowl game.

Fesler issued a 500-word statement explaining his reasons for quitting. Although his Buckeye team won a share of the 1949 Big Ten title and beat California, 17-14, in the Rose Bowl, and his 1950 eleven lost the title on the final day of the season, Fesler said his health was menaced by the pressure of the past two years.

Giants Beat Eagles, 9-7, Tie Browns

New Yorkers Take Bruising Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10 (AP) — The New York Giants downed the Philadelphia Eagles 9-7 in a wild, brusing National Football League game today to win a share of the American Conference championship.

The Giants will meet the Cleveland Browns for the divisional title at Cleveland next Sunday.

A Shibe Park crowd of 24,440 saw the crucial game on a dark, bitter cold day that produced snow and forced the second half to be played under lights.

All the scoring in this teeth jarring clash of grid giants was produced in the first half as Randy Clay booted a 15-yard field goal and Charley Conerly pitched a five yard touchdown pass for the Giants in the first period and Tommy Thompson threw a 36-yard touchdown strike for the Eagles in the second quarter.

After that it was a rough house game between two viciously charging lines and a case of the Giants standing off repeated Eagles threats to pull the game out of the fire. The victory completed New York's best regular season in years under Coach Steve Owen with 10 victories and two defeats.

As for the dethroned NFL champion Eagles, it was their sixth defeat of the season and fourth in a row. It must be said that the 1950 injury ridden Philadelphia squad lost five games by a total of 18 points. They ended the campaign tied for third place in the American Conference.

Joe Geri Stars As Steelers Win

Sets Team Records Against Cardinals

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10 (AP) — Flashy Joe Geri broke two all-time Pittsburgh team records while passing and running the Steelers to a 28-7 victory over the Chicago Cardinals today before 18,301 fans at Forbes Field.

Geri scored 64 points this season—10 of them today—to break the old record of 56 set by Joe Glamp in 1948.

The Steeler halfback also gained 78 yards rushing to bring his season total to 705. The record was 696 set by Bullet Bill Dudley in 1942.

Geri shared honors for the day with quarterback Joe Gasparella, who threw two touchdown passes.

The victory gave the Steelers a tie with Philadelphia for third place in the American Division of the National Football League. Score by quarters:

George Blanda's Field Goals Win For Bears, 6-3

Chicago To Meet Rams In Playoff

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (INS)—George Blanda booted two field goals to give the Chicago Bears a 6 to 3 victory today over the Detroit Lions and a tie for first place in the National Conference of the Pro Football League.

The Bears will play off their deadlock with the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles next week.

Play in the American Conference also ended in a tie between the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants. They will clash in Cleveland next Sunday. The winners of the two games play for the professional title the following week.

Blanda's first field goal, before a Chicago crowd of 34,793, was a 41-yard kick just four seconds after the start of the second quarter. The former Kentucky quarterback missed a 42-yard attempt shortly before halftime but brought the Bears victory with a 21-yard kick early in the last period.

Doak Walker gave Detroit its three points with a 17-yard field goal in the second quarter. He missed two other tries.

Walker's kick boosted his league scoring total to 128 points, 10 short of the record set by Green Bay's Don Hutson but enough to win the individual scoring championship.

The freezing temperatures and the snow-fringed field kept the offense of both clubs in check throughout most of the contest.

Score by periods:

CHICAGO BEARS	0	3	0	3—6

Lions scoring: Field Goal—Walker.

Graham Leads Cleveland To 45-21 Victory

Otto Pitches Four TD Passes; Ohioans Tied With Giants

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Otto Graham, the Cleveland Browns' fine passer, threw for four touchdowns today to lead his team to a 45-21 victory over the Washington Redskins and a tie for the American Conference title in the National Football League.

By winning, Cleveland ended the regular season with 10 victories and two losses, the same record as the New York Giants. They'll play it off in Cleveland next Sunday.

Graham completed 23 out of 32 tries for 321 yards, including one hot streak in the third period when he hit the bull's eye nine straight times.

In addition to Graham's four touchdown tosses, the Browns picked up six points after Warren Lahr intercepted a pass while flat on his back. With great presence of mind, Lahr got up and hurried the 15 yards that meant a touchdown.

The Browns' last touchdown came on a fancy 55-yard punt return by Don Phelps. In addition, Lou Groza, otherwise known as "The Toe," kicked a field goal from the 12.

As for the last-place Redskins, their prettiest touchdown play was turned in by Harry Gilmer. Passing off balance and on a dead run as he was about to be smothered, Gilmer threw perfectly to Hugh Taylor who caught the ball on his finger tips. The play covered 51 yards.

Sam Baugh threw to Charley Justice for another touchdown from six yards out and Bill Dudley hustled around left end for 23 yards for the third Redskin score.

Score by quarters:

CLEVELAND	0	14	14	17—45
WASHINGTON	7	7	7	0—21

Cleveland scoring: Touchdowns—Jones 2, Baumgardner, Lahr, Groza, Phelps. Conversions—Groza 6. Field goal—Groza.

Cooper, Harmon Win Golf Meet

Beat Douglas, Turnesa In Four-Ball Tourney

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP) — Pete Cooper and Claude Harmon today won the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf Tournament, defeating Dave Douglas and Jim Turnesa in the 36-hole finals, 1-up.

Cooper, of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Harmon, of Palm Beach, Fla., went into the lead on the 15th hole and were never headed.

They went 2-up on the first hole of the afternoon round on Harmon's five-foot birdie putt but Douglas, of Newark, Del., and Turnesa, of Briarcliff, N. Y., trimmed the margin to 1-up on the fifth with a par four.

The Cooper-Harmon duo maintained the advantage to the end. Harmon dropped a 15-footer on the final hole for a birdie three and conceded Douglas a birdie to halve the hole.

The winners received $1,250 each and the runners-up got $750 each. The victory brought Cooper's winnings for the year to $7,880.

Cooper and Harmon carded 36 birdies, one eagle and went one over par on three of the 118 holes they played.

They had a best ball score of 65 on the morning round to Douglas and Turnesa's 66. Each had 67's on the afternoon round. Par for the 6,347-yard Miami Country Club course is 36-36—72.

Cooper and Harmon defeated Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., and Toney Penna, Cincinnati, Ohio, 2 and 1 yesterday to reach the finals. Douglas and Turnesa upset the favored team of Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle, Wash., 1-up on the 18th green to get into today's match.

Red Sox Get Scarborough, Wight; Browns Trim Redskins

Boston Trades Littlefield, Zarilla, Dobson To Chicago

Deal Is Announced After Chisox Turn Down Yankee Offer

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox bolstered their weak pitching staff today by acquiring southpaw Bill Wight and righthander Rae Scarborough from the Chicago White Sox in a major five-man deal involving some $500,000 worth of talent.

Outfielder Al (Zeke) Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield went to Chicago in the sensational swap that broke the trading jam at the war-minded winter meetings.

The big deal was announced shortly after Frank Lane, Chicago general manager, disclosed he had turned down a New York Yankee offer of three men for Scarborough.

Get Two Good Pitchers

Acquisition of Wight (10-16) and Scarborough (13-18) coming after the recent signing of Lou Boudreau, moved the Red Sox out front and center as American League favorites.

This move by Boston probably will force the Yankees, Detroit and Cleveland to strengthen themselves. What looked like a dull winter may now turn into a series of swaps.

Scarborough, 32, spent all his big league career with Washington until he was traded to Chicago last spring.

In 1948 and 1949 Scarborough whipped the Red Sox during the final week of the season in games that probably cost them the pennant. Last year he pitched 12 complete games, appeared in 35 and compiled a 4.93 earned run average.

Wight, once a Yankee farmhand, is one of the best lefthanders in the American League. He has a great motion to first base that traps off many runners. Only 28, he worked 30 games last year for a 3.58 earned run mark.

The Yanks sent Wight to Chicago in February of 1948.

Zeke Batted .325

Zarilla, a 30-year-old left handed hitting outfielder, fills a White Sox need. Zeke batted .325 in 130 games with the Red Sox last season. He hit 32 doubles, 10 triples and nine homers.

Boston gave up a regular starter in Dobson, a 34-year-old veteran who had a 15-10 record last season. A workhorse with an excellent curve ball, Dobson pitched 39 games last summer.

The only rookie in the deal is Littlefield, a 24-year-old lefthander who advanced from the Birmingham farm of the Southern Association when the Red Sox pitching staff faltered. He had a 2-2 record in 15 games at Boston.

Signs Kid Catcher

Lane, busiest man at the meetings, also signed a kid catcher for a reported $50,000 bonus, payable over a six-year span. The boy is J. W. Porter, 18, from the Oakland, Calif., Junior American Legion ranks.

It matters little that Porter would be ranked as a "bonus player" for the majors will follow the minors' lead by junking the bonus rule at their joint meeting Wednesday. Under the rule, movements of a player paid a bonus over $6,000 by a big league club were sharply restricted.

The National and American leaugues will consider the bonus rule, high school agreement and radio-television tomorrow in separate sessions. They meet again Tuesday and hold the joint meeting Wednesday when Commissioner A. B. Chandler probably will be voted a new seven-year contract at $75,000 per.

There were other trade conferences, still in the negotiating stage, but the major White Sox-Red Sox deal came as a surprise to most owners.

Forty Niners Whip Packers

Frank Albert Stars In 30-14 Conquest

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10 (AP) — Southpaw Quarterback Frank Albert led the San Francisco 49ers to a 30 to 14 victory over the Green Bay Packers here today in the final game of the season for the two National Football League rivals.

A crowd of 20,797 saw the Forty Niners close out a disappointing performance for the year, three wins in twelve contests, by turning the tables on the team that beat them in a snow at Green Bay two weeks ago.

The 49ers scored a touchdown and field goal in the first period to take the lead; pushed over two more touchdowns in the second, and tallied once in the final quarter.

Green Bay went into the lead at the start on a brilliant touchdown pass from Quarterback Tobin Rote to Halfback Billy Grimes, with the latter racing 96 yards. Score by quarters:

GREEN BAY	7	0	7	0	—14
SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS	10	14	0	6	—30

Green Bay scoring: Touchdowns—Grimes, Pritko. Conversions — Christman, Fritsch (placekicks).

San Francisco scoring: Touchdowns — Perry 2, Strazykalski, Gehrke. Conversions —Soltau 2 (placekicks), Nix (pass from Albert). Field goal—Soltau.

Potomac State Opposes Salem Quint Tonight

Potomac State School, defeated for the first time on Saturday night by West Virginia Tech, 82-60, will play host to Salem College in a West Virginia Conference Basketball game tonight at 8 o'clock in Keyser.

It will be the fourth game of the season for Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's aggregation which has won two and lost one.

Bruce High School will play Elk Garden High School tonight on the Westernport school court at 8 o'clock. Both schools lost their openers on Friday night, Bruce bowing to LaSalle here while Piedmont turned back the Elk Garden cagers.

Frostburg State Teachers College suffered its third straight setback of the season on Saturday afternoon, losing to Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., on the Mountain City court by the score of 91-71.

In another Saturday night contest, the West Virginia School for the Deaf, Romney, went down before Kendall Green School for the Deaf in Washington, D. C., 38-31.

Mathias High Wins Over Timberville

MATHIAS, W. Va., Dec. 10 — Mathias High School's basketball team opened its season Friday night with a 43 to 9 victory over Timberville High.

The losers were limited to three field goals.

Coach Wendell Mathias' quint held the lead at the close of each period—11-2, 18-7 and 32-7. DeLawder headed the scorers with 13 points to his credit. Lineups:

Harry Agganis Stars

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 10 (INS) — Harry Agganis, Boston University's All-American Marine, crackled today as the Camp Lejeune Leathernecks won the first annual Electronics Bowl football game by defeating Keesler Air Base, 32 to 7.

Agganis passed for four touchdowns and ran for another on behalf of the North Carolina team. George Allen accounted for the only score made by the home-team airmen.

CCNY Halted By Missouri Quint, 54-37

Bradley Tops DePaul, Siena Extends String

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — It took lightly-regarded Missouri to come up with the prescription for beating City College of New York's grand slam national basketball champions.

The secret is to hog-tie CCNY'S blistering fast break with a dash of that old-fashioned "possession" stuff and collar the champs' two big siege guns, Ed Roman and Ed Warner, with a collapsing defense.

Missouri coach Sparky Stalcup used this strategy at Madison Square Garden last night to wallop CCNY, 54-37, for the biggest upset of the young cage season.

It was the first setback in 13 games for Nat Holman's hotshots, who amazed the basketball world last winter by sweeping to both the National Invitation and NCAA titles.

Missouri conceded the rebounds on its own board to the enemy and dropped back to spike CCNY's fast break. The maneuver paid such handsome dividends that City's fire engine attack was slowed to a horse-and-wagon gait and its scoring stars, Warner and Roman, seldom got close enough for a sure shot at the bucket.

Bradley Scores Again

While CCNY was getting its lumps, last year's No. 2 tournament team, Bradley, continued along its all-victorious way.

The Braves from Peoria, Ill., won their fourth straight by downing De Paul, 72-63, at Chicago Stadium.

Kansas, another pre-season choice, won its third in a row, thumping St. Joseph of Philadelphia, 60-41, at Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

Kentucky won a 70-52 victory over Purdue.

Little Siena College became one of the surprise teams of the east by upsetting Manhattan, 56-51, on the Garden bill at New York. It was Siena's 12th in a row, carrying over from last year.

At Buffalo, once-beaten Niagara downed Denver, 50-44, while Canisius whipped Southern Methodist, 64-55, to give the New York teams a double-barrelled intersectional triumph.

Iowa Is Defeated

In the middle west, Iowa, one of the prime favorites for the Big Ten championships, fell before sharp-shooting Western Michigan, 58-49. The defending big ten champ, Ohio State, repelled Marquette, 76-55.

Well-liked Indiana swamped the taller Oregon State quintet, 72-45. Northwestern humbled Butler, 70-60. Kansas State dedicated its new field house with a 66-56 triumph over Utah State.

Brigham Young, one of the best teams to show in the east, wound up its Atlantic Coast swing by humbling Marshall, 70-57. The westerners lost to CCNY last week in the Garden by only two points.

Jack Wallace and Howard Deasey, with 47 points between them, led North Carolina to a 72-69 win over Davidson. Duke downed Virginia, 77-57, and Navy upended Franklin-Marshall, 72-54.

William and Mary won a Southern Conference game from Wake Forest, 71-49.

Colts Suffer 11th Loss Of Year, 51-14

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP) — The New York Yanks closed out the most successful season ever for a Ted Collins-owned team today by routing the hapless Baltimore Colts, 51-14, in a National Football League game before a slim, chilled paid crowd of 5,003 at Yankee Stadium.

The win broke a four-game losing streak for the Yanks and enabled them to finish with a 7-5 record. Baltimore lost its fifth in a row and closed with a dismal 1-11 mark.

The Yanks got a two-touchdown jump in the first period, held a 21-14 lead at the half as Baltimore rallied for two second quarter touchdowns on Y. A. Tittle's passing and bucking, and then sewed up the game with another two-touchdown spurt in the third period.

The Tittle-to-Paul Salata passing combination set up the two Colt scores. Tittle then bucked three yards for the first and six inches for the other.

Five Yanks scored touchdowns with Zolly Toth and George Taliaferro getting two apiece. Art Weiner, Joe Golding and Sherman Howard tallied the others. A fourth quarter safety and Chet Adams' seven conversions accounted for the other Yanks points. Score by quarters:

BALTIMORE	0	14	0	0	—14
YANKS	14	7	14	16	—51

Baltimore scoring: Touchdowns—Tittle 2. Conversions—Kissell 2.

New York Yanks scoring: Touchdowns—Howard, Weiner, Toth 2, Golding, Taliaferro 2. Conversions—Adams 7. Safety—Champion tackled Burk in end zone.

Cumberland's Spas defeated the Wheeling Blues by the score of 69-58 last night in an All-American Professional Basketball League game on SS. Peter and Paul court before 422 paying patrons.

The Spas piled up a 30-point lead in the first half, leading 46-16 at intermission, and were never in danger.

Wheeling, incidentally, missed 25 consecutive shots in the second quarter and the visitors' lone field goal of the period was scored by Eddie Sterling just as the whistle concluded the half.

Ed "Whitey" Matthewson was Cumberland's top scorer with seven field goals and 16 points. Lou Bell contributed 13 points, Bob Pence, twelve, and Jimmie Clevenger 11.

Eddie Sterling with 17 points and Clyde "Hard Times" Green, a pair of former West Virginia University stars, topped the Wheeling scorers with 117 and 16 points. Green had seven field goals and Sterling five.

Lou Bell started the Spas' scoring with a field goal and the home team racked up seven points before the Blues crashed the scoring column on Green's fielder. Coach Bill Keegan's outfit outscored the visitors 10 to 3 in field goals in the opening period and held the long end of a 23-9 score as the teams moved into the second stanza.

Andy Tonkovich's aggregation gave a miserable exhibition of shooting in the second canto and dropped back 30 points at intermission, 46-16. At the close of the third quarter the West Virginians were still trailing 59-37. In the second half, however, the Spas were outscored 42 to 23 but the Blues found the first half handicap too much to overcome.

Cumberland connected for 28 fielders in 83 tries while Wheeling tossed in 20 of 87. At the free throw line, the Blues hooped 18 of 29 tosses while the winners meshed 13 of 22. Twenty-four personals were plastered on the Spas against 18 personals and two technicals against Wheeling.

The game scheduled to start at 9 o'clock, didn't get under way until 9:30. The delay was caused by the Wheeling team being unable to open the automobile trunk which contained their uniforms. The lock was finally forced open and the uniforms were distributed among the players about 9:15.

Ohio State Hunts New Grid Coach After Wes Fesler's Resignation

Pressure Too Much, Brown Is Mentioned

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—The hunt for a new Ohio State football coach to succeed Wes Fesler, who resigned suddenly last night, will begin after the Big Ten winter meetings end here today.

Dick Larkins, Ohio State athletic director, said at a news conference:

"Naturally, I can't comment on the subject of a successor to Fesler, until I return to our campus and confer with my authorities."

Wes Fesler

Larkins said there was some question when Fesler's resignation will become effective, his contract being scheduled to terminate March 15. It is believed, however, that Fesler intended to quit immediately to enter the real estate business with John Galbreath, millionaire sportsman and president of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team.

Fesler's resignation left two Big Ten football powers searching new coaches. Minnesota is shopping for a successor to Bernie Bierman, who resigned during last season.

The name of Paul Brown, former Ohio State coach and now mentor of the professional Cleveland Browns, has been popped into prominence as Fesler's successor.

Brown declined comment at Washington last night on the possibility of his returning to the job he held in the 1941-42-43 seasons. But unquestionably, Brown will have strong support in Ohio for Fesler's post.

Fesler's salary was upped to a reported $15,000 from $12,500 after he threatened to quit before Ohio State's appearance in the 1950 Rose Bowl game.

Fesler issued a 500-word statement explaining his reasons for quitting. Although his Buckeye team won a share of the 1949 Big Ten title and beat California, 17-14, in the Rose Bowl, and his 1950 eleven lost the title on the final day of the season, Fesler said his health was menaced by the pressure of the past two years.

Giants Beat Eagles, 9-7, Tie Browns

New Yorkers Take Bruising Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10 (AP) — The New York Giants downed the Philadelphia Eagles 9-7 in a wild, brusing National Football League game today to win a share of the American Conference championship.

The Giants will meet the Cleveland Browns for the divisional title at Cleveland next Sunday.

A Shibe Park crowd of 24,440 saw the crucial game on a dark, bitter cold day that produced snow and forced the second half to be played under lights.

All the scoring in this teeth jarring clash of grid giants was produced in the first half as Randy Clay booted a 15-yard field goal and Charley Conerly pitched a five yard touchdown pass for the Giants in the first period and Tommy Thompson threw a 36-yard touchdown strike for the Eagles in the second quarter.

After that it was a rough house game between two viciously charging lines and a case of the Giants standing off repeated Eagles threats to pull the game out of the fire. The victory completed New York's best regular season in years under Coach Steve Owen with 10 victories and two defeats.

As for the dethroned NFL champion Eagles, it was their sixth defeat of the season and fourth in a row. It must be said that the 1950 injury ridden Philadelphia squad lost five games by a total of 18 points. They ended the campaign tied for third place in the American Conference. Score by periods:

Joe Geri Stars As Steelers Win

Sets Team Records Against Cardinals

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10 (AP) — Flashy Joe Geri broke two all-time Pittsburgh team records while passing and running the Steelers to a 28-7 victory over the Chicago Cardinals today before 18,301 fans at Forbes Field.

Geri scored 64 points this season—10 of them today—to break the old record of 56 set by Joe Glamp in 1948.

The Steeler halfback also gained 78 yards rushing to bring his season total to 705. The record was 696 set by Bullet Bill Dudley in 1942.

Geri shared honors for the day with quarterback Joe Gasparella, who threw two touchdown passes.

The victory gave the Steelers a tie with Philadelphia for third place in the American Division of the National Football League. Score by quarters:

George Blanda's Field Goals Win For Bears, 6-3

Chicago To Meet Rams In Playoff

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (INS)—George Blanda booted two field goals to give the Chicago Bears a 6 to 3 victory today over the Detroit Lions and a tie for first place in the National Conference of the Pro Football League.

The Bears will play off their deadlock with the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles next week.

Play in the American Conference also ended in a tie between the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants. They will clash in Cleveland next Sunday. The winners of the two games play for the professional title the following week.

Blanda's first field goal, before a Chicago crowd of 34,793, was a 41-yard kick just four seconds after the start of the second quarter. The former Kentucky quarterback missed a 42-yard attempt shortly before halftime but brought the Bears victory with a 21-yard kick early in the last period.

Doak Walker gave Detroit its three points with a 17-yard field goal in the second quarter. He missed two other tries.

Walker's kick boosted his league scoring total to 128 points, 10 short of the record set by Green Bay's Don Hutson but enough to win the individual scoring championship.

The freezing temperatures and the snow-fringed field kept the offense of both clubs in check throughout most of the contest.

Score by periods:

Graham Leads Cleveland To 45-21 Victory

Otto Pitches Four TD Passes; Ohioans Tied With Giants

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP)—Otto Graham, the Cleveland Browns' fine passer, threw for four touchdowns today to lead his team to a 45-21 victory over the Washington Redskins and a tie for the American Conference title in the National Football League.

By winning, Cleveland ended the regular season with 10 victories and two losses, the same record as the New York Giants. They'll play it off in Cleveland next Sunday.

Graham completed 23 out of 32 tries for 321 yards, including one hot streak in the third period when he hit the bull's eye nine straight times.

In addition to Graham's four touchdown tosses, the Browns picked up six points after Warren Lahr intercepted a pass while flat on his back. With great presence of mind, Lahr got up and hurried the 15 yards that meant a touchdown.

The Browns' last touchdown came on a fancy 55-yard punt return by Don Phelps. In addition, Lou Groza, otherwise known as "The Toe," kicked a field goal from the 12.

As for the last-place Redskins, their prettiest touchdown play was turned in by Harry Gilmer. Passing off balance and on a dead run as he was about to be smothered, Gilmer threw perfectly to Hugh Taylor who caught the ball on his finger tips. The play covered 51 yards.

Sam Baugh threw to Charley Justice for another touchdown from six yards out and Bill Dudley hustled around left end for 23 yards for the third Redskin score. Score by quarters:

CLEVELAND	0	14	14	17	—45
WASHINGTON	7	7	7	0	—21

Cooper, Harmon Win Golf Meet

Beat Douglas, Turnesa In Four-Ball Tourney

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (AP) — Pete Cooper and Claude Harmon today won the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf Tournament, defeating Dave Douglas and Jim Turnesa in the 36-hole finals, 1-up.

Cooper, of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Harmon, of Palm Beach, Fla., went into the lead on the 15th hole and were never headed.

They went 2-up on the first hole of the afternoon round on Harmon's five-foot birdie putt but Douglas, of Newark, Del., and Turnesa, of Briarcliff, N. Y., trimmed the margin to 1-up on the fifth with a par four.

The Cooper-Harmon duo maintained the advantage to the end. Harmon dropped a 15-footer on the final hole for a birdie three and conceded Douglas a birdie to halve the hole.

The winners received $1,250 each and the runners-up got $750 each. The victory brought Cooper's winnings for the year to $7,880.

Cooper and Harmon carded 36 birdies, one eagle and went one over par on three of the 118 holes they played.

They had a best ball score of 65 on the morning round to Douglas and Turnesa's 66. Each had 67's on the afternoon round. Par for the 6,347-yard Miami Country Club course is 36-36—72.

Cooper and Harmon defeated Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., and Toney Penna, Cincinnati, Ohio, 2 and 1 yesterday to reach the finals. Douglas and Turnesa upset the favored team of Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle, Wash., 1-up on the 18th green to get into today's match.

Hammond PTA To See Pageant

WESTERNPORT — A Christmas pageant entitled "The Birth of the King," will be presented by fifth and grade children following the business meeting of the Hammond Street Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening, December 19.

The three scenes of the pageant will include "While Shepherds Watched," "The Angels' Message," and "The Manger Scene." Most of the favorite carols will be sung by the group.

At the close of the pageant, a group of the third and fourth grade children will sing carols around a living Christmas tree.

The building will be open for visitation preceding the business session.

Keyser Women To Meet Tomorrow

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Women's Club will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. E. E. Church, Fort Avenue. An executive meeting will precede the program at 7:30 p.m.

The Women's Club Chorus will sing a number of selections, Miss Louise Shores, director of music at Keyser High School, will play several numbers on the piano, and Miss Beverley Bowne, of the music department of Potomac State School, will sing several solos. Jack Stouffer, speech student at Potomac State, will read a story on the birth of Christ. Mrs. Ernest See is president of the club. The silver offering will be used for the Youth Conservation program sponsored by the club.

A SUPER CHRISTMAS PRESENT comes to little Jimmy in the miracle of the first sound he has ever been able to hear. Wonderment and complete ecstasy envelopes the young pre-school nursery student as he listens to the notes of a piano. The Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center at Western Reserve University fitted Jimmy with the hearing aid which opens up for him the new world of sound. (International Soundphoto)

Club To Spend $50 For Needy

WESTERNPORT — A decision to spend $50 to purchase food for needy families was made by the Social Welfare Club at its meeting last Thursday in the conference room of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The club also has provided three needy families with second-hand clothing and shoes.

Each member brought a 50-cent toy to be distributed to underprivileged children.

The room was decorated with a Christmas tree and holiday decorations and the toys were placed under the tree. The distribution of the toys was discussed.

Mrs. Doris Mitchell led the group in the singing of Christmas carols.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gloria Dawson, chairman of the program and entertainment committee, and her committee.

Keyser Bands Given Praise For Concerts

Beginners Surprise Their Many Boosters

KEYSER, W. Va.—Nunzie Barbera and his Keyser High School band and the beginners band of the Keyser schools, were given an ovation Friday evening at the twin concert given in the high school auditorium.

The high school band had been heard publicly in the past several months. However, the beginners band had not been given a public hearing before Friday night and there was much praise for the director upon his accomplishment in his short residence here.

The beginners opened the program, playing seven numbers. They were: "Yankee March," (Ed Chenette); "Abide With Me," (W. H. Monk); "Long, Long Ago," (Thos. H. Bayley) and "In the Gloaming," (A. F. Harrison); "All Through the Night," (H. Boulton) and "Night and Day," (Ludwig V. Beethoven), and closed the program with "Jingle Bells March," (J. Pierpont), with an encore of "Silver Skates."

The auditorium was filled with friends of the band members, including faculty, parents, relatives and boosters.

As a concert musical organization, the senior band proved itself capable.

First half of the senior program included; March, "Uncle Sam," "Amethyst Overture," and "Festival March," all arranged by F. L. Buchtel; "School Days March" by Cobb Edwards, and "School Days March" and "Farmer in the Dell," both arranged by F. L. Buchtel.

After intermission, four Christmas numbers were played. They were "Jingle Bells" (Hal Leonard); "I'll Be Home for Christmas," and "Christmastide Overture," (E. De Lamater), closing and "White Christmas," (Irving Berlin). An encore, "Walking in the Winter Wonderland," closed the program.

For those interested in the beginners, who will eventually move up to the senior band, the concert was a real surprise, as some of those who participated had never played an instrument up to last spring, and some took their first lessons during the past summer.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary Ellen Fatkin, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. David Middleton, Grahamtown, and Mrs. Hugh Kirkwood, Borden Shaft.

He also leaves two sons, James Fatkin, Philadelphia, and John Fatkin, Carlos; three sisters, Mrs. Samuel Filer, Mrs. David Thomas and Mrs. Daniel Middleton, all of Carlos; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The body will remain at the residence until today at 2:30 p. m. when a service will be conducted in Carlos Methodist Church. Rev. Wilbur Grose and Rev. Louis Emerick will officiate. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

Club To Spend $50 For Needy

WESTERNPORT — A decision to spend $50 to purchase food for needy families was made by the Social Welfare Club at its meeting last Thursday in the conference room of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The club also has provided three needy families with second-hand clothing and shoes.

Each member brought a 50-cent toy to be distributed to underprivileged children.

The room was decorated with a Christmas tree and holiday decorations and the toys were placed under the tree. The distribution of the toys was discussed.

Mrs. Doris Mitchell led the group in the singing of Christmas carols.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gloria Dawson, chairman of the program and entertainment committee, and her committee.

Keyser Bands Given Praise For Concerts

Beginners Surprise Their Many Boosters

KEYSER, W. Va.—Nunzie Barbera and his Keyser High School band and the beginners band of the Keyser schools, were given an ovation Friday evening at the twin concert given in the high school auditorium.

The high school band had been heard publicly in the past several months. However, the beginners band had not been given a public hearing before Friday night and there was much praise for the director upon his accomplishment in his short residence here.

The beginners opened the program, playing seven numbers. They were: "Yankee March," (Ed Chenette); "Abide With Me," (W. H. Monk); "Long, Long Ago," (Thos. H. Bayley) and "In the Gloaming," (A. F. Harrison); "All Through the Night," (H. Boulton) and "Night and Day," (Ludwig V. Beethoven), and closed the program with "Jingle Bells March," (J. Pierpont), with an encore of "Silver Skates."

The auditorium was filled with friends of the band members, including faculty, parents, relatives and boosters.

As a concert musical organization, the senior band proved itself capable.

First half of the senior program included; March, "Uncle Sam," "Amethyst Overture," and "Festival March," all arranged by F. L. Buchtel; "School Days March" by Cobb Edwards, and "School Days March" and "Farmer in the Dell," both arranged by F. L. Buchtel.

After intermission, four Christmas numbers were played. They were "Jingle Bells" (Hal Leonard); "I'll Be Home for Christmas," and "Christmastide Overture," (E. De Lamater), closing and "White Christmas," (Irving Berlin). An encore, "Walking in the Winter Wonderland," closed the program.

For those interested in the beginners, who will eventually move up to the senior band, the concert was a real surprise, as some of those who participated had never played an instrument up to last spring, and some took their first lessons during the past summer.

Keyser WSCS Holds Meeting

KEYSER, W. Va. — The May Division of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Grace Methodist Church held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ross W. Prysock. The meeting opened with the group singing "Silent Night, Holy Night" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Trix Bright. Mrs. Paul Hardy read a poem, "There Will Always Be A Christmas" followed by a reading by Mrs. Prysock. The devotions closed with a prayer by Mrs. Lloyd Myers. At the business session the new study book, "We Seek Him Together" was announced.

The group held a jingle party with Mrs. S. H. Jordan acting as Santa Claus. Mrs. David W. Fyfe, mother of the hostess, from Wheeling, was a special guest. Others attending were Mesdames Trix Bright, Paul Hardy, W. E. Glover, Lloyd Myers, wife of the pastor; Effye B. Welch, S. H. Jordan; Miss Carrie Wagoner, Doris Ann Prysock and Daryl Lee Prysock.

Minority Dissenting Vote

FOOTBALL, apart from the bowl games, has passed into what sportswriters insist on calling history. At least, for another year. That will leave plenty of time for reflection, if football is important enough to warrant so elevated a term.

John Crosby

Much of this reflection, I'm afraid, will involve television; much of it will be unfavorable to TV. Some 4,268 reflective sportswriters will blame low attendance on the presence of television, high attendance to TV's absence. Before they get into print, I'd like to cast one minority dissenting vote. If football is losing its audience, it isn't because television is bringing it into the home; it's because the game itself is becoming an increasingly vexing spectacle.

I had two tickets to the Army-Columbia game which I tried to give away and couldn't, though I spent half the morning on the telephone trying hard. Granted that the game was a fore-ordained rout, the best team in the country (at least, rated that high at that time) would have drawn a far larger crowd a few years ago.

Blanchard and Davis, who got football out of their systems before the two platoon nonsense was invented, were not only fine offensive players but fine defensive backs. They were dramatic individuals, not pawns in what has become a staggeringly complicated chess game. The only dramatic individual anywhere around a football field is the coach; the rest are puppets. And I don't think puppets have enough vitality to fill football stadia.

Football is too fast for anyone but an expert to follow any more, it's a sectional chess match and, if it follows its present course, it'll arouse about as much interest as any other chess match—with or without the assistance of the TV cameras.

A few other complaints. One of radio's most irritating mannerisms has been bequeathed to television. I refer to the sudden violent increase in volume when the commercial comes on. Man has his set turned to a level not inimical to his eardrums. Then comes the singing commercial pitched at a volume not much lower than a subway whistle or a woman's scream. (You must have heard one of those noises.) Man has to leap across the room and turn it down. When Martin Kane comes back, he has to leap up again, turn it back up. Three commercials mean six separate leaps, which is too much leaping for so idolent a character as myself.

It also means a gross violation of FCC regulations which holds that radio and television stations should maintain a reasonable uniformity of volume. Let's, for heaven's sake, cut it out, fellows. You can sell me the Benrus just as easily—in fact, easier—at three decibels as at ten. My sales resistance mounts with the volume. One thing has so far eluded even the brainiest of TV engineers. There doesn't seem to be any way to turn up the brightness of the picture when the Dreft pitch comes on. If it were possible, the sponsor would beam a searchlight right into your eyes while clawing away at your ears. We'd be blinded and deafened at the same time.

• — • — •

Another thing that has always irritated the home audience, first in radio, now in television, is what I like to call audience-stealing. A few years back "Information, Please" and Henry Morgan, two programs which appealed substantially to the same audience, were on at the same hour on different networks. As a result they divided the available audience between them, doing grave harm to both shows as well as thwarting a great many listeners who would like to have caught both.

In television, NBC has pitted the Robert Montgomery show against CBS's "Studio One." Both are fine dramatic shows, appealing to the same type of people. This is a particularly virulent form of competition in television because the coaxial cable can only carry one of these shows; many cities are not even given a choice. NBC has also put the last half-hour of its imposing "Big Show" up against Jack Benny on CBS and its Wednesday night frolic of comedians (Danny Thomas, Jimmy Durante, etc.) up against Arthur Godfrey.

The idea seems to be to kill off the opposition. The audience is deprived of a choice in the matter. Why two comedians on opposing networks? Why not a comedian on one, a dramatic show on another? People who like comedians can have comedians; listeners who prefer drama can have that.

The idea seems to be to kill off the opposition. The audience is deprived of a choice in the matter. Why two comedians on opposing networks? Why not a comedian on one, a dramatic show on another? People who like comedians can have comedians; listeners who prefer drama can have that.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Johnson had managed to improve his golf game to a point where he was shooting consistently in the eighties, and one Sunday he told his mother-in-law, "To show you I do at least one thing well, I want you to sit out here on the lawn and watch me drive off from the first tee."

Then he hurried over to the other members of his foursome and said, "I'm particularly anxious to start off with a good smack today because that mother-in-law of mine is sitting over there and . . ." "Stop dreaming," interrupted his partner. "It's over 300 yards. You can't hit her from here."

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Minority Dissenting Vote

FOOTBALL, apart from the bowl games, has passed into what sportswriters insist on calling history. At least, for another year. That will leave plenty of time for reflection, if football is important enough to warrant so elevated a term.

John Crosby

Much of this reflection, I'm afraid, will involve television; much of it will be unfavorable to TV. Some 4,268 reflective sportswriters will blame low attendance on the presence of television, high attendance to TV's absence. Before they get into print, I'd like to cast one minority dissenting vote. If football is losing its audience, it isn't because television is bringing it into the home; it's because the game itself is becoming an increasingly vexing spectacle.

I had two tickets to the Army-Columbia game which I tried to give away and couldn't, though I spent half the morning on the telephone trying hard. Granted that the game was a fore-ordained rout, the best team in the country (at least, rated that high at that time) would have drawn a far larger crowd a few years ago.

Blanchard and Davis, who got football out of their systems before the two platoon nonsense was invented, were not only fine offensive players but fine defensive backs. They were dramatic individuals, not pawns in what has become a staggeringly complicated chess game. The only dramatic individual anywhere around a football field is the coach; the rest are puppets. And I don't think puppets have enough vitality to fill football stadia.

Football is too fast for anyone but an expert to follow any more, it's a sectional chess match and, if it follows its present course, it'll arouse about as much interest as any other chess match—with or without the assistance of the TV cameras.

A few other complaints. One of radio's most irritating mannerisms has been bequeathed to television. I refer to the sudden violent increase in volume when the commercial comes on. Man has his set turned to a level not inimical to his eardrums. Then comes the singing commercial pitched at a volume not much lower than a subway whistle or a woman's scream. (You must have heard one of those noises.) Man has to leap across the room and turn it down. When Martin Kane comes back, he has to leap up again, turn it back up. Three commercials mean six separate leaps, which is too much leaping for so idolent a character as myself.

It also means a gross violation of FCC regulations which holds that radio and television stations should maintain a reasonable uniformity of volume. Let's, for heaven's sake, cut it out, fellows. You can sell me the Benrus just as easily—in fact, easier—at three decibels as at ten. My sales resistance mounts with the volume. One thing has so far eluded even the brainiest of TV engineers. There doesn't seem to be any way to turn up the brightness of the picture when the Dreft pitch comes on. If it were possible, the sponsor would beam a searchlight right into your eyes while clawing away at your ears. We'd be blinded and deafened at the same time.

Another thing that has always irritated the home audience, first in radio, now in television, is what I like to call audience-stealing. A few years back "Information, Please" and Henry Morgan, two programs which appealed substantially to the same audience, were on at the same hour on different networks. As a result they divided the available audience between them, doing grave harm to both shows as well as thwarting a great many listeners who would like to have caught both.

In television, NBC has pitted the Robert Montgomery show against CBS's "Studio One." Both are fine dramatic shows, appealing to the same type of people. This is a particularly virulent form of competition in television because the coaxial cable can only carry one of these shows; many cities are not even given a choice. NBC has also put the last half-hour of its imposing "Big Show" up against Jack Benny on CBS and its Wednesday night frolic of comedians (Danny Thomas, Jimmy Durante, etc.) up against Arthur Godfrey.

The idea seems to be to kill off the opposition. The audience is deprived of a choice in the matter. Why two comedians on opposing networks? Why not a comedian on one, a dramatic show on another? People who like comedians can have comedians; listeners who prefer drama can have that.

Deaths

HOEY INFANT

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Hoey, 14 North Chase Street, died yesterday at 6:05 p. m. in Memorial Hospital where she had been born three days earlier. Mr. Hoey is Cumberland city recreation director. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

JEREMIAH J. MURPHY

Jeremiah Joseph Murphy, 79, of 506 Beall Street, died at his home at 8 a. m. yesterday. He was born in Franklin, Md., a son of the late William P. and Ellen Shehan Murphy.

Two nephews survive. They are Rev. James E. Drumm, Pittsburgh, Pa., and William P. Murphy, city.

Murphy was a member of St. Patrick's Church, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and Rubber Workers Local No. 26. He retired from Kelly Springfield Tire Company June, 1950, after 32 years service. The body will remain at George's Funeral Home.

FLAHERTY RITES

A requiem mass for Paul J. Flaherty, formerly of here who died Tuesday in a Washington, D. C., hospital, was celebrated Saturday in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment was in Hill Crest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were C. William Spangler, Walter Durbin, Norman Durbin, Louis Bropft, Alfred Vanmeter and Earl Borrer.

HOWARD R. HOFFA

Howard R. Hoffa, 61, brother of Mrs. Bertha Saylor and Mrs. Lucy Glime, this city, died December 2 in Tampa, Fla., of a heart attack.

A son of the late Charles and Margaret Hoffa, of Lonaconing, he had resided 15 years in Tampa where he was a city employe. He was born in Robertsdale, Pa. His father had served as a mine superintendent at various places, but resided mostly in Lonaconing.

Mr. Hoffa is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susan F. Hoffa; two sons, Howard Hoffa, Jr., and Robert Hoffa, and two daughters, Mrs. Mae Richardson and Mrs. June Morton, all of Tampa.

He also leaves three other sisters, Mrs. Margaret Beecham, Somerset, Pa.; Mrs. Elsie Rankin, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Marion Young, Bethesda; and one brother, Charles Hoffa, of Baltimore. Arthur P. Hoffa, of Barton, is an uncle.

Interment was held Tuesday in Myrtle Memorial Park, Tampa. Attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glime, of Cumberland; Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Beecham, and Charles Hoffa.

SAMUEL C. STEWART

Samuel Clifford Stewart, 45, of 125 West Oldtown Road, died enroute to Memorial Hospital Saturday after being taken suddenly ill.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to a heart attack.

He was born at Polish Mountain, a son of the late John T. and Amanda Diehl Stewart. A truck driver for the Interstate Motor Freight Company, he belonged to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters Unions, and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. He was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ina A. Dyer Stewart; two sons, Howard E. Stewart, this city, and Dale D. Stewart, at home; one brother, Clarence E. Stewart, this city; five sisters, Mrs. Shay Wigfield, Williams Road; Mrs. George R. Long, Winchester Road, and Mrs. George Bagley, Mrs. Edgar Isner, and Mrs. Edward Collyer, all of this city.

A funeral service will be held at George's Funeral Home Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Charles Reckley, pastor of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Herman Cemetery and graveside military rites will be conducted by Ft. Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

HARVEY C. GRUBBS

Harvey C. Grubbs, 62, Winchester, Va., brother of Mrs. Ada Grim, this city, died Wednesday in Winchester Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

His parents were the late George M. and Susan Swartz Grubbs. He was a member of the United Brethren Church and Woodmen of the World.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Virginia Giffin Grubbs; two children, two step-daughters, a brother, another sister, a grandson and four step-grandchildren. Burial was in Mount Hebron Cemetery, Winchester.

Escaped Prisoner Captured In Maryland

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—One of two inmates who made a daring escape from the federal house of detention here yesterday was recaptured early today in Conowingo, Md.

New York police said that Charles R. Perry, 25, Memphis, Tenn., was seized by Maryland State Police as he was driving through Conowingo in a stolen automobile.

Meanwhile, a 13-state alarm was broadcast for the other escaped prisoner, Francis T. Grills, 25, who made the break with Perry. The escape was the second since the detention building was opened in 1929. Fifteen years ago a man fashioned a rope from sheets and slid to freedom.

Charity May Benefit From Truman Letter

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — If Music Critic Paul Hume sells the letter in which President Truman threatened to beat him up for writing a "lousy" review of Margaret Truman's singing, the proceeds may be turned over to charity.

Hume disclosed in reply to a reporter's inquiries today that he has received a number of offers for the letter.

At Mount Holly, N. C., Henry H. Ryan, a cotton broker, said he had phoned Hume last night suggesting that the note be sold for charity.

Hume said he and his wife had already thought that they would give the proceeds to charity if they sold the letter.

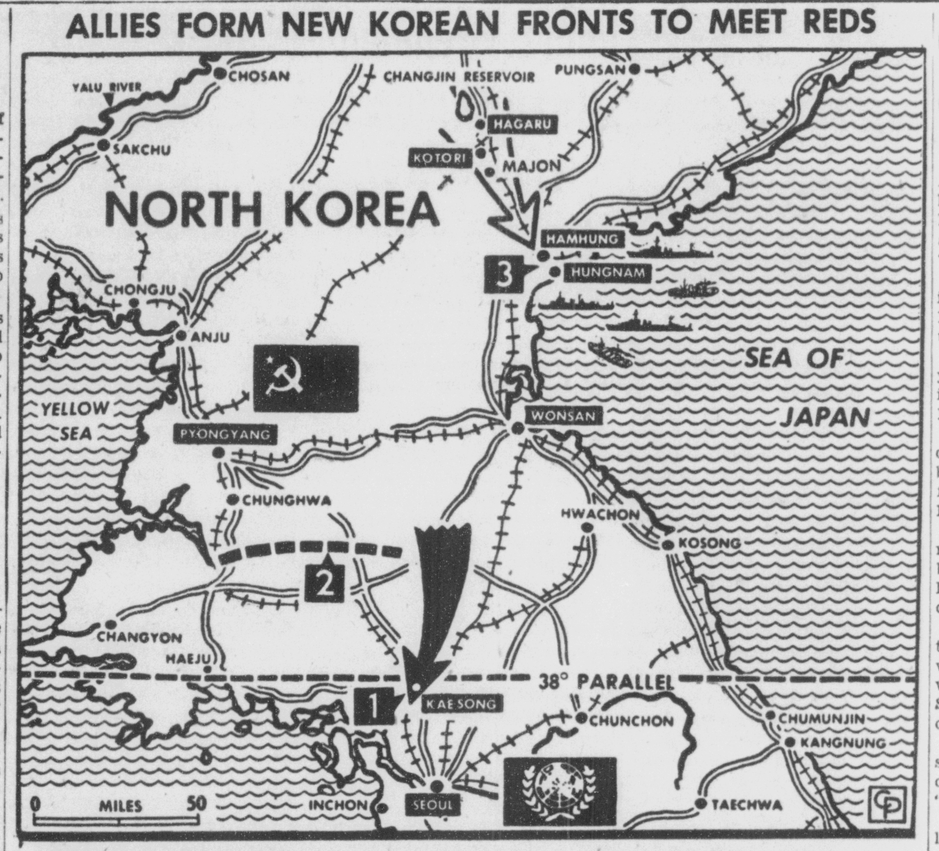
ALLIES FORM NEW KOREAN FRONTS TO MEET REDS



THE KOREAN FIGHTING FRONTS are temporarily stabilized after two weeks confusion during which Americans identified elements of thirty-one Red Chinese divisions. Reconstituted North Korean Communists made the first penetration south of the 38th Parallel at Kaesong (1). A 75-mile front (2) has been established by the U.S. 8th Army Corps to hold the vital road and rail lines leading to Seoul. At the northeast, Marines and the 7th Division fight down the "escape road" to the Hamhung-Hungnan (3) evacuation area. (C. P.)

Firemen Investigate Flaming Wires

South End firemen were called to the intersection of Oldtown Road and Race Street about 8:20 a. m. yesterday when a wire on an electric light pole there short circuited, sending out a blue flame.

No one was injured and firemen notified the Potomac Edson Company, which sent workmen to make necessary repairs.

Penn Avenue School To Give Operetta

The primary department of Pennsylvania Avenue School will present an operetta, "Susanna's Christmas Auction," Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Over 100 children are in the cast. A special feature will be selections by the toy band. Teachers of the first and second grades are in charge of the program.

ed. This is especially true if the delegates come principally from smaller towns and take the opportunity to buy dresses, suits and other clothing accessories while here.

Convention delegates spend money for novelties, toys for their children, cosmetics, laundry work, dry cleaning, flowers, gasoline and automobile repairs or for taxi service, Towler noted. They all spend money in restaurants and many deposit funds in the local taverns. Then, too, many of the delegates depend upon trains or buses to transport them to Cumberland. Here again the community benefits, he added.

Represent New Money

One point concerning convention business which Towler sought to give greatest emphasis was that the money spent here by the delegates is so-called "new money," which adds to the supply already in the community. Much of Cumberland's business is simply a matter of exchange in which money earned in the community is distributed among the various businesses in the city.

"Conventions bring in money that isn't here before and they add to the total volume in circulation in the city," Towler stated.

Although Cumberland's 1950 convention schedule ended with the CIO meeting November 30, December 1 and 2, plans already are underway to bring more conventions to Cumberland in 1951.

Blair observed that the State Volunteer Firemen's Association already is lined up to come to the Queen City June 20-24.

Another 1951 convention booked for Cumberland will be the annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Maryland April 3, 4 and 5. Rebekah Assembly is the women's branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Urge Weekend Parleys

One of the aims of the local men in encouraging conventions to this city has been to bring them in over weekends. In mid-week the local hotels usually are busy taking care of their regular traveling customers. On weekends it is much easier to find sufficient rooms in the city.

Although the Fort Cumberland Hotel nearly always is convention headquarters, the Algonquin, the Allegany Inn, the Windsor and the Maryland hotels usually accommodate some of the delegates to each convention.

"All public-spirited citizens are urged to encourage the organizations to which they belong to seek to bring their conventions to Cumberland," Towler said in conclusion. "The more conventions the community has the more money is brought into the community to help us all."

Commissioner Continues Sit-In

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 10 (AP)—An embattled city commissioner kept possession of his office in heavily-policed City Hall today, the second day of his sit-in fight to "protect my rights and files."

Stripped of all powers last week in a bitter commission split, James F. Murray, Sr., defied what he termed "gestapo tactics."

Murray stormed into his office yesterday as locksmiths were changing locks on the doors of the Park Department office.

He irately ordered the locksmiths out, summoned two aides, was joined by his wife, and called for assistance from New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

The virtual state of siege of last night, in which police for a time blocked anyone from entering or leaving the building, was absent today.

Murray late today hurled an ultimatum at Mayor John V. Kenny, who led the commission majority which stripped Murray and Public Safety Director Charles Witkowski of all civil powers.

Murray told Kenny he would stand "personal guard" over the office and its files unless and until "the following conditions are met:"

"The illegal siege of City Hall be lifted.

"The cordon of police now blocking the entrances of City Hall be removed so that the public may enter as usual.

"The unauthorized locks placed on my office by Commissioner (Donald) Spence be removed.

"That I, as duly elected official of Jersey City be given complete sovereignty and jurisdiction over the premises alloted to me x x x."

Ex-Wife Fails To Back Rosenberg Accuser

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — Senators reported today that the divorced wife of an ex-Communist who accused Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg of having attended Communist meetings failed to back him up in this.

This came out as the Senate Armed Services Committee called for additional closed-door testimony concerning charges made by Ralph De Sola of New York against Mrs. Rosenberg, now acting assistant secretary of defense.

Mrs. Rosenberg's nomination for the high military position is before the Senate for confirmation.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10 (AP) — While fire swept a basement chapel of St. Richard's Catholic Church today, celebration of mass in the main auditorium continued without interruption.

Fire Marshal George Kington said the blaze was started accidentally by an altar boy who was lighting candles for a children's mass.

Some women were ushered from the church but most of the congregation remained until the administration of holy communion and the benediction, then left the church in orderly manner, the Rev. Francis M. Conroy, assistant rector and celebrant of the mass, said.

Santa Heim Yule Carnival Reopens

SAVAGE, Md., Dec. 10 (AP)—The shut-down at the Christmas carnival at Santa Heim, Merrieland, due to fire hazards didn't last long.

Joseph McSweeney, chief investigator for the state fire marshal, said Saturday the carnival was operating again.

He said that defective tents and wiring have been fixed up and that a detail of men and a fire truck are standing by in case fire does break out.

The carnival was closed by its owner, Harry H. Heim, on Friday.

IN A HAPPY MOOD, Margaret Truman poses after her Washington concert, which received a not-too-happy review from music critic Paul Hume. In turn, Hume received from Margaret's outraged father, a scathing letter, written on White House paper. (International)

Deaths

HOEY INFANT

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Hoey, 14 North Chase Street, died yesterday at 6:05 p. m. in Memorial Hospital where she had been born three days earlier. Mr. Hoey is Cumberland city recreation director. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

JEREMIAH J. MURPHY

Jeremiah Joseph Murphy, 79, of 506 Beall Street, died at his home at 8 a. m. yesterday. He was born in Franklin, Md., a son of the late William P. and Ellen Shehan Murphy.

Two nephews survive. They are Rev. James E. Drumm, Pittsburgh, Pa., and William P. Murphy, city.

Murphy was a member of St. Patrick's Church, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and Rubber Workers Local No. 26. He retired from Kelly Springfield Tire Company June, 1950, after 32 years service. The body will remain at George's Funeral Home.

FLAHERTY RITES

A requiem mass for Paul J. Flaherty, formerly of here who died Tuesday in a Washington, D. C., hospital, was celebrated Saturday in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment was in Hill Crest Burial Park.

Pallbearers were C. William Spangler, Walter Durbin, Norman Durbin, Louis Bropft, Alfred Vanmeter and Earl Borrer.

HOWARD R. HOFFA

Howard R. Hoffa, 61, brother of Mrs. Bertha Saylor and Mrs. Lucy Glime, this city, died December 2 in Tampa, Fla., of a heart attack.

A son of the late Charles and Margaret Hoffa, of Lonaconing, he had resided 15 years in Tampa where he was a city employe. He was born in Robertsdale, Pa. His father had served as a mine superintendent at various places, but resided mostly in Lonaconing.

Mr. Hoffa is survived by his widow, Mrs. Susan F. Hoffa; two sons, Howard Hoffa, Jr., and Robert Hoffa, and two daughters, Mrs. Mae Richardson and Mrs. June Morton, all of Tampa.

He also leaves three other sisters, Mrs. Margaret Beecham, Somerset, Pa.; Mrs. Elsie Rankin, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Marion Young, Bethesda; and one brother, Charles Hoffa, of Baltimore. Arthur P. Hoffa, of Barton, is an uncle.

Interment was held Tuesday in Myrtle Memorial Park, Tampa. Attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glime, of Cumberland; Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Beecham, and Charles Hoffa.

SAMUEL C. STEWART

Samuel Clifford Stewart, 45, of 125 West Oldtown Road, died enroute to Memorial Hospital Saturday after being taken suddenly ill.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to a heart attack.

He was born at Polish Mountain, a son of the late John T. and Amanda Diehl Stewart. A truck driver for the Interstate Motor Freight Company, he belonged to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters Unions, and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. He was a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ina A. Dyer Stewart; two sons, Howard E. Stewart, this city, and Dale D. Stewart, at home; one brother, Clarence E. Stewart, this city; five sisters, Mrs. Shay Wigfield, Williams Road; Mrs. George R. Long, Winchester Road, and Mrs. George Bagley, Mrs. Edgar Isner, and Mrs. Edward Collyer, all of this city.

A funeral service will be held at George's Funeral Home Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Charles Reckley, pastor of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Herman Cemetery and graveside military rites will be conducted by Ft. Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion.

HARVEY C. GRUBBS

Harvey C. Grubbs, 62, Winchester, Va., brother of Mrs. Ada Grim, this city, died Wednesday in Winchester Memorial Hospital following a brief illness.

His parents were the late George M. and Susan Swartz Grubbs. He was a member of the United Brethren Church and Woodmen of the World.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Virginia Giffin Grubbs; two children, two step-daughters, a brother, another sister, a grandson and four step-grandchildren. Burial was in Mount Hebron Cemetery, Winchester.

Escaped Prisoner Captured In Maryland

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—One of two inmates who made a daring escape from the federal house of detention here yesterday was recaptured early today in Conowingo, Md.

New York police said that Charles R. Perry, 25, Memphis, Tenn., was seized by Maryland State Police as he was driving through Conowingo in a stolen automobile.

Meanwhile, a 13-state alarm was broadcast for the other escaped prisoner, Francis T. Grills, 25, who made the break with Perry. The escape was the second since the detention building was opened in 1929. Fifteen years ago a man fashioned a rope from sheets and slid to freedom.

Charity May Benefit From Truman Letter

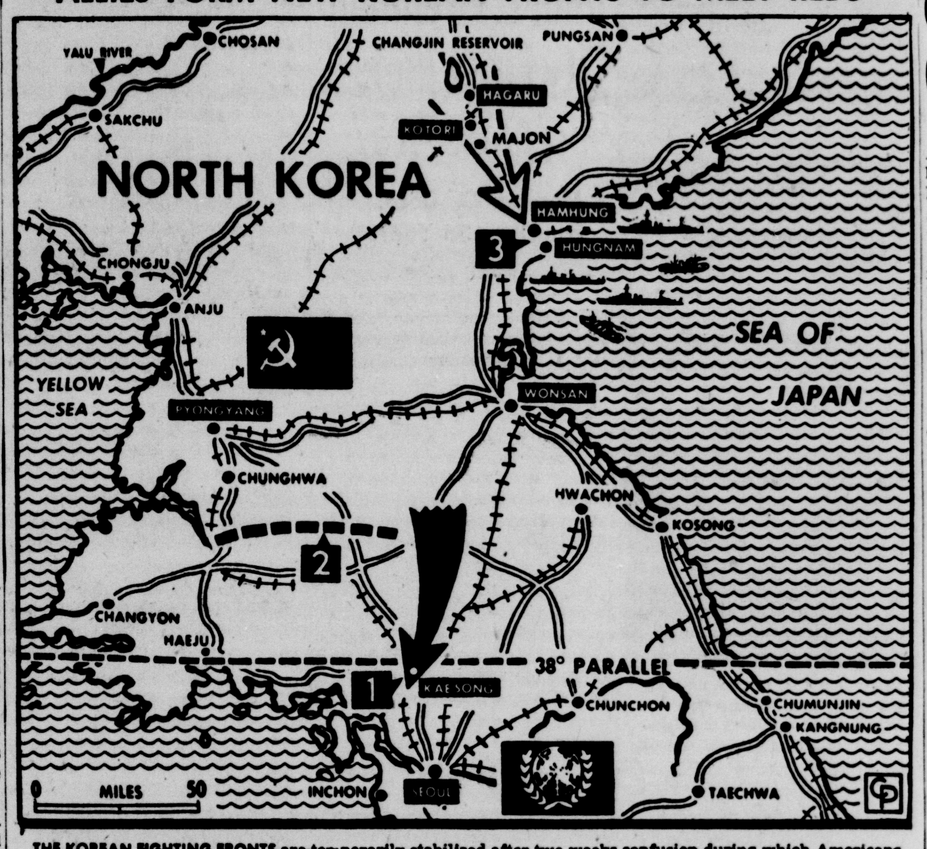
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 (AP) — If Music Critic Paul Hume sells the letter in which President Truman threatened to beat him up for writing a "lousy" review of Margaret Truman's singing, the proceeds may be turned over to charity.

Hume disclosed in reply to a reporter's inquiries today that he has received a number of offers for the letter.

At Mount Holly, N. C., Henry H. Ryan, a cotton broker, said he had phoned Hume last night suggesting that the note be sold for charity.

Hume said he and his wife had already thought that they would give the proceeds to charity if they sold the letter.

ALLIES FORM NEW KOREAN FRONTS TO MEET REDS



THE KOREAN FIGHTING FRONTS are temporarily stabilized after two weeks confusion during which Americans identified elements of thirty-one Red Chinese divisions. Reconstituted North Korean Communists made the first penetration south of the 38th Parallel at Kaesong (1). A 75-mile front (2) has been established by the U.S. 8th Army Corps to hold the vital road and rail lines leading to Seoul. At the northeast, Marines and the 7th Division fight down the "escape road" to the Hamhung-Hungnan (3) evacuation area. (C. P.)

Firemen Investigate Flaming Wires

South End firemen were called to the intersection of Oldtown Road and Race Street about 8:20 a. m. yesterday when a wire on an electric light pole there short circuited, sending out a blue flame.

No one was injured and firemen notified the Potomac Edsion Company, which sent workmen to make necessary repairs.

Penn Avenue School To Give Operetta

The primary department of Pennsylvania Avenue School will present an operetta, "Susanna's Christmas Auction," Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Over 100 children are in the cast. A special feature will be selections by the toy band. Teachers of the first and second grades are in charge of the program.

Second Snow Strikes Area Before Winter

Bad Weather Season Still 11 Days Off

Although winter officially still is 11 days away, Cumberland and the tri-state area yesterday and last night experienced their second sizeable snowfall of the season.

For a time the snow did not stick to the streets and sidewalks of Cumberland but by 10 o'clock there was a thin blanket of snow over virtually all downtown pavements.

This second snowfall was attributed to a storm sweeping out of the Carolinas. In various parts of Maryland the storm brought with it snow, rain or some sleet.

State Police in both Maryland and West Virginia last night recommended that all motorists on highways in this area equip their automobiles with chains.

Despite the fact that many of the roads were slippery, no serious accidents had been reported at a late hour.

Police Urge Caution

Maryland State Police at LaVale Barracks cautioned all motorists on highways in Allegany and Garrett counties to use chains on their cars. Police were looking for the snow to continue all night, piling between four and seven inches on the area.

The snowfall was following its usual pattern in that it was reported heavier in Garrett county than in Allegany. By 10 o'clock last night about one-quarter inch of snow had fallen in the Cumberland area but the snow was continuing then.

Earlier in the evening traffic was badly snarled on Martin's Mountain, the first mountain east of Cumberland. After motor vehicle traffic was delayed about an hour cinder crews got Route 40 in condition for cars to proceed. State Road crews were busy with cinders, sand and salt in Allegany and Garrett counties.

West Virginia State Police at Romney were urging extreme caution for all drivers forced to be out on the highways in Eastern West Virginia. Chains were recommended in Hampshire and Mineral counties as well as in the Eastern Panhandle counties of Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson.

Hilly Streets Slick

In Cumberland drivers last night experienced extreme difficulty in traveling over streets in the hilly sections.

An oddity during the storm ended without damage or injury last night. A link in the chains on a taxi became entangled in a rail on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at Frederick Street crossing. Fortunately, it was loosened before a train approached.

Below freezing temperatures were recorded last night at a number of points in this general area. Among these were Deal, Pa., two inches of snow and 26 degrees; Thomas, W. Va., two inches of snow and 24 degrees; and Terra Alta, W. Va., one inch of snow and 30 degrees. At Harpers Ferry, W. Va., temperature was 34 degrees but there were three inches of snow.

Baltimore received its first snowfall of the season shortly after dark last night. Playful parents and thrilled youngsters rolled snowballs and formed snowmen almost as fast as it fell.

Man Breaks Arm In Fall On Ice

Ellsworth Twigg, 64, of 116 North Allegany Street, suffered a fractured left wrist yesterday when he fell on ice while on his way to church. He was admitted to Memorial Hospital for x-rays and observation. Mr. Twigg was a meat cutter for Swift and Co.

Mrs. Ollie Morgett, who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Saturday suffering from second and third degree burns of her back after her clothes caught fire, was reported in fair condition last night, hospital attaches said. The Paw Paw, W. Va., woman was standing with her back to a stove when her dress caught fire, attaches reported.

Mrs. Ida Miller, 39, of RFD 3, Bedford, Pa., and her son, Virgil, 14, were treated for facial injuries at Allegany Hospital following an auto accident on Baltimore Avenue.

Burglary Attempts Are Being Probed

Police are investigating three unsuccessful burglary attempts in a South End concentrated area early Saturday.

The attempts were made at the store owned by Joseph Lewis, 40 East Elder Street, and service stations run by George H. Powell at 1506 Ford Avenue and the Sherwood Oil Company, 1412 River Avenue. Glass windows were broken at the stations. The culprits apparently were frightened away from the store before they could open a window.

Weather

Light but persistent snowfall during the day yesterday left over an inch on the ground in outlying districts of the city. Near midnight the snow began falling steadily, bearing out the weatherman's prediction of several inches during the night. High temperature was 35 degrees and yesterday's overnight low was 29. Today will be windy, cloudy and rather cold, with snow flurries in the mountains.

FIRE CHIEF DIES—John E. Brennan, Cumberland Fire Department Fire Chief, died yesterday morning at 5:15 o'clock in Allegany Hospital where he had been a patient for several weeks. He had been in ill health several years. Chief Brennan had been a member of the local fire department for 36 years.

Communications Workers Union Meets Tonight

Wage Differential To Be Discussed

A meeting of all Communications Workers of America, CIO, of the Cumberland area has been called for tonight at 8 o'clock in the Textile Hall, North Mechanic Street, Robert Slemmer, area local president, said yesterday.

Speakers will include Earl Snyder, president of Celanese Local No. 1874, Textile Workers; W. E. Fisher, Baltimore, state president of CWA, CIO; and Miss Catherine McFarland, Wichita, Kan., international representative of the Communications Workers.

Fisher will discuss the $12 wage differential among linesmen in Maryland, Slemmer said. He explained that telephone linesmen in Baltimore city are paid $78 per week, linesmen in the Maryland suburban area, around Hyattsville, Shepherd etc., receive $80 per week; linesmen in Cumberland get $70 per week, and in Oakland receive $68 per week.

The union is attempting to determine why men doing the same work in the Baltimore suburban areas receive $12 more per week than the men in Garrett County, and $10 more per week than those in Cumberland and Allegany County, Slemmer stated.

He also announced yesterday that officers and job stewards of the Western Maryland Local will attend a four-day training program, conducted by the Educational Division of International CWA, CIO, December 14 and 15, and December 18 and 19.

Gail Furlow To Edit Fort Hill Scrapbook

Gail Furlow will edit the Senior Class Scrapbook this year at Fort Hill High School, Miss Gerardine Pritchard, senior English teacher, announced.

An honor student throughout high school, Miss Furlow, a senior, was a Dramatic Club member as a sophomore, belonged to Tri-Hi-Y and appeared in the Farewell Assembly last year and now is a member of the Sentinel staff, the Glee Club and the coordinating group of the Junior Town Meeting League.

Local Girl Sings With Hood Choir

Miss Joyce A. Spencer, a member of the freshman class at Hood College and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland E. Spencer, 119 North Allegany Street, is a member of the Hood College choir which will join the United States Naval Academy choir in joint presentations of Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," at the academy chapel on December 16 and 17.

Following the first performance, to be given at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, the Hood choir will attend the annual Christmas Hop in Dahlgren Hall. The second performance by the 205-voice combined choirs will be Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

John E. Brennan, City Fire Chief, Succumbs At 57

Member Of Dept. For Over 36 Years

Fire Chief John Edward Brennan, 57, of 107 Polk Street, died at 5:15 a. m. yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital where he had been a patient since November 22. He had been in ill health for over two years.

Born in Philadelphia July 17, 1893, the son of the late John Francis and Jane Ann Clark Brennan, Chief Brennan came to Cumberland with his family when he was 15 years old.

He worked for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company as a store room clerk shortly before joining the Cumberland Fire Department October 20, 1914 at the age of 20, as a truck driver and pipeman at West Side station. He remained a member of the fire department for 36 years until his death.

Chief Brennan was transferred to Central fire station shortly after joining the department and was promoted to captain October 19, 1924. He became assistant fire chief of the Cumberland Fire Department January 19, 1925 while at Central, then was promoted to fire chief July 1, 1948.

He was a member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, Police and Firemen's Welfare Association of Cumberland, Police and Firemen's Insurance Association, Indianapolis, Ind., Eastern Fire Chiefs Association and International Fire Chiefs Association.

Surviving are Chief Brennan's widow, the former Helen V. Stein; four daughters, Mrs. Frank D'Atri, Mrs. Mary Cramer and Mrs. Richard Cioni, this city, and Mrs. Jean Holtz, Mt. Savage; a sister, Mrs. John Haas, Philadelphia; and 14 grandchildren.

The body will remain at Stein's Chapel and a funeral service will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. in St. Patrick's Church with Rev. Father Louis Miltenberger, pastor of St. Martin's Catholic Church, Washington, D. C., officiating. Rev. Miltenberger is a cousin of Chief Brennan. Interment will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery.

Annual VFW Essay Event Begins Here

Students Eligible To Submit Entries

"Freedom's Open Door" is the subject of the sixteenth annual national essay contest, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Any student enrolled in a public, parochial, or private high school, grades 10, 11, 12, is eligible to compete for awards. There is no age limit, but pre-entry or post-graduate students may not compete.

The local contest will be conducted entirely by the sponsoring local auxiliary, in accordance with national rules. The local auxiliary will present prizes for the winners. First, second, and third place winners in the local contest will be entered in the state contest, but local rankings will be disregarded in competition for state honors. A contestant may win third place in the local contest and first place in the state contest.

After entering the contest, a person may consult others for information but the ideas must be original.

Last year's subject was "Peace with Honor for All." Local winners were: Janet Wilson, Allegany, first; Joan E. Martin, St. Mary's, second; Edith Sweene, Allegany, third, and Joyce Spencer, Allegany, honorable mention. Edith Sweene was first in the state contest and was among the top ten in the national contest.

Postal Clerks Help Santa

The Christmas mailing rush is keeping postal clerks at the Cumberland post office busy around the clock these days, and postal officials say mail is moving in and out on schedule. This huge pile of packages is typical of every incoming and outgoing mail, as many people are getting their holiday packages mailed before the last minute rush. Clerks in the picture are Glen B. Hockman and John F. Powell.

Gephart PTA Plans Yule Party

The Gephart Parent-Teacher Association will hold its Christmas meeting and party in the school auditorium Tuesday at 8 p. m., according to Mrs. Frank Spoerl, program chairman.

Traditional Christmas songs will feature the first part of the program with several solos by Ernest Spriggs, accompanied by Miss Virginia Fatkin. Miss Anne Tennant, principal of the school, will lead group singing.

Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will address the group on "Christmas and the Home."

The evening will be climaxed by a visit from Santa Claus, who will distribute presents to the members.

News In Brief

The official board of McKendree M. E. Church, North Centre Street, will meet at the church tonight at 8 o'clock. The Young Adult Fellowship will meet at the parsonage, Polk Street, at the same hour.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual Christmas party tomorrow at 5:30 p. m. in Central YMCA. The program will be in charge of the welfare and recreation committee, with Mrs. Ellen McKenzie and Miss Mary Louise Robertson as chairman and co-chairman, respectively.

The Braddock Farms Improvement Association will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. David Durst to rehearse Christmas carols for the program scheduled Friday, December 22, at the community Christmas tree.

Men of LaSalle will meet tonight at 8 o'clock on the third floor of the K. of C. Building. Refreshments will be served after a business meeting and showing of sports movies.

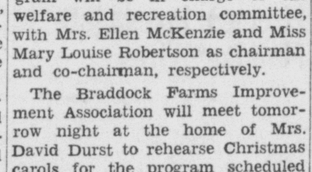
Melford D. Clark will present a program of magic at tomorrow's luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club at Central YMCA.



Unique Program Conducted Each Sunday At City Jail

By MARY LOUISE BUZZELL
News Staff Writer

"If you save one, it's worthwhile."

That's what Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long has to say about a unique program being conducted at the City Jail.

About three months ago, Long asked local officials of Alcoholics Anonymous to make regular visits to the jail to talk with prisoners about the disease of alcoholism and to help alcoholics return to normality.

Meetings are conducted every Sunday morning, with all of the 35 members of the Cumberland AA group taking turns in the project.

AA members explain their personal experiences with alcoholism and the benefits of their organization.

"The prisoners take us into their confidence and talk over their problems with us," one AA member said. "They realize we have gone through the experience of alcoholism and understand their troubles."

Attendance at the weekly meetings ranges from 15 to 18. Three new members have joined AA as a result, which is considered a good average.

"They may not accept the idea right away but the seed is planted," the AA member said. "An alcoholic has to reach a certain point before he decides to do something about the disease. The individual has to want his cure."

The prisoners have proved "very co-operative" toward the program and "we think we have done a lot of good for all of them," he said. "We have heard they look forward to the meetings."

The local AA performs similar services at the County Jail although not with regularly scheduled meetings. They are also called on occasion to assist with cases at local hospitals.

The AA member said programs similar to those held at City Jail are conducted at institutions in other cities.

Young Archeologist To Address Nature Group

James Deetz, a local youth who returned recently from an archeological expedition to South Dakota, will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Junior Nature Club tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Central YMCA clubrooms.

Deetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Deetz, 503 Baltimore Avenue, spent five months on an expedition sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute to study remains of Indian villages in an area near Pierre, S. D.

After spending the holidays here, he will leave for Central America on an expedition to El Salvador.

The group will study Mayan Indian ceremonial grounds, including two pyramids and an ancient ball court.

After graduating from Fort Hill High School in 1948, Deetz attended Harvard University before entering his present work.

A charter member of the Allegany County Bird Club, Deetz will give a talk on birds he observed in the South Dakota area, generally accepted as the dividing line between eastern and western species.

While in that area Deetz added 40 new birds to his list of nearly 300 species.

Neil Smith, president of the Junior Nature Club, will preside at the business meeting.

Plans will be discussed for the club's part in the Christmas bird count, an annual event held throughout the nation.

The count will begin December 23 and continue through December 31, with members to list as many different birds of all species as they observe during that period.

Reports will be sent to the Maryland Ornithological Society in Baltimore.

Ushers will be assigned for the lecture to be given by Roger Tory Peterson at Allegany High School on January 9.

Peterson is the author of "Field Guide to Eastern Birds," a widely used handbook. The January 9 event is part of the series of Audubon Screen Tours being presented here under auspices of the Allegany County Bird Club.

LaSalle Mothers Plan Yule Party

The LaSalle Mothers Club will hold a Christmas party tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's Social Center following the regular business session.

Members are asked to bring jingle gifts for exchange.

State TB Drive Report Released

Reaching the half-way mark of its 1950 Christmas Seal Sale, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association has announced that over 33 percent of the state-wide goal of $342,200 had been reached. Returns to date total $116,105.38, an increase of $1,315.26 over returns for the same period of last year's campaign.

In 1949, nearly 40,000 persons in U. S. died of TB. Over 900 of these were Marylanders. In addition, health authorities estimate that there are also some 8,000 or 9,000 other persons needing medical attention because of this disease.

Accepts Position

William A. Wilson, Midland, who resigned as marriage license clerk at the Court House last July, has accepted employment with the Cumberland Office Supply Company here and will assume his new duties in the office today.

Wilson was a candidate in the Republican Primary for nomination to the office of clerk of court and managed the local Republican headquarters office during the general election compaign.

Teachers Named To State Posts

A number of teachers and education officials in Allegany and Garrett Counties have been appointed to committees of the Maryland State Teachers Association by Harry R. Poole, president.

They are:

Auditing — Mrs. Dora McLuckie, Barton Elementary School.

Ethics and Membership — Miss Anne Tennant, Gephart School.

Nominating — Wilbur J. Glenn, chairman, principal of Friendsville High School.

Maryland Teacher Advisory Board — Miss Mary E. Murray, Allegany High School.

Joseph Haugen of Central High School, Lonaconing, was named an advisory member on credit unions for the National Education Association Commission.

Phone Talks Are Set For Area Dentists

The Allegany - Garrett County Dental Society will hear a discussion tonight at 7:30 p. m., on the subject, "Peridontal Diseases," sometimes mistakenly referred to as pyorrhea.

The program will be transmitted by telephone from Chicago to 255 dental societies and dental study clubs throughout the United States and Canada. It is the second of the 1950-51 series of five lectures being given by the University of Illinois College of Dentistry.

Dr. Saul Levy of the university will serve as moderator of the two-hour program.

Members of the panel will include Dr. Balint J. Orban, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Dr. Henry M. Goldman, Boston, Mass.; Dr. Dickson G. Bell, University of California; Dr. Olin Kirkland, Emory University; and Dr. Samuel C. Miller, New York University.

A 15-minute period will also be devoted to atomic civil defense. Dr. Earl H. Blair of Chicago will discuss "Coordination of Medical and Dental Services in Civilian Atomic Defense."

Paw Paw Motorist Hits Two Parked Cars

Charles E. McDaniel, 32, Paw Paw, W. Va., was arrested on a motor vehicle violation after his automobile struck two parked cars in the 700 block Hill Top Drive yesterday morning.

Police Officers J. Carl Stouffer and Walter P. Crabtree arrested the West Virginian after the mishap. He was scheduled for arraignment in Trial Magistrate's Court at 9:45 o'clock this morning.

Missing Man Found Drowned In Potomac

George Eaton Had Been Gone 5 Weeks

The badly decomposed body of a Cumberland man who had been missing for five weeks was found on a small island in the Potomac River about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, State Police reported last night.

Identified as George Eaton, 32-year-old Canal Street man, the body was discovered by Perry C. Ritchie, Spring Gap, and two Fort Hill High School students, James H. Ritchie, brother of Perry, and Raymond K. Robey, also of Spring Gap. Trooper William F. Baker, criminal investigator of LaVale barracks, Maryland State Police investigated.

Baker said the three Spring Gap men had been boating and found the body lying across a fallen tree about five feet from the ground on the island which is located about five river miles east of Cumberland. It had evidently been tossed there by the high waters which almost reached flood stage in the Potomac Monday night, he reported.

Eaton's body, still clothed in the black coat, overalls and suspenders and black shoes he was wearing the night he was reported missing, was removed by rowboat from the island by Trooper Baker with the help of Perry Ritchie and William Parry, Green Spring, W. Va. It was taken to Stein's Funeral Home.

Dr. H. V. Deming, county deputy medical examiner, said his autopsy shows Eaton had been dead about five weeks and had died by asphyxia from drowning.

Eaton had lived with his father in an unpainted frame house along the old C & O canal, a short distance south of the Western Maryland Railway station and had been missing since about 10:45 p.m. Saturday, November 4.

He was reported as missing by his 76-year-old father, Charles Eaton, who at that time related he and his son spent the evening of November 4 together in a pool room and then had taken a taxi home. When they arrived home Eaton's father reported his son decided to visit his sister, Mrs. Lillian Cassell, 32 Carpenter Street, Ridgeley, W. Va. That was the last time he was seen alive.

Frederick C. Dreyer, veteran river man, dragged the river for the body November 8 but no trace was found at that time.

It is believed Eaton may have fallen from the Western Maryland Railway bridge and state police are continuing the investigation. Trooper Baker said the body was positively identfied by Ray James Litton, Ridgeley, a nephew of the dead man.

Body Of Local Man Found At Rooming House

Richard Nuse Dies Of Gunshot Wound

The body of Richard Norvell Nuse, 44, was found yesterday at 11:15 a.m. in his first floor bedroom at 301 Harrison Street where he resided alone.

Dr. H. V. Deming said death occurred Friday afternoon from a cerebal hemorrhage caused by a .22 calibre rifle bullet in the right temple, believed self-inflicted. A new Winchester bolt action rifle was in his right hand when the body was discovered by Juanita M. Price, a maid who cleaned up his room, Dr. Deming reported.

Nuse had been in failing health for about five years.

Nuse's mother, Mrs. Miranda Twigg Nuse, had talked to the Celanese machinist Thursday night, Dr. Deming said. Rebecca Liller, an upstairs boarder at the Harrison Street home, reported she heard a noise about 3 p.m. Friday afternoon in Nuse's room but did not investigate.

City Police were called when the body was found by Miss Price yesterday morning after she stumbled over it while taking milk to Nuse's room on her way to the kitchen. The body was lying on the bedroom floor on its left side with the barrel of the rifle clutched in the right hand, authorities reported.

Nuse was born here September 24, 1906, the son of John F. and Miranda Susan Twigg Nuse. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Staples Nuse; two brothers, Roscoe M. Nuse, a city policeman, and Milford P. Nuse, Altoona, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Walter Weires, city.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 245.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Lions Club To Hear Allegany Choir

The choir of Allegany High School, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Willison, will present a program at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club at Central YMCA.

The club will hold its annual Christmas tree sale next Saturday and Sunday, December 16 and 17, at Fort Hill Stadium from noon until 5 p. m.

Annual Christmas party for children will be held December 20 at noon at the Central YMCA gymnasium

Conventions In Cumberland Bring Almost Quarter-Million Dollars To City This Year

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Cumberland was host to 10 conventions during 1950 and local hotel men estimate that the 2,350 delegates who attended these meetings brought some $218,600 into the community.

Eight of the conventions were statewide affairs and the other two were area conventions involving more than just Maryland, according to Robert Blair, manager of the Fort Cumberland Hotel, which was headquarters for most of the parleys.

The estimate of the money which these delegates spent in Cumberland was made by John L. Towler, chairman of the convention committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and manager of the Allegany Hotel Inn.

Delegates Average $80

Towler said that statisticians of convention bureaus in Philadelphia and Cleveland, probably the two biggest convention cities in the United States, estimate that the average delegate to a three-day convention spends about $80 in the community. It was on that basis that the local estimate was made.

Delegates who attended four-day conventions, of which there were two here, were figured to have spent $100 each. Those who were here for the five three-day conventions were estimated on the $80 basis. Those who attended the two two-day conventions were rated as having spent $50 each while here.

Towler emphasized that most people have an erroneous impression that hotels make most of the money that is brought into a community by a convention. National estimates are that only between 10 and 15 per cent of the money expended by convention delegates actually goes to the hotels.

All Business Benefits

A wide variety of businesses in Cumberland benefit every time a convention comes to town, the convention committee chairman stressed.

Century-Old Newspaper Found On Sidewalk Near Cemetery

A copy of a newspaper, The Maryland Advocate, printed here more than a century ago was found last week by a couple of Fort Hill High School girls, on the sidewalk along Baltimore Avenue, near East View Cemetery.

Dellann Dugan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ritchie, 200 Willowbrook Road and Gayla Conner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Heavner, 44 Marion Street, brought the paper to the NEWS office to determine if it is a genuine issue.

The paper, remarkably well preserved, is dated Saturday, October 22, 1836, and designated as Vol. 13, No. 47, published in Cumberland by D. Blocher and Co., McCleary's Row.

In addition to several items of local interest, a column of jokes and a column of poetry, the paper gives results of congressional elections in Pennsylvania, Texas and New Jersey.

It also carries market reports showing prices of various commodities here, such as corn and rye 56 cents per bushel, oats 33 and 35 cents a bushel, potatoes 25 and 30 cents a bushel, beef, six cents per pound, and bacon 11 cents per pound.

Offers of rewards totaling $1,400 are made for a number of runaway slaves, and other advertisements include toothpaste, patent medicines, soap, cleaners, shoes, etc.

A list of unclaimed letters at the local post office was published by James P. Carleton, postmaster, who announced that if the letters were not claimed by January 1, 1837, he would send them to the Dead Letter office.

The two high school girls said they would take the paper to school to show it to teachers and other students, and then will probably keep it unless some collector of such items might be interested.

Second Snow Strikes Area Before Winter

Bad Weather Season Still 11 Days Off

Although winter officially still is 11 days away, Cumberland and the tri-state area yesterday and last night experienced their second sizeable snowfall of the season.

For a time the snow did not stick to the streets and sidewalks of Cumberland but by 10 o'clock there was a thin blanket of snow over virtually all downtown pavements.

This second snowfall was attributed to a storm sweeping out of the Carolinas. In various parts of Maryland the storm brought with it snow, rain or some sleet.

State Police in both Maryland and West Virginia last night recommended that all motorists on highways in this area equip their automobiles with chains.

Despite the fact that many of the roads were slippery, no serious accidents had been reported at a late hour.

Police Urge Caution

Maryland State Police at LaVale Barracks cautioned all motorists on highways in Allegany and Garrett counties to use chains on their cars. Police were looking for the snow to continue all night, piling between four and seven inches on the area.

The snowfall was following its usual pattern in that it was reported heavier in Garrett county than in Allegany. By 10 o'clock last night about one-quarter inch of snow had fallen in the Cumberland area but the snow was continuing then.

Earlier in the evening traffic was badly snarled on Martin's Mountain, the first mountain east of Cumberland. After motor vehicle traffic was delayed about an hour cinder crews got Route 40 in condition for cars to proceed. State Road crews were busy with cinders, sand and salt in Allegany and Garrett counties.

West Virginia State Police at Romney were urging extreme caution for all drivers forced to be out on the highways in Eastern West Virginia. Chains were recommended in Hampshire and Mineral counties as well as in the Eastern Panhandle counties of Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson.

Hilly Streets Slick

In Cumberland drivers last night experienced extreme difficulty in traveling over streets in the hilly sections.

An oddity during the storm ended without damage or injury last night. A link in the chains on a taxi became entangled in a rail on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at Frederick Street crossing. Fortunately, it was loosened before a train approached.

Below freezing temperatures were recorded last night at a number of points in this general area. Among these were Deal, Pa., two inches of snow and 26 degrees; Thomas, W. Va., two inches of snow and 24 degrees; and Terra Alta, W. Va., one inch of snow and 30 degrees. At Harpers Ferry, W. Va., temperature was 34 degrees but there were three inches of snow.

Baltimore received its first snowfall of the season shortly after dark last night. Playful parents and thrilled youngsters rolled snowballs and formed snowmen almost as fast as it fell.

Man Breaks Arm In Fall On Ice

Ellsworth Twigg, 64, of 116 North Allegany Street, suffered a fractured left wrist yesterday when he fell on ice while on his way to church. He was admitted to Memorial Hospital for x-rays and observation. Mr. Twigg was a meat cutter for Swift and Co.

Mrs. Ollie Morgett, who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Saturday suffering from second and third degree burns of her back after her clothes caught fire, was reported in fair condition last night, hospital attaches said. The Paw Paw, W. Va., woman was standing with her back to a stove when her dress caught fire, attaches reported.

Mrs. Ida Miller, 39, of RFD 3, Bedford, Pa., and her son, Virgil, 14, were treated for facial injuries at Allegany Hospital following an auto accident on Baltimore Avenue.

Burglary Attempts Are Being Probed

Police are investigating three unsuccessful burglary attempts in a South End concentrated area early Saturday.

The attempts were made at the store owned by Joseph Lewis, 40 East Elder Street, and service stations run by George H. Powell at 1506 Ford Avenue and the Sherwood Oil Company, 1412 River Avenue. Glass windows were broken at the stations. The culprits apparently were frightened away from the store before they could open a window.

Weather

Light but persistent snowfall during the day yesterday left over an inch on the ground in outlying districts of the city. Near midnight the snow began falling steadily, bearing out the weatherman's prediction of several inches during the night. High temperature was 35 degrees and yesterday's overnight low was 29. Today will be windy, cloudy and rather cold, with snow flurries in the mountains.

FIRE CHIEF DIES—John E. Brennan, Cumberland Fire Department Fire Chief, died yesterday morning at 5:15 o'clock in Allegany Hospital where he had been a patient for several weeks. He had been in ill health several years. Chief Brennan had been a member of the local fire department for 36 years.

Communications Workers Union Meets Tonight

Wage Differential To Be Discussed

A meeting of all Communications Workers of America, CIO, of the Cumberland area has been called for tonight at 8 o'clock in the Textile Hall, North Mechanic Street, Robert Slemmer, area local president, said yesterday.

Speakers will include Earl Snyder, president of Celanese Local No. 1874, Textile Workers; W. E. Fisher, Baltimore, state president of CWA, CIO; and Miss Catherine McFarland, Wichita, Kan., international representative of the Communications Workers.

Fisher will discuss the $12 wage differential among linesmen in Maryland, Slemmer said. He explained that telephone linesmen in Baltimore city are paid $78 per week, linesmen in the Maryland suburban area, around Hyattsville, Shepherd etc., receive $80 per week; linesmen in Cumberland get $70 per week, and in Oakland receive $68 per week.

The union is attempting to determine why men doing the same work in the Baltimore suburban areas receive $12 more per week than the men in Garrett County, and $10 more per week than those in Cumberland and Allegany County, Slemmer stated.

He also announced yesterday that officers and job stewards of the Western Maryland Local will attend a four-day training program, conducted by the Educational Division of International CWA, CIO, December 14 and 15, and December 18 and 19.

Annual VFW Essay Event Begins Here

Students Eligible To Submit Entries

"Freedom's Open Door" is the subject of the sixteenth annual national essay contest, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Any student enrolled in a public, parochial, or private high school, grades 10, 11, 12, is eligible to compete for awards. There is no age limit, but pre-entry or post-graduate students may not compete.

The local contest will be conducted entirely by the sponsoring local auxiliary, in accordance with national rules. The local auxiliary will present prizes for the winners. First, second, and third place winners in the local contest will be entered in the state contest, but local rankings will be disregarded in competition for state honors. A contestant may win third place in the local contest and first place in the state contest.

After entering the contest, a person may consult others for information but the ideas must be original.

Last year's subject was "Peace with Honor for All." Local winners were: Janet Wilson, Allegany, first; Joan E. Martin, St. Mary's, second; Edith Sweene, Allegany, third, and Joyce Spencer, Allegany, honorable mention. Edith Sweene was first in the state contest and was among the top ten in the national contest.

Postal Clerks Help Santa

Unique Program Conducted Each Sunday At City Jail

By MARY LOUISE BUZZELL
News Staff Writer

"If you save one, it's worthwhile."

That's what Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long has to say about a unique program being conducted at the City Jail.

About three months ago, Long asked local officials of Alcoholics Anonymous to make regular visits to the jail to talk with prisoners about the disease of alcoholism and to help alcoholics return to normality.

Meetings are conducted every Sunday morning, with all of the 35 members of the Cumberland AA group taking turns in the project.

AA members explain their personal experiences with alcoholism and the benefits of their organization.

"The prisoners take us into their confidence and talk over their problems with us," one AA member said. "They realize we have gone through the experience of alcoholism and understand their troubles."

Attendance at the weekly meetings ranges from 15 to 18. Three new members have joined AA as a result, which is considered a good average.

"They may not accept the idea right away but the seed is planted," the AA member said. "An alcoholic has to reach a certain point before he decides to do something about the disease. The individual has to want his cure."

The prisoners have proved "very co-operative" toward the program and "we think we have done a lot of good for all of them," he said. "We have heard they look forward to the meetings."

The local AA performs similar services at the County Jail although not with regularly scheduled meetings. They are also called on occasion to assist with cases at local hospitals.

The AA member said programs similar to those held at City Jail are conducted at institutions in other cities.

Young Archeologist To Address Nature Group

James Deetz, a local youth who returned recently from an archeological expedition to South Dakota, will be a guest speaker at a meeting of the Junior Nature Club tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Central YMCA clubrooms.

Deetz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Deetz, 503 Baltimore Avenue, spent five months on an expedition sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute to study remains of Indian villages in an area near Pierre, S. D.

After spending the holidays here, he will leave for Central America on an expedition to El Salvador.

The group will study Mayan Indian ceremonial grounds, including two pyramids and an ancient ball court.

After graduating from Fort Hill High School in 1948, Deetz attended Harvard University before entering his present work.

A charter member of the Allegany County Bird Club, Deetz will give a talk on birds he observed in the South Dakota area, generally accepted as the dividing line between eastern and western species.

While in that area Deetz added 40 new birds to his list of nearly 300 species.

Neil Smith, president of the Junior Nature Club, will preside at the business meeting.

Plans will be discussed for the club's part in the Christmas bird count, an annual event held throughout the nation.

The count will begin December 23 and continue through December 31, with members to list as many different birds of all species as they observe during that period.

Reports will be sent to the Maryland Ornithological Society in Baltimore.

Ushers will be assigned for the lecture to be given by Roger Tory Peterson at Allegany High School on January 9.

Peterson is the author of "Field Guide to Eastern Birds," a widely used handbook. The January 9 event is part of the series of Audubon Screen Tours being presented here under auspices of the Allegany County Bird Club.

LaSalle Mothers Plan Yule Party

The LaSalle Mothers Club will hold a Christmas party tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's Social Center following the regular business session.

Members are asked to bring jingle gifts for exchange.

State TB Drive Report Released

Reaching the half-way mark of its 1950 Christmas Seal Sale, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association has announced that over 33 percent of the state-wide goal of $342,200 had been reached. Returns to date total $116,105.38, an increase of $1,315.26 over returns for the same period of last year's campaign.

In 1949, nearly 40,000 persons in U. S. died of TB. Over 900 of these were Marylanders. In addition, health authorities estimate that there are also some 8,000 or 9,000 other persons needing medical attention because of this disease.

Accepts Position

William A. Wilson, Midland, who resigned as marriage license clerk at the Court House last July, has accepted employment with the Cumberland Office Supply Company here and will assume his new duties in the office today.

Wilson was a candidate in the Republican Primary for nomination to the office of clerk of court and managed the local Republican headquarters office during the general election compaign.

Teachers Named To State Posts

A number of teachers and education officials in Allegany and Garrett Counties have been appointed to committees of the Maryland State Teachers Association by Harry R. Poole, president.

They are:

Missing Man Found Drowned In Potomac

George Eaton Had Been Gone 5 Weeks

The badly decomposed body of a Cumberland man who had been missing for five weeks was found on a small island in the Potomac River about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, State Police reported last night.

Identified as George Eaton, 32-year-old Canal Street man, the body was discovered by Perry C. Ritchie, Spring Gap, and two Fort Hill High School students, James H. Ritchie, brother of Perry, and Raymond K. Robey, also of Spring Gap. Trooper William F. Baker, criminal investigator of LaVale barracks, Maryland State Police investigated.

Baker said the three Spring Gap men had been boating and found the body lying across a fallen tree about five feet from the ground on the island which is located about five river miles east of Cumberland. It had evidently been tossed there by the high waters which almost reached flood stage in the Potomac Monday night, he reported.

Eaton's body, still clothed in the black coat, overalls and suspenders and black shoes he was wearing the night he was reported missing, was removed by rowboat from the island by Trooper Baker with the help of Perry Ritchie and William Parry, Green Spring, W. Va. It was taken to Stein's Funeral Home.

Dr. H. V. Deming, county deputy medical examiner, said his autopsy shows Eaton had been dead about five weeks and had died by asphyxia from drowning.

Eaton had lived with his father in an unpainted frame house along the old C & O canal, a short distance south of the Western Maryland Railway station and had been missing since about 10:45 p.m. Saturday, November 4.

He was reported as missing by his 76-year-old father, Charles Eaton, who at that time related he and his son spent the evening of November 4 together in a pool room and then had taken a taxi home. When they arrived home Eaton's father reported his son decided to visit his sister, Mrs. Lillian Cassell, 32 Carpenter Street, Ridgeley, W. Va. That was the last time he was seen alive.

Frederick C. Dreyer, veteran river man, dragged the river for the body November 8 but no trace was found at that time.

It is believed Eaton may have fallen from the Western Maryland Railway bridge and state police are continuing the investigation. Trooper Baker said the body was positively identfied by Ray James Litton, Ridgeley, a nephew of the dead man.

Body Of Local Man Found At Rooming House

Richard Nuse Dies Of Gunshot Wound

The body of Richard Norvell Nuse, 44, was found yesterday at 11:15 a.m. in his first floor bedroom at 301 Harrison Street where he resided alone.

Dr. H. V. Deming said death occurred Friday afternoon from a cerebal hemorrhage caused by a .22 calibre rifle bullet in the right temple, believed self-inflicted. A new Winchester bolt action rifle was in his right hand when the body was discovered by Juanita M. Price, a maid who cleaned up his room, Dr. Deming reported.

Nuse had been in failing health for about five years.

Nuse's mother, Mrs. Miranda Twigg Nuse, had talked to the Celanese machinist Thursday night, Dr. Deming said. Rebecca Liller, an upstairs boarder at the Harrison Street home, reported she heard a noise about 3 p.m. Friday afternoon in Nuse's room but did not investigate.

City Police were called when the body was found by Miss Price yesterday morning after she stumbled over it while taking milk to Nuse's room on her way to the kitchen. The body was lying on the bedroom floor on its left side with the barrel of the rifle clutched in the right hand, authorities reported.

Nuse was born here September 24, 1906, the son of John F. and Miranda Susan Twigg Nuse. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Staples Nuse; two brothers, Roscoe M. Nuse, a city policeman, and Milford P. Nuse, Altoona, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Walter Weires, city.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 245.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Conventions In Cumberland Bring Almost Quarter-Million Dollars To City This Year

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Cumberland was host to 10 conventions during 1950 and local hotel men estimate that the 2,350 delegates who attended these meetings brought some $218,600 into the community.

Eight of the conventions were statewide affairs and the other two were area conventions involving more than just Maryland, according to Robert Blair, manager of the Fort Cumberland Hotel, which was headquarters for most of the parleys.

Towler said that statisticians of convention bureaus in Philadelphia and Cleveland, probably the two biggest convention cities in the United States, estimate that the average delegate to a three-day convention spends about $80 in the community. It was on that basis that the local estimate was made.

Delegates who attended four-day conventions, of which there were two here, were figured to have spent $100 each. Those who were here for the five three-day conventions were estimated on the $80 basis. Those who attended the two two-day conventions were rated as having spent $50 each while here.

Towler emphasized that most people have an erroneous impression that hotels make most of the money that is brought into a community by a convention. National estimates are that only between 10 and 15 per cent of the money expended by conevntion delegates actually goes to the hotels.

All Business Benefits

Century-Old Newspaper Found On Sidewalk Near Cemetery

A copy of a newspaper, The Maryland Advocate, printed here more than a century ago was found last week by a couple of Fort Hill High School girls, on the sidewalk along Baltimore Avenue, near East View Cemetery.

Dellann Dugan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ritchie, 200 Willowbrook Road and Gayla Conner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Heavner, 44 Marion Street, brought the paper to the NEWS office to determine if it is a genuine issue.

The paper, remarkably well preserved, is dated Saturday, October 22, 1836, and designated as Vol. 13, No. 47, published in Cumberland by D. Blocher and Co., McCleary's Row.

In addition to several items of local interest, a column of jokes and a column of poetry, the paper gives results of congressional elections in Pennsylvania, Texas and New Jersey.

It also carries market reports showing prices of various commodities here, such as corn and rye 56 cents per bushel, oats 33 and 35 cents a bushel, potatoes 25 and 30 cents a bushel, beef, six cents per pound, and bacon 11 cents per pound.

Offers of rewards totaling $1,400 are made for a number of runaway slaves, and other advertisements include toothpaste, patent medicines, soap, cleaners, shoes, etc.

A list of unclaimed letters at the local post office was published by James P. Carleton, postmaster, who announced that if the letters were not claimed by January 1, 1837, he would send them to the Dead Letter office.

The two high school girls said they would take the paper to school to show it to teachers and other students, and then will probably keep it unless some collector of such items might be interested.
